F. D. R. BEGINS DRIVE TO SCRAP NEUTRALITY ACT

Wants to Arm Ships for War Zone.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C. Sept. 24.—Virtual repeal of the neutrality act to permit the arming of American merchant ships and their entry into the war zones now closed to them will be requested by President Roosevelt in a message to congress next week.

Both proponents and opponents of the proposal to repeal the neutrality act said it would be equivalent to authorization of an undeclared naval war against Germany and Italy. The repealer also is expected to result in a test vote, at least in the house, on the issue of an outright declaration of war.

Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], a leader of the anti-war forces, has announced that he will offer a war declaration as an amendment to the neutrality act repealer in order to give the elected representatives of the people an opportunity to vote upon this vital issue in the constitutional, American way.

Repeal Request Hinted.

At his press conference yesterday Mr. Roosevelt hinted that he would seek repeal of the neutrality act.

His leaders in congress revealed today that the decision to ask virtual repeal of the law has been made and that only details remain to be discussed at next Monday's White House conference with congressional leaders.

Later in the week the President will send a message to congress, administration spokesmen said. Outright repeal of the act will not be requested, it was explained, because the administration wishes to retain the provision of existing law under which the manufacture and exportation of arms, ammunition, and implements of war are licensed and regulated by the munitions control board.

See 12 Vote Victory.

Preliminary polls taken by administration leaders and not seriously challenged by noninterventionists indicate that the senate will vote to scrap the neutrality law by a margin of from 12 to 15 votes.

While no conclusive polls have been taken in the house, administration leaders predict passage. Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas expressed this opinion today, saying the house would pass the repeal resolution "after some fighting and scratching around."

Anti-war leaders denied that house passage of the repealer can be predicted with certainty. They recalled that less than five weeks ago the house voted to extend the service of conscripts and other army personnel by a margin of only one vote.

Many Ships Now Armed.

President Roosevelt revealed at his press conference yesterday that the former Danish freighter Pink Star, seized by this government and operated by the United States lines under the flag of Panama, was armed when sunk off Iceland, presumably by a submarine, last Friday.

Officials disclosed today that many other American owned ships now flying the flag of Panama have been armed. A total of 125 American vessels, 45 owned by the government and 80 by private interests, have been registered under the Panama flag in order to circumvent the neutrality act.

Official records disclosed that the administration not only had plans as

ROOSEVELT ON NEUTRALITY ACT

In a speech on Oct. 28, 1940—just before his third term election—President Roosevelt said:

"By the Neutrality Act of 1935 and by other steps . . . we made it clear to every American and to every foreign nation that we would avoid becoming entangled (in war) thru some episode beyond our borders. These were measures to keep us at peace. And thru all the years of war since 1935 there has been no entanglement and there will be no entanglement . . . We shall continue to go forward in firm faith. We shall continue to go forward in peace."

DROP HEAVIEST BOMBS TO AID GROUND TROOPS

Claim Reds Driven Out of 2 Villages.

BERLIN, Sept. 25, Thursday (AP).—German troops are fighting in the streets of Leningrad suburbs supported by swarms of bombers dropping the "heaviest types" of projectiles, the Germans reported early today.

Ground troops were said to have pressed doggedly forward after smashing Russian defenders out of at least two villages in the outskirts.

Level flight and dive bombers attacked troop concentrations, bunkers [forts], and artillery positions with the "bloodiest losses" to the Russians. One heavy bomb hit the center of a Russian barracks.

"It is to be expected Leningrad and its population will suffer the fate of Warsaw," the news agency DNB said.

Military quarters in Berlin said the report that the Germans had smashed their way so far forward showed that "the situation of the encircled soviet troops is becoming more and more hopeless."

Say Defense Weakening.

The Germans said the Russian defense at Leningrad was weakening and declared the food situation in the city was bound to become critical. They made no prediction, however, on the possible length of Russian resistance there.

The dispatches said Leningrad's defenders still were throwing themselves upon the Germans in counterattack after counterattack, but these were described as decreasing steadily in intensity.

[The Russians declared their counterattacks had beaten the Germans back from a position outside Leningrad. They also said a second German offensive against Murmansk on the Arctic had been smashed. Story and maps on page 10.]

Mop Up East of Kiev.

Germans were told the mopping up of soviet forces trapped east of Kiev was proceeding methodically. It was stated air photographs showed the encircled Russians split into two tightly held rings and reduced to impotence by chaotic disorganization.

Dispatches dealt at length with widespread operations of the German air force, said to range from continued battering of the Red army's defense ring around Leningrad and Tuesday night's renewed bombing of industries at Moscow to smashing blows south of Kharkov in the Donetz basin.

German bombers scouted the Baltic sea and Gulf of Finland for Russian warships. The high command declared direct hits were scored on battleships and a destroyer off Kronstadt, guarding the sea approach to Leningrad.

Silence Two Red Warships.

German batteries were said to have silenced two warships which turned their guns in defense of Leningrad. Another Red warship was reported set afire two days ago at Oesel Island, off Estonia.

Other German sources said the old but heavily armed 23,606 ton battleship Marat was left sinking in the Gulf of Finland near where its sister ship, the Oktiabrskaya-Revolutia, was said to be still visible, partly submerged, after repeated bombings.

[There were indications that there might have been of late some duplication in various Nazi accounts of soviet warships damaged. At all events, however, it was specifically claimed that the two battleships unquestionably were out of action.]

Finnish Airmen Attack.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 24 (AP).—Finnish airmen, in combats directly over besieged Leningrad, have shot down seven Russian fighter planes and one bomber and scored many direct bomb hits on Leningrad railway station, the Finns announced tonight.

Finnish troops driving down upon Leningrad from the north reported they had captured the Svir [Syuari] river No. 2 power station, which supplied electricity to the city. Finns said they crossed the canalized Svir which links Lakes Ladoga and Onega.

Six Naval Flyers Killed in Crashes

WOULD CONGRESS EVER DECLARE WAR ON THOSE FOURTEEN POINTS?

John Is a Big Man in Arms Program Now

Angelo Inciso.

For five months Inciso had been a grinder employed by the Delta Star Electric company at 2433 Fulton street, which has a million dollars in United States contracts for heavy switching devices. According to the bosses his distinguishing characteristic was surliness.

Six weeks ago he told a foreman who gave him an order to go jump in the lake. The foreman fired him, but a company official ordered him reinstated, altho at the time he didn't know how important John was.

Gets Fired Again.

Three weeks ago Inciso again disobeyed an order and was dismissed. He embroidered the jumping advice to the foreman with a threat to get the job himself. At that time the company learned that the United Automobile Workers [AFL] were organizing the workers and that Inciso was a member. Just a little importance began to accrue to John, who was rehired the next morning.

On Sept. 16, the company reported, Inciso disobeyed orders again and spoke insultingly to his foreman. The company, still not knowing his full measure of power, fired him and said it would stick.

A few days ago the union presented demands—recognition and a closed shop. The company announced willingness to negotiate if the union would get certification as bargaining agent from the National Labor Relations board.

Strike Is Called.

The company, still not understanding, said no. Yesterday its 600 employés were forced to stop work by a strike called by the UAW unit. Capt. Walter McGloon in the afternoon told the management why John is so important to the armament program.

"He has a brother named Angelo Inciso, 30 years old," the captain said. "This Angelo is an ex-convict and one of the principal organizers of the AFL-UAW here."

He displayed the record. It showed that Angelo Inciso in May, 1930, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for larceny in Oak Park. In December of the same year he was arrested for auto theft in Springfield, Ill., and put on probation for a year. In May, 1933, as John Zanzaro, he was convicted of a liquor law violation in Grand Rapids, Mich., and sentenced to 15 months in the federal reformatory in Chillicothe, O.

More of His Record.

In March, 1935, Inciso was sentenced to 20 days in the bridewell for larceny. In 1936, under the name Angelo Gucipo, he was convicted of grand and petty larceny in Elkhart, Ind. He was sentenced to Pendleton reformatory—one to ten years for grand larceny and one to five years for petty larceny. The record doesn't show when he was released.

John Inciso's importance is now recognized.

DENIED HANDSHAKE WITH KING, STASSEN WILL PASS UP DUKE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 24 [Special].—When King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain visited Canada in May, 1939, a great reception to which many Americans were invited was held in Winnipeg, Man.

Among those who attended was Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. He took a place in a line of those privileged to meet the royal couple. But he didn't get to shake the royal hand. For some reason of protocol or ignorance concerning the governor's position, he was invited out of the line.

Now the king's brother, the duke of Windsor, and his duchess are to be the guests of Minnesota next Saturday night. Full honors are to be showered upon them, including a dinner in the evening, for which all the details have not been completed. But one bit of the arrangements is definite. The host at the governor's dinner will be Lieut. Gov. C. Elmer Anderson and the hostess will be Mrs. Anderson. Gov. Stassen will be unable to attend because he has accepted an invitation to make a speech Saturday night.

Capital Primps for Windsors' Arrival Today

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The title conscious national capital tonight was awaiting the arrival of the duke and duchess of Windsor tomorrow morning for a 30 hour visit in the city of magnificent distances which has been transformed into a boom town by the lease-lend program.

The Windsors—he who once was Edward VIII. on the British throne, and she who once was Wallie Warfield of Baltimore—are due to arrive here at 7:05 a. m., Chicago daylight time, by train from Miami, Fla.

With the couple are seven aids and servants, a mountain of baggage, and three Cairn terriers.

Luncheon Date Canceled.

A high spot of the Windsors' visit here was to have been a luncheon at the White House. However, this was canceled tonight because of the serious illness of Mrs. Roosevelt's brother, G. Hall Roosevelt.

The duke and duchess are to breakfast at the British embassy, and it is expected they also will be luncheon guests there as the result of the change in White House plans.

The duke, who is bound for his Canadian ranch near Calgary, Alta., and who will stop with his wife in Chicago Saturday, is not expected to be the attraction he was on his visit to this country as prince of Wales in 1924.

In Washington, however, the visit of the pair is expected to draw the biggest crowds since the visit of the duke's younger brother, King George VI., and Queen Elizabeth in 1939.

SIGHTSEEING IN CHICAGO.

The duke and duchess of Windsor will arrive in Chicago Saturday, at 7:45 a. m. on the Pennsylvania railroad at the Union station. Lewis Bernays, British consul general in Chicago, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Richard Bernays, will meet them and take them for a sight seeing drive along the lake front. Later they will breakfast at an undisclosed place. The Windsors will leave for St. Paul at 10:30 a. m.

200 See Plane Dive to Earth During Storm

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 24.—Six flyers from the Pensacola naval air base were killed today in two crashes, one near Bay Springs, Miss., in which four died, and the other near here.

In the Bay Springs crash more than 200 persons saw the plane, buffeted by high winds and rain, emerge from a cloud and dive to earth. Papers found on the bodies identified the dead as Jesse Wilcox, Warrington, Fla.; T. O. Carter, Pensacola; B. B. Barbour, and S. R. Oldaker.

Ensign Donald A. Utz of Port Washington, N. Y., and Flying Cadet Emanuel L. Plinske of Green Bay, Wis., were killed when their seaplane crashed on Santa Rosa peninsula near here. Air base officials said the flyers apparently lost control of the plane at low altitude.

Britons Assail Cabinet Over War's Conduct

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—The British government's conduct of the war drew attacks from four different quarters today, with one group demanding the dismissal of two cabinet ministers and the assembly of parliament to reorganize the government. The developments:

1. Dismissal from the cabinet of J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, minister of aircraft production, and David Margesson, minister of war, was demanded in a statement issued by the communist party of Great Britain. The statement said there is growing opinion that Britain is not taking the necessary measures to help Russia; assailed Prime Minister Churchill for failure to dismiss Moore-Brabazon, who has been accused of having said he hoped the Russian and German armies annihilated each other, and criticized Margesson because of an article in which he emphasized the impossibility of a British invasion of Europe to help Russia because the Germans might invade England.

2. The national executive committee of the Labor party demanded immediate nationalization of the railways, expressing profound dissatisfaction in a resolution with the "hire agreement" by which the railroads are paid guaranteed dividends. "The agreement," the resolution stated, "indicates an unfortunate unwillingness on the part of the government to harness the transport facilities of the country effectively on a basis of public ownership and control."

3. The general council of the Trades Union congress objected to the policy of "calling on manpower" which, it said, "is leading to confusion and unfortunate results." It objected to skilled labor being drafted from the factories into the fighting services, altho it appreciated that "the country must have a highly equipped army, a substantial air force, and a dominating navy." Industrial manpower is necessary to achieve this, the general council said.

4. The chairman of the Engineering Industries association, E. C. Gordon England, charged that war production, "measured by the square foot of factory space or the pound weight of the product per man hour, has declined," owing to the "lack of a comprehensive plan."

LA GUARDIA ASKS FOR EQUIPMENT TO DEFEND CITIES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Declaring that many cities and other areas in the United States and its possessions were particularly susceptible to enemy bombing attacks, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia, Civilian Defense director, asked congress today for authority to provide air raid protection for civilians.

A bill he submitted to Speaker Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] would authorize La Guardia to "provide adequate protection to persons and property in such localities" as may be vulnerable to aerial bombardment.

TOTALITARIAN RULE BLOSSOMS AT SHIPYARDS

Unions Win Points Under Navy Boss.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kearny, N. J., Sept. 24.—Here on the banks of the muddy Hackensack river, where the navy has taken over a private shipyard, stands a potential test model for national socialism cut on the pattern of the totalitarian states in Europe.

Rear Admiral Stark.

Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company was commandeered under an executive order of President Roosevelt on Aug. 23 when a 19 day strike tied up a half a billion dollars' worth of defense contracts. The experiment is only in the blueprint stage but its totalitarian outlines are growing plainer.

Rear Admiral Harold G. Bowen, naval manager of the shipyard, said today during an interview that he did not know how long he would be running the show. He revealed that the 18,000 workmen were being paid out of the United States treasury rather than company funds.

Ant Hill in Operation.

Outside the admiral's windows in the brick administration building the steady tattoo of riveting on the metal joints and ribs of ships could be heard. Giant cranes swung back and forth. The yards looked like some huge ant hill as men swarmed about partially constructed hulls. Crowding the ways in various stages were eight destroyers, a light cruiser, two cargo ships, and three tankers.

There were no figures on profits yet because navy accounting experts were busy totaling up the books along with company representatives, Admiral Bowen said. He expressed an opinion that profits under navy management and responsibility should go to the navy.

In this event the profits will come out of the pockets of the common and preferred stockholders of United States Steel because Federal Shipbuilding, before its demise, was a wholly owned subsidiary of the big steel corporation.

Only His Opinion.

Admiral Bowen said it was only his opinion he was offering, that he was an operating man and the government in Washington would finally determine whether Federal Shipbuilding would be operated by the navy, by a lease to a new company, or what.

The crux of the controversy, which brought the navy into this picture, was the demand of the CIO Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers that the company agree to a "maintenance of membership" clause in a new contract. Under this scheme the company would dismiss any employé not paying dues or otherwise in bad standing with the union. All other points were settled.

The company took the stand that the only test of employment should be the proved capabilities of a workman to do his job, irrespective of whether he was union or nonunion. The man-

THIS SHERIFF HAS HIS TROUBLES, INCLUDING LOSS OF HANDCUFFS

Mount Carmel, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP).—Sheriff W. E. Storckman today offered a reward of $50 for the capture of Roy Hollen, 20 years old, who escaped on foot from county officers yesterday altho handcuffed.

Hollen was being taken to court for trial on a charge of burglarizing the sheriff's residence when he bolted.

Deputy Sheriff B. E. Stockman said Hollen was charged with burglarizing the sheriff's quarters at the county jail, obtaining jail keys and freeing Victor Ivy, being held on a misdemeanor charge. A $25 reward also was posted for Ivy's arrest.

Dealing with the union under the new setup, Admiral Bowen said he would follow instructions laid down by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox to defer all individual cases involving "maintenance of membership" to the National Defense Mediation board, but so far none had arisen. The board had ruled with the union before the navy took over the yard.

Because of this official attitude, the trouble which struck here at Kearny is expected to spread thru the shipbuilding industry and possibly into other manufacturing fields. It is rumored the union's next objectives are the seven shipyards operated by Bethlehem Steel corporation.

John Green, president of the CIO Shipbuilders' union, asserted last week he would press for union shop agreements in all major shipyards on the Atlantic coast and the Gulf of Mexico. This followed the navy department's decision to require federal shipbuilding workers to remain in good union standing to hold their jobs, a decision which Green pronounced a "complete victory" for the union.

Victory on 14 Points.

Admiral Bowen explained that before the strike over the "maintenance of membership" question, the union and the shipyard management were in accord on 13 other points in the proposed new contract. These 13 points were put into effect by the navy management. Judging from the navy's plan of referring all cases involving union standing to the mediation board and International President Green's jubilation, the union won on the 14th point.

That some of the union members are not in complete accord with the grand strategy of their leaders was indicated by the disgruntled expressions of several workmen waiting for buses today at the main gate.

"They called a strike so everyone would have to pay dues," remarked one brawny riveter, "and what did we get out of it? Nothing. We lost three weeks' pay for nothing."

Halt Move for Referendum.

Several days ago disgruntled workmen circulated petitions to President Roosevelt and naval officials asking for a referendum on the union, closed shop and other matters. Local union leaders announced members would not participate in any such plan and threatened reprisals.

"My instructions are to operate the yards under the some working conditions and hours as before we took over," said Admiral Bowen. "Everyone is hitting the ball and we're turning out a lot of work. By next January we hope to make up for time lost during the strike."

F.D.R. LAUNCHES DRIVE TO SCRAP NEUTRALITY ACT

Prepares to Arm Ships for War Zones.

early as last March to arm the entire American merchant marine of about 900 ships but actually obtained from congress an appropriation of $75,888,820 with which to purchase the guns and ammunition. This appropriation, according to the testimony of naval officials before a house appropriations subcommittee, provided funds for the procurement of 1,445 guns and 1,344 mounts, in addition to those on hand and on order.

These guns are the navy's new five inch, dual purpose guns, suitable for use against both aircraft and submarines.

Capt. H. W. Hill of the navy's ordnance bureau, told the house appropriations subcommittee on March 11 that plans for the arming of "merchant ships which would be required to operate in dangerous waters" had been completed.

Evidence of War Plans.

Anti-war senators cited this record as evidence of their contention that President Roosevelt's policy always has been designed to involve the United States in a shooting war as rapidly as any semblance of public opinion could be aroused to support such action. Among those who advanced this theory were Senators Robert A. Taft [R., O.] and Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.].

Informed members of congress said repeal would give legal sanction to President Roosevelt's order to the navy to shoot axis war craft on sight and constitute tacit authorization for the convoying of merchant ships to English ports.

Noninterventionists contend Mr. Roosevelt would represent repeal of the neutrality act as the equivalent of a declaration of war and use it as a pretext to send an expeditionary force to fight in Europe and Africa.

SEEK 10 MILLION SIGNERS.

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—A national campaign for 10 million signatures to a petition for repeal of the neutrality act was announced today by the violently pro-war Fight for Freedom, Inc. Bishop Henry W. Hobson, chairman, said street meetings, parades, and a pilgrimage to Washington were among the events planned for the appeal. As part of the drive the New York chapter will circulate the petitions during the noon hour and after business in Manhattan.

Dutch Order U. S. Bombers for Indies; Cost 24 Million

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—The British radio said today that the Dutch East Indies government has ordered $24,000,000 worth of medium bombing planes in the United States to be ferried next year across the Pacific.

AMERICA FIRST DENIES LINDBERGH IS ANTI-SEMITIC

Officials of the America First committee issued a statement yesterday in which they denied charges that Charles A. Lindbergh is anti-Semitic and held that "behind a smoke screen of groundless charges this nation is being led to war in violation of the constitution."

The charges were made after Lindbergh, speaking at Des Moines, Ia., asserted that the British, the Jewish, and the Roosevelt administration are mainly responsible for edging the United States to the verge of war.

Fling False Charges.

"The interventionists have sought to hide the real issue by flinging false charges at every leader who has spoken out against our entry into the European conflict. The attack on Col. Lindbergh is merely another case in point.

"Col. Lindbergh and his fellow members of the America First committee are not anti-Semitic. We deplore the injection of the race issue into the discussion of war or peace. It is the interventionists who have done this.

Tell Interventionists' Aim.

"America First, on the other hand, has invited men and women of every race, religion, and national origin to join this committee.

"At least 80 per cent of the American people oppose our entry into the war. The America First committee has supplied to these millions of citizens a leadership which has thus far helped to avert disaster. Consequently, the aim of the war makers is to destroy the America First committee."

LINDBERGH AND AMERICA FIRST ASSAILED HERE

Leaders of the America First committee were assailed as "American Quislings" at a memorial meeting to he Jewish victims of Hitler in Orchestra hall last night. Fifteen hundred persons attended the meeting.

Charles Lindbergh and Senators Burton K. Wheeler and Gerald P. Nye were accused of spreading anti-Semitism. The speakers included Rabbi Moses Miller of New York City; Robert Travis, vice president of the Illinois CIO; Wencil F. Hetman, chairman of the All-American Council to Fight Naziism, and Pearl Hart, chairman of the Midwest Federation for Constitutional Liberties.

AGREE ON A U. S. SEIZURE BILL IN MODIFIED FORM

Conferees Clear Way for Final Congress Action.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—House-approved restrictions on the administration's property seizure bill were accepted by a joint senate house conference committee today and the action cleared the way for a final congressional vote on the legislation.

The compromise measure authorizes the President to requisition military and naval equipment, supplies, munitions and similar articles until he declares the national emergency ended or until June 30, 1943, whichever time comes first. "Fair and just compensation" would be paid.

Exemptions Are Provided.

The bill drafted by the conference committee made important exemptions, however, specifying that nothing in the act shall be construed:

"1. To authorize the requisitioning or require the registration of any firearms possessed by any individual for his personal protection or sport [and the possession of which is not prohibited or the registration of which is not required by existing law.]

"2. To impair or infringe in any manner the right of any individual to keep and bear arms.

"3. To authorize the requisitioning of any machinery or equipment which is in actual use in connection with any operating factory or business and which is necessary to the operation of such factory or business."

Prompt Action Expected.

Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], of the military affairs committee said he would seek senate approval of the legislation tomorrow and the house is expected to act soon thereafter.

Under the measure, the President would determine the fair value of property needed for national preparedness. That value would be determined "on the basis of the fair market value of the property at the time it is requisitioned or returned as the case may be."

The bill provides for the return of property to the original owners if the President decides it is no longer needed for national preparedness and if the owner pays a fair price for it.

The conference committee agreed to permit persons whose property has been seized to appeal to the courts for additional compensation. The courts also would have power to determine how much an individual would have to pay for his property if the government decided it was no longer needed. The President would be required to report to congress every six months regarding his property requisitioning activities.

ENDS LIFE WITH RAZOR.

Joseph Barthley, 65 years old, 1315 West 71st place, was found dead in the basement of his home yesterday. His throat had been slashed with a razor which was found nearby.

AKRON ATTORNEY DENIES ACTING AS AGENT FOR NAZIS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Frank B. Burch, Akron, O., attorney, pleaded innocent in federal District court today to an indictment charging him with failing to register with the state department as a propaganda agent of the German government.

Burch immediately arranged $1,000 bail and was allowed 20 days to file an attack on the indictment, which alleged he was persuaded by Karl Kapp, former German consul at Cleveland, to become a secret propaganda agent.

Kapp, the indictment alleged, arranged for Burch to become "public relations counsel, agent, representative, and attorney for the Berlin government." Burch is alleged to have obtained $10,000 from Kapp to pamphleteer against the lease-lend bill.

At Akron, Burch termed the charge absurb, claiming that his pamphlet money came from American citizens.

REPORTS OF NEW SERB DISORDERS HEARD IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Sept. 25 [Thursday]—(AP).—Attempts to reach Zagreb by telephone early today met with a reply that "the line is disturbed" following reports from the Croatian capital of incidents in the new Serb state to the south. Serb outlaws established in a mountain stronghold have killed 104 Croat soldiers and officers, it was disclosed yesterday.

Seeks to Halt Reprisals.

VICHY, France, Sept. 24 (AP).—Pierre Pucheu, minister of the interior, left for Paris today to seek a relaxation of the German hostage-reprisal system under which dozens of Frenchmen have been executed because of terroristic attacks on German soldiers. Informed sources said Pucheu would offer a substitute plan whereby French authorities would be responsible for combating "terrorism, sabotage, and communism" in both zones.

At least 35 Frenchmen have been executed in the occupied area either as hostages or on espionage, sabotage, and communism charges. A military court at Perigueux yesterday sentenced 23 persons described as communists to prison terms ranging from one year to life. Informants in Paris said last night that rumors that a state of siege had been declared there were unfounded.

"FREE FRENCH" IN AFRICA MAY GET LEND-LEASE AID

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 25 [Thursday].—Extension of the American lend-lease act to include shipment of materials to the African territories now under "Free French" control is expected to follow establishment of a French national committee in London, according to the Inside Information column of this morning's Daily Sketch. The writer states that "the lack of an official body which the United States could recognize has so far prevented lend-lease funds from being applied" to the "Free French."

Some kind of diplomatic relations between Gen. Charles De Gaulle, "Free French" leader, and the United States will be established, it is added.

The Washington, D. C., correspondent of the paper says that "in addition to repeal of the neutrality act and the arming of United States ships," America "is expected shortly to extend its naval patrols to the South Atlantic and British waters."

IGNORED BY POLICE, TERROR VICTIM ASKS HELP OF GOVERNOR

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—Charging police had ignored his repeated pleas for protection against labor union terrorists, Alfred David, head of a chain of tipless barber shops, today went over the head of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia as nominal head of the police force, and appealed directly to Gov. Lehman.

David, son of John David, founder of a large clothing chain, asked the governor to protect him, his shops, and his employés against repetition of a brutal attack in which he was the victim in one of his shops last Friday. David also said three of his employés had been kidnaped.

According to David, a CIO union representative tried to induce the 25 men employed in his 33d street shop to join the Barbers and Beauty Culturists union which is conducting a strike in Manhattan. They refused and the next day a crowd of goons invaded his shop and beat him.

AGE RETIREMENT PLANS ASSAILED BY PHYSIOLOGIST

Urges Study to Prolong Man's Usefulness.

Social security and other plans for retirement of the aged were denounced yesterday by Dr. Anton J. Carlson, 67 year old emeritus professor of physiology, University of Chicago. He spoke before the Shrine Lunch club in the Sherman hotel, in a plea for an endowed scientific research that might prolong man's usefulness.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson.

"The person who looks forward to years of leisure already is dead," said the physiologist. "The enforced retirement of the aged is biologically cruel.

Cruel to Halt Activity.

"The philosophy inspired by the social security program—that the public owes a man a living because he is 65 years old—will crush civilization. It's cruel to halt the productive activity of a man because he is 60, 70, or 80. It doesn't happen in any animate society except in our so-called civilization."

Science, he said, has learned much about what causes deaths but little about what causes the impairments of advancing years.

"Lacking," he said, "is any adequate research that might slacken the impairments of age so that the additional years of escape from disease might be enjoyed in productivity.

Hints, but Not Knowledge.

"We have hints but not knowledge of these impairments. There's evidence that obesity, over 40, shortens lives but we're not sure whether obesity is a cause or a symptom of a fatal disease. You've heard the saying, and it's true, that more persons overeat to an early death than starve to death.

Dr. Carlson said that the National Research council has set up a project for 10 years' study of the processes of aging by leading scientists, but, he added, the council lacks funds to cover a $50,000 a year budget. He compared the total cost of the decade's work for humanity with the price of two bombers.

2 AGED SISTERS ARE VICTIMS OF BRUTAL BEATING

The women, reported in a critical condition at Chester hospital, are Miss Belle Geary, 80, and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, 78.

The attack was the eighth within two years on Media women, including the unsolved bludgeon slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Gibson, 68, on Aug. 28, 1940.

The unconscious sisters were found by Earl Thomas, a neighbor, who said he heard moans and went out to investigate. He found the sisters lying near some shrubbery.

Thomas said the clothing of both women was disarranged.

Materials Available

New York, Sept. 24 [Special.]—Experts today were satisfied with the performance in test flights of the new plastics-and-mahogany airplane which is said to offer mass production possibilities from materials not now on the priorities list. The plane, refined in streamlined effects, is 20⅛ feet long, has a wing spread of 35 feet, and weighs 2,300 pounds. It has a cruising speed of 125 miles an hour and a landing speed of 48 miles an hour.

GERMANY DEFIES U. S. ARMING OF MERCHANT SHIPS

BERLIN, Sept. 24 (AP).—Prospective arming of United States merchant ships brought comment from an authorized German spokesman today that Germany sees no need to change her principles of sea warfare.

While the German conviction that the American neutrality law will soon be altered in important respects commanded extensive notice in Berlin, there was not the slightest sign that Germany will deviate from its policy of striving to "sink anything bringing aid to England."

The spokesman said that President Roosevelt's statements on the sinking of the freighter Pink Star confirmed that Germany acted according to international law in torpedoing the vessel, a former Danish ship taken over by the United States maritime commission last July and placed under Panamanian register, last Friday east of Greenland.

PRINCESS MARTHA GUARDED ON WAY TO F. D. R. ESTATE

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—Crown Princess Martha of Norway arrived at the Pennsylvania station today in a special railroad car with an official ban clamped on any publicity and with United States secret service men on hand to shoo off reporters and the curious. She was accompanied by her lady-in-waiting, Mrs. Ragni Ostergaard, and seven pieces of luggage. They came from Washington.

CHARGE OF 'LIAR' ENLIVENS MOVIE PROPAGANDA QUIZ

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—Members of a senate subcommittee investigating alleged war propaganda activities in the movies and radio divided their time today between hearing a Hollywood columnist called a liar by a film company representative and considering hitherto unrevealed facts regarding the gown which Alice Faye, blonde singing star, wore to the première of a recent picture.

Howard Dietz.

The lie charge was made by Howard Dietz, director of advertising and publicity for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. He vehemently denied allegations made by Jimmie Fidler, a columnist, that the movie industry has attempted to tamper with the freedom of the press by threatening to withdraw advertising from newspapers publishing adverse film criticisms.

Conscience Wards Off Truths.

Dietz professed an unwillingness to charge Fidler with perjury. "But," he continued, "I would say that Fidler is a congenital liar, and it would be against his conscience to tell the truth."

Fidler told the committee a week ago that M-G-M had sought to force the Nashville Banner to discontinue his column, and also was represented in a group of Hollywood executives who called on Norman Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, in an effort to induce that paper to do likewise.

Both charges were denied by Dietz, who said the film company never has tried to influence criticisms published in newspapers or magazines. He did admit that a theater manager in Nashville, Tenn., threatened three years ago to withdraw, or have withdrawn, M-G-M advertising because of a critical review by Fidler.

Gown Keeps Wires Hot.

The matter of Miss Faye's dress, which has become a cause célèbre, came into this investigation of war propaganda somewhat casually during previous testimony by Fidler. Fidler's wife conducts a dress shop in Hollywood. Fidler remarked that he had been accused of criticizing Miss Faye as an actress because of a dispute between Miss Faye and Mrs. Fidler over a dress. He said Miss Faye didn't like the dress and hadn't paid for it promptly.

Harry Brand, west coast advertising representative for 20th Century-Fox, telegraphed the committee yesterday that the gown fell apart the first time it was worn. This, Brand declared, was a source of much humiliation and embarrassment to Miss Faye.

Today Fidler telegraphed the committee that Miss Faye wore the dress to the première, and to dinner afterward. She was "much in evidence at both places," Fidler's message stated.

The committee is holding a preliminary inquiry on a resolution calling for a complete investigation of war propaganda in current movie productions and radio programs.

Under questioning by Senator D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho], the chairman, previous witnesses have testified that a small group of men in control of the industries are attempting to arouse the American people to war in order to satisfy personal aims.

Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's, Inc., who testified all day yesterday, was on the stand again today.

Denies Propaganda Charges.

Concluding his testimony today, Schenck refused to admit that such pictures as "Escape" and "Mortal Storm" constitute war propaganda, as has been charged by previous witnesses. He also denied that the alleged propaganda pictures are being forced on theater owners by the producers.

CUT JAP BUDGET TO FREE MORE DEFENSE FUNDS

TOKIO, Sept. 24.—To free all available funds, labor, and materials for national defense, Japan's cabinet today slashed the current budget by 1,323,000,000 yen [nominally about $309,000,000]. The budget previously was put at $3,012,750,000, tho total government expenditures during the current fiscal year, including all armament and war expenditures, were estimated at $5,031,000,000.

The vastness of Japan's effort to create a greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere was indicated by the fact her whole national income last year was only $7,020,000,000 and her tax revenues, including monopoly profits, amounted to only $1,028,430,000. Revenue estimates for the current year run to $1,221,480,000, but in view of the dislocation of business by economic measures taken by various countries against Japan, actual revenues have become doubtful.

The national debt is rising at a rate of approximately $234,000,000 a month and reached $7,742,000,000 at the end of July.

Finance Minister Masatsine Ogura has warned the nation that to avoid inflation it will have to work more, save more, and cut its standard of living still more.

FIND ARMY RADIO PLANE LOCATORS HIGHLY ACCURATE

Use Detectors First Time in Simulated Combat.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Natchitoches, La., Sept. 24.—Mobile versions of the British radio airplane detectors have been thoroly tested and found to be amazingly accurate in "the battle of Louisiana" thus far, it was revealed here today by Brig. Gen. Carlyle H. Wash, chief of the 2d [red] army's interceptor command. These maneuvers represent the first time that such locators have been used by the air corps under conditions simulating real combat.

The American radio locators are almost exactly like those which played such an important part in the battle of Britain in the fall of 1940. The British, however, use permanently installed radio transmitting stations to send out the curtain of signals which, when reflected, tell of the approach of airplanes in flight as far away as 200 miles.

Finds Mobile Units Best.

"For our purposes in these maneuvers the mobile units are best," Gen. Wash declared. "The transmitters are set up on trucks that can rapidly be shifted from point to point as the war of movement progresses. These are among the most secret weapons of our army, and the trucks are kept in special electrified barbed wire barricades when they are not in motion. They are closely guarded at all times."

Only the 2d army air force was equipped with the radio locator, Gen. Wash explained. The 3d [blue] army, which supposedly is defending the Gulf coast area, was forced to rely on warning of the approach of enemy air raiders on a telephonic network of civilian listening and watching posts. Thus a good comparison of the two systems became available.

Watches a Demonstration.

Several of the detector trucks were connected by telephone with the large room where the detector headquarters was set up. The trucks themselves were in the field and not visible. But reports from them were relayed over open wires to a dozen officers and 24 men who constantly are on duty in the room itself. These soldiers coördinate the reports and transfer them to a gigantic map laid down on an enormous folding table that occupies the center of the room.

In its details the room appeared to be like those established by the British and shown in photographs sent from England. The table is surrounded by men holding wands much like the croupier's staff at a roulette table. As changing information arrives they push or pull blocks that are arranged on the map to represent either friendly or enemy planes. An almost constant report on these positions is available so that officers watching the map can see their air forces in movement.

From examination of the map and the blocks, Gen. Wash, or another officer in command, gives orders to his defensive squadrons on the ground or in the air.

Auto Plate Designed to Conserve Metal

Sample Wisconsin auto license plate for 1942, designed with rounded corners to make plates wear longer. Motorists buying 1943 plates will be given metal tags bearing numerals "43" to be attached where strip marked "40" is bolted on this plate. The date 1942 will remain.

Yellow and Black

Madison, Wis., Sept. 24 [Special].—State officials today displayed a sample of the 1942 auto license plate to be sold to motorists. The new plate was designed to conserve steel in the interests of national defense. It is rounded at the corners to make the plate stronger so that it will last two or more years. When a motorist applies for a 1943 license he will receive small strips of metal in a contrasting color bearing numerals "43" to be attached to the plate. The color scheme of the 1942 plate is yellow numerals on a black background.

Bank Mistake Makes Him Millionaire for an Hour

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP).—John Hodge, Sangamon county rural rehabilitation director, found out today how it feels to be a millionaire—but only for an hour. Hodge went to a Springfield bank to get a cashier's check for $200. Later he found the check was made out for $1,000,200. Bank officials were glad to get the check back.

ASKS PUNISHMENT OF SLAYERS AT CAMACHO HOME

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 24 (AP).—Immediate punishment of those responsible for the shooting affray yesterday in front of President Manuel Avila Camacho's home, in which six were killed, was requested today by the executive committee of Mexico's largest labor organization. The Confederation of Mexican Workmen appealed to the president.

Those killed were munitions workers seeking a mass interview with the president to press demands for the removal of Gen. Luis Bobadilla Camberos, director of the war plants.

Guillermo Rojas, secretary-general of the Workers syndicate, was listed among the dead.

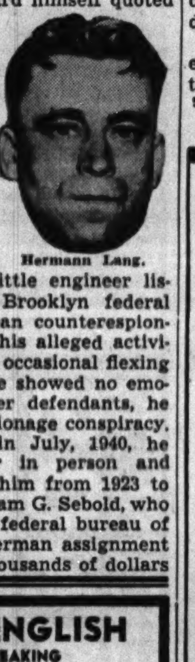
SPY TRIAL IS TOLD HOW HITLER GOT U. S. BOMBSIGHT

Story of Fuehrer's "Pal" Related in Court.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Hermann Lang, 39, today heard himself quoted as boasting of a friendship with Adolf Hitler during the Fuehrer's seamy days and admitting that he had delivered to his native Germany secrets of the prized American Norden bombsight.



Hermann Lang.

The pale-lipped little engineer listened intently in Brooklyn federal court while American counterespionage agents told of his alleged activities, but, beyond an occasional flexing of facial muscles, he showed no emotion. With 15 other defendants, he was on trial for espionage conspiracy.

"Lang told me in July, 1940, he knew Adolf Hitler in person and used to fight with him from 1923 to 1927," testified William G. Sebold, who turned over to the federal bureau of investigation his German assignment in espionage and thousands of dollars sent him from the Hamburg gestapo [secret police] in return for a $50 a week FBI job. "He said he could write to [Air Marshal Wilhelm Hermann] Goering, for Goering considered the bomb sight the most important thing in the world."

It's All in Earnest.

"Was Lang kidding when he said this?" asked Defense Counsel George W. Herz.

Sebold, who has been on the witness stand off and on for almost three weeks, shifted in his seat and said emphatically, "He certainly was not. He was serious."

Joseph B. Fellner, FBI agent, testified that he eavesdropped on the conversation—held in Sebold's midtown office last February.

He said Lang told Sebold, who had established a "spy" transmitting set on Long Island, that he had given details of the bombsight to Germany during a 1938 visit to his native land.

"Sebold then asked, 'Did you have everything in your head and put it together again in Germany?'" Fellner testified. "Lang nodded affirmatively and said later, 'I worked with some engineers in Berlin.'"

Wanted to Go Home.

Both Sebold and Fellner testified that early this year Lang wanted to return to Germany. Sebold said Lang was awaiting German funds with which to buy passage by way of Japan.

"Lang asked Sebold if he had heard about money being shipped up from Mexico," Fellner testified. "Sebold said, 'No.'"

Sebold testified earlier that while Lang and other defendants were grumbling about the tight fistedness of the German gestapo, he himself was receiving money in large lump sums for disbursal to spies. He said he mentioned none of this to the defendants and turned over all money to the FBI.

FOUND SLAIN IN HOME.

August Shimkus, 48 years old, 724 West 31st street, a foundry worker, was found shot to death in his home yesterday, apparently a suicide.

TELLS PROGRESS MADE IN CHINA UNDER FREEDOM

Ambassador Explains the Retreat of Japan.

Because freedom is a necessary condition when a nation borrows the attributes of an alien culture, China is being modernized rapidly and is developing a democratic political life, while Japan, the first Asiatic nation to become westernized, has retreated consciously from the 20th century into medievalism.

This was the assertion last night of Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, in an address before the concluding seminar on "Civilizations in Transition" at the University of Chicago's 50th anniversary celebration.

"In the history of cultural contact and exchange between the east and the west," said Dr. Hu, "there are certain important phenomena which often have puzzled the outside observer, and which, I suggest, cannot be explained satisfactorily except by the principle of freedom as a determining factor in cultural transformation.

Monarchy Is Removed.

"While Japan's first successes in westernization were achieved under the leadership and control of her feudal-militaristic class, China has had to spend decades in the effort to remove the monarchy and bring about a political revolution as the precondition of her modernization.

"The political revolution was in every sense a social and cultural emancipation. In a country where there is no ruling class, the overthrow of the monarchy destroys the last possibility of a centralized control in social change and cultural transformation.

"It makes possible an atmosphere of free contact, free judgment and criticism, free appreciation, free advocacy, and voluntary acceptance. What has been called the Chinese renaissance is the natural product of this atmosphere of freedom. All the important phases of cultural change in China have been the result of this free contact and free diffusion of new ideas and practices, which are impossible in Japan under rigid dynastic and militaristic taboos."

Prof. Michael Rostovtzeff of Yale university, another speaker in the seminar, drew a picture of Greek infiltration into ancient Egypt which had marked similarities to the Nazi blueprint of "tourist" infiltration followed by "protective occupation."

Dr. Rostovtzeff said that Greek emigrants went to Egypt in swarms, organized a complex burocracy, made the king a puppet ruler under their domination, and then proceeded to milk the native population of its wealth.

Lesson from Insects.

At another seminar on the "Comparative Study of Societies," Dr. Alfred E. Emerson, University of Chicago zoölogist, said the human race could study the insect world with profit in learning to live in peace with one another.

Dr. Charles Hartshorne, University of Chicago philosopher, suggested a hope for an equitable resolution of world conflicts in the future by the emergence of a world mind composed of the minds of all living individuals.

Dr. Clarence I. Lewis, professor of philosophy at Harvard university, who spoke with Dr. Hartshorne at a symposium on "Philosophic Interpretation in the Sciences," said that despite the misuses of science which have brought war and destruction to great segments of the globe, science still is the principal reliance of the human race in its quest for betterment.

Meetings of learned men will continue on the Midway campus today.

DOXEY BELIEVED WINNER IN RACE FOR U. S. SENATE

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 24 (AP).—Almost complete unofficial returns from yesterday's special senatorial election indicated tonight that Representative Wall Doxey of Holly Springs was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

Doxey, a member of the house since 1928, held a margin of 607 votes over Representative Ross Collins of Meridian, who has served continuously in the house since 1920. The unofficial count from all except 10 of the state's 1,675 precincts showed: Doxey, 59,232; Collins, 58,625.

An official canvass of the vote will start tomorrow. The winner will serve until January, 1943. Harrison, who died last June, had filled the seat for 23 years.

[Both Doxey and Collins have been classified in congress as New Dealers, altho Collins has been one of the leading critics of antiquated methods in operation of the army.]

TRUCKER BURNS TO DEATH.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 24 [Special].—W. C. White of Dallas, Tex., a relief truck driver, was burned to death today when two large transport trucks collided at an intersection near Clinton, Ill. He was trapped in the sleeper's cab of one of the transports. Drivers tried to rescue White, but were driven back by the fire.

BUSY MEN GIVE TIME AND CASH TO RELIEF DRIVE

Loop executives are giving generously of their time and money to assure success of the 1941 Community Fund campaign, James S. Knowlson, head of the Stewart-Warner corporation and general chairman, announced yesterday. Besides subscribing to the $3,583,000 campaign for Chicago's 185 major welfare groups, these men are chairmen, captains, and workers.

Among Loop executives on the committee are J. C. O'Brien of Carson's, L. B. Sizer of Field's, H. B. Van Valkenburg and E. P. Brooks of Sears, John Balaban of Allied Theaters, and John Sheldon of Stevens.

URGES SEIZURE OF ALL BUSINESS PROFIT OVER 6%

Morgenthau Calls Plan Curb to Inflation.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau today proposed that all corporations be allowed a return of only 6 per cent on their invested capital, with all profits above that amount going to the government thru 100 per cent taxation.

His drastic proposal was made before the house banking and currency committee in support of price control legislation to curb inflation.

Morgenthau's plan for confiscation of profits above 6 per cent would exact a severe penalty on corporations, both large and small, as compared with present taxes. For the first time in many years corporations are getting on their feet and regaining some of the ground lost during the long depression.

Profits Limited Now.

At present corporations are allowed a return of 8 per cent on invested capital up to 5 million dollars and 7 per cent on the remainder. Profits above this return are taxed at rates ranging from 35 to 60 per cent—far from the 100 per cent confiscation proposed by Morgenthau.

Under an alternative system an exemption of $5,000 and further credit of 95 per cent of average earnings between 1936 and 1939 is allowed before application of the 35 to 60 per cent tax rates. But the treasury has consistently opposed this method and under Morgenthau's proposal it undoubtedly would be eliminated.

Calls It "Patriotic."

Saying that heavier corporation taxes are necessary as an anti-inflation measure, Morgenthau referred to the recently enacted tax bill levying 3 billion 553 millions in new taxes, and said:

"We would have liked then to go further on the question of excess profits. I still feel that we are going to have much more stringent laws affecting excess profits.

"If we are going to ask anybody else to be patriotic and make sacrifices, the owners of corporations will have to do likewise. If a corporation earns 6 per cent on its capital that ought to be enough."

Representative Clyde Williams [D., Mo.] asked:

"Does that mean that everything over and above a 6 per cent return should go to the government?"

"Yes," Morgenthau replied.

Rep. Dewey Objects to It.

Representative Fred Crawford [R., Mich.] agreed with Morgenthau's suggested 6 per cent profit limit, but Representative Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.], former assistant secretary of the treasury, objected, observing that many businesses operate on a very small invested capital.

On the pending price control bill Morgenthau said that it was defective in its failure to provide adequate control over farm prices, but he opposed control of wages, declaring that labor is not a commodity.

He asserted that price control is essential to prevent inflation that would be costly to individuals and the government alike. He also proposed other steps to counteract the inflationary trend produced by the enormous arms spending and curtailment of civilian supplies.

Sees Higher Taxes.

"If we are to be sure of victory in the fight against inflation we must prepare further to increase taxes," he said. "We may have to extend the general controls over bank credits. We shall certainly have to reduce capital expenditures for nondefense needs and widen the sale of defense savings bonds and stamps. It would also be wise to extend the social security program to absorb purchasing power now and pave the way for increased purchasing power after the emergency."

Morgenthau said the cost of pork chops typified the inflation threat.

"The housewife knows that pork chops that were 29 cents a pound in January were 30 in February, 31 in April, 32 in May, 35 in June, 37 in July, 38 in August and 41 at the moment—a total rise of 40 per cent in those nine months." He noted also sharp rises in the cost of eggs, coffee, sugar, flour, textiles, building materials, chemicals, and hides and leather.

Opposes Farm Price Rise.

On the control of farm prices, Morgenthau objected to a provision in the pending legislation permitting farm prices to rise to 10 per cent above parity level, saying he opposed that extra 10 per cent before price control could be exercised.

Morgenthau declared that unless inflation is checked "we may find that our defense program will cost us double without giving us a single additional gun or plane for that extra expenditure." He added that the government employs nearly 1,500,000 civilians who would need pay increases if the cost of living continues to rise.

"The President wants a price control bill. He'll get it. That's all there is to it."

He declined to say how soon he expected action.

GERMANS ASKED TO BE SPORTS—FOR WINTER FUND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—All Germany is making preparations for the opening of the first street collections for the third winter war relief fund. This time the country's numerous sports organizations will sponsor the penny gathering. They will stage all kinds of sport demonstrations on the city squares and along crowded thorofares.

Two days before the hats are passed Berliners will have 1,500,000 printed programs dropped in their letter boxes to tell them what is going on and where. Such well known Berlin squares and streets as the Potsdamerplantz and Under den Linden will be the scene of roller skating exhibitions, track meets, bicycle races, hockey and soccer games, and boxing and wrestling bouts, while skiers will compete on a specially prepared surface in a municipal park.

The sale of 4,500,000 swastika badges at 8 cents a badge is the goal of 37,500 Berlin campaigners. Fifty-one million badges must be sold in Germany over the week-end.

PARACHUTE LEAP EQUIPMENT PUT THRU RADIO TEST

Arthur H. Starnes, expert parachute jumper, yesterday tested the 115 pounds of equipment that he will use in a jump from the stratosphere. The jump he plans in a week or two from 35,000 feet, will be to test the reactions of his heart and respiration during the fall.

Starnes wil lbe equipped with a portable radio which will pick up his heart beats and broadcast them to a receiving set on the ground. The receiving set will record them on an electro-cardiagraph instrument. Another instrument will record his breathing during the descent.

Starnes said he will delay opening the parachute until his wrist altimeter shows 5,000 feet above the ground. Other equipment will include a helmet, an oxygen flash, and an aluminum breastplate.

NEW TAXES LAY HEAVY HAND ON FAMILY BUDGET

Virtually Every Item in Home Bears a Levy.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—New and increased taxes in the 1941 tax bill, which becomes effective Oct. 1, will fall heavily upon the American household. Approximately $232,000,000 will be added in the next 12 months to the tax burden which must be borne by the occupant of a home.

Refrigerators, radios, phonographs, matches, telephone bills, the kitchen range—whether it be operated by electricity, oil, or gas—rubber articles of many kinds, electric light bulbs, water heaters, electric flat irons, electric mixers, whippers and juicers, electric vacuum cleaners—these are some of the objects taxed by the government in the new tax measure. Most of these articles have had a flat 10 per cent manufacturers' sales tax slapped upon them.

Furs and Silverware Hit.

A winter fur coat for the wife will cost the American husband an extra 10 per cent of the retail price in the form of a federal tax after Oct. 1. All jewelry, including watches and clocks, and silverware, will have a new 10 per cent tax.

Purchasers of these articles on the instalment plan may avoid the new federal taxes if they make a down payment and obtain delivery of the article before Oct. 1. The bill specifically provides that no new tax shall be applied in the case of purchase made on the instalment plan if "the contract for sale . . . and delivery thereunder" is made before that date.

[It is pointed out by merchants that purchasers on the "lay-away" plan—delivery of the purchase is withheld until it is practically paid for—will be subject to the tax on the balance due Oct. 1. The avoidance of taxes occurs only where delivery of the article has been made.]

The 5 per cent federal tax on radios and phonographs has been increased to 10 per cent in the new bill and extended to include phonograph records and all musical instruments. It is estimated to yield an additional $17,500,000 a year.

All Cooling Units Hit.

Likewise the tax on refrigerators has been doubled from 5 to 10 per cent. This tax applies to cooling apparatus of every kind, such as beverage coolers, water coolers, milk cooler cabinets, etc., if they are operated by a mechanical refrigerating unit powered by electricity, gas, kerosene or gasoline. Air conditioning units also are included. Estimated new yield: $16,600,000.

The new tax on matches is 2 cents per 1,000. In the case of fancy wooden matches or wooden matches having colored sticks, the tax is made 5½ cents per 1,000. Manufacturers of matches must pay a floor tax of 2 cents per 1,000 on all match stocks in their possession on Oct. 1. The expected yield of the match tax is $8,200,000.

The monthly telephone bill will have a 6 per cent federal tax added to it hereafter. In addition, an increased federal tax is placed on long distance calls. Calls costing more than 24 cents will be taxed at the rate of 5 cents for each 50 cents, or fraction thereof, of the charge. These two taxes will set the telephone user back an estimated $111,500,000.

Even Junior's Games Taxed.

If the small boy of the family wants a baseball bat or mitt, a football or tennis racket, his father will pay a new 10 per cent government tax under the act. Sporting goods of every variety are levied upon at this rate.

Another new 10 per cent tax will be levied upon toilet preparations including perfumes, cosmetics, powders and similar preparations. The estimated yield from this tax is $19,700,000 annually.

Trunks, valises, traveling bags, suitcases, and other luggage will be taxed at the rate of 10 per cent hereafter.

The new 10 per cent tax on electric, gas, and oil appliances will apply to electric fans and air circulators; electric, gas, or oil water heaters; electric air heaters [but not including furnaces]; electric heating pads and blankets; electric, gas, or oil cooking ranges; electric flat irons and vacuum cleaners, and all other appliances of similar nature.

Rubber Goods Covered.

Articles of which rubber is the component material of chief weight will be subjected to a new 10 per cent tax. Exempted from this tax are rubber footwear and articles designed especially for hospital or surgical use.

When the bill went to conference between the senate and house, it carried a 10 per cent tax on all washing machines. This was eliminated in the conference, however, and only washing machines of the kind used in commercial laundries will be subject to the tax.

The new tax on electric light bulbs will be 5 per cent.

Richman Brothers' announced policy of keeping down clothing prices, while keeping up quality, is the talk of the country.

We knew our customers would appreciate it, but we were not quite prepared for the widespread enthusiasm it created.

One of our patrons put it in these words, "Bless you for not raising your prices. It's the sort of thing people have come to expect from Richman Brothers."

We take this opportunity to thank our friends for the nice things they've said and written in. May we add this, "We've been keeping prices down and quality up for 62 years. We shall go on doing it."

REDS SMASH NEW NAZI ATTEMPT TO SEIZE MURMANSK

Ice Free Arctic Port Still in Russian Hands.

MOSCOW, Sept. 25 [Thursday] (AP).—Soviet troops smashed a new German offensive against the arctic ice free port of Murmansk and fought back stubbornly along the whole front, the Russians said today.

Dispatches from the northern front to the official military organ Red Star said Murmansk, one of the most important harbors in European Russia, still was in soviet hands. The long and bitter struggle for Murmansk was pictured as continuing, with the initiative in Russian hands.

The first German offensive was loosed in July, but the Russians forced the Germans on the defensive thru the whole of August.

Then, reinforced by Black Shirt battalions and mountain regiments transferred from Norway, the Nazis opened their second offensive in which they lost 800 dead in the first day's action and at least 2,000 by mid-September.

Claim 14 Nazi Ships Sunk.

The Russians announced that 14 German ships, including transports, and one Finnish ship were sunk recently but did not give the scene of the action [possibly off Murmansk or in the Gulf of Finland, near Leningrad]. Several other transports and some torpedo boats were said to have been damaged.

Today's early morning communique reported 75 German planes shot down for a loss of 25 Red aircraft on Tuesday. Soviet patrol boats were said to have sunk a German transport in the Gulf of Finland.

German planes attempting to raid Moscow last night and early today were beaten off. The alarm, from 9 p. m. until 2:45 a. m., was the longest of the war.

Red Star said defenders of Leningrad had beaten the Germans farther back by recapture of a position on the city's approaches. Nazi attempts to retake the position were said to have been broken.

Two German regiments were reported destroyed by Marshal Timoshenko's forces on the eastern bank of the upper Dvina river some 200 miles west of Moscow.

Fight Before Crimea Gateway.

In the lower Ukraine, heavy and inconclusive fighting was reported all yesterday before the gateway to the Crimea. It was declared that strongly fortified soviet positions near Kherson, a town on the Dnieper river near the Black sea [and far to the west of the most extended lines claimed by the Germans] were breasting violent German assaults.

As to the area protecting the industrial Donetz river basin, where the southern Russian armies were reorganizing in an attempt to hold the strongest of all the Nazi offensives, there was frankly expressed Russian concern.

[It was reported from Iran that a major part of the five Russian divisions in the northern section of that country were being withdrawn immediately to support the defense against the southern German rush.]

SUBMARINES RIP 5 AXIS VESSELS, BRITAIN CLAIMS

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP).—Successful submarine attacks against axis vessels in the central Mediterranean were announced by the admiralty today.

An Italian minelayer of the Crotone class, 359 tons, was probably destroyed, the admiralty said. A 1,500 ton supply ship was believed to have been sunk and a transport set afire. A 5,000 ton supply ship was torpedoed, the admiralty said, without stating whether it was sunk. A submarine, it said, shelled a large schooner and probably sank it.

Steamer Sunk, Italy Claims.

ROME, Sept. 24 (AP).—Italian planes sank a 2,500 ton armed steamer and seriously damaged a 1,000 ton vessel in an attack on a British convoy in the Mediterranean, the Italian high command announced today.

It reported also that a 12,000 ton oil tanker was torpedoed and sunk in the eastern Mediterranean by an Italian submarine.

STABBING HELD MURDER.

A coroner's jury held yesterday that John Kos, 55 years old, watchman who was stabbed to death in a bakery at 659 West 13th street on Tuesday, was the victim of murder by unidentified persons.

VICHY PROTESTS TO ENGLAND ON SINKING OF SHIP

Tells of Air Attack in Tunis Waters.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Sept. 24.—A French note was on its way tonight to London, by way of Washington, D. C., protesting against the bombardment and sinking of the French cargo ship Monselet by English bombing planes off the coast of Tunis. All members of the crew were saved.

The sinking of the Monselet is the first naval incident between the British and French since last spring, when British destroyers pursued and fired on commercial vessels in territorial waters off Nemours, Algeria, after which Vice Premier Jean Darlan threatened to convoy ships.

No Contraband, Say French.

The sinking of the Monselet caused commotion in political circles in Vichy, where it was stated the attack was doubly inexplicable because the Monselet was within French territorial waters and was carrying noncontraband phosphates to Marseilles to be used in France as fertilizers.

It was said here that the Monselet left Sfax, Tunis, last Saturday morning. While it was in the Gulf of Gabes, inside the Kerkenna Islands, a squadron of English bombing planes attacked it, first with machine guns and then with high explosive bombs. Three hits set the unarmed Monselet afire and it sank.

A large amount of French shipping daily reaches Marseilles from North African ports ordinarily and without navicerts [cargo certificates]. The French deny the ships are convoyed and it is presumed that they are ignored by the British, altho American consuls in North Africa usually inspect the ships before they leave and assure the British that no contraband is on board.

"British Attack Somaliland."

VICHY, France, Sept. 24 (AP).—The Djibuti radio charged today that the British were systematically attacking French Somaliland by land and sea.

IRAN'S NEW SHAH SEEKS TO RIGHT FATHER'S WRONGS

Pledges to Push Program of Reforms.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Sept. 24.—Mohammed Pahlevi, new 21 year old shah [king] of Iran, is making a bid for public approval by trying to undo some of the damage done by his father, Riza Khan Pahlevi, now in flight after abdicating the throne under pressure after the British-Russian military conquest of this country.

Mohammed Pahlevi.

One of the principal reforms Mohammed Pahlevi has promised is that money voted by parliament will be spent on the project for which it was appropriated. His father, on the other hand, built hotels with highway funds and operated them as his own personal properties and irrigated royal farmlands with money appropriated for drainage projects to curb malaria fever.

Plans Hospitals and Schools.

Shah Mohammed Pahlevi has pledged to push to completion a new legislative program which calls for the construction of a 500 bed hospital in Teheran and the building thruout the country of schools, hospitals, nurseries, and libraries; reduction of malaria and the widespread eye disease, trachoma, and a $30,000 poor relief program.

Meanwhile, Prince Ali Riza, 20 year old second son of the former shah and a brother of Iran's present ruler, has left Teheran to join his father in exile. Had he remained here he would have assumed the title of crown prince.

Teheran newspapers reported this morning that the former shah has gone to Bandar Abbas, a Persian gulf port, where he hopes to get a ship out of the country. One report said he planned to board a Japanese ship and go directly to Japan, later making his way to South America. Others said he was fleeing to India across the barren Asiatic plateau of southeastern Iran, making for the rail head at Zahedan, from which he could get the weekly train for Quetta, in Baluchistan.

In Land of His Enemies.

But whether his destination is Japan or India, it was agreed that in southeastern Iran Riza Khan Pahlevi is in the land of deadly enemies—territory ruled by tribes he crushed in his rise to power. Hence the protective secrecy which has surrounded his movements since he left Isfahan, to which he went Saturday from Teheran.

By an odd coincidence, the widow of the sheik of the Bachktiari tribe was in the hospital at Isfahan during the former shah's stop in that city. Her husband was captured by a ruse during Pahlevi's rise to power and died in prison of a "stroke." This tribe, as well as the Kashgais and Tengestanis, who also thirsted for revenge, remained at peace during Pahlevi's reign, but when the British and Russians began their invasion of the country they seized the opportunity to start uprisings.

Many tribesmen captured in the skirmishes were found to be armed with new German rifles.

Weeps Over His "Mistakes."

During his stay in Isfahan, it is reported, Pahlevi did not leave the home of Kazeruni, a wealthy industrialist and landowner who made a huge fortune during Pahlevi's reign. Circles close to the former monarch told THE TRIBUNE that he had not slept for 28 nights and spent most of his time pacing up and down the flowered paths of Kazeruni's garden, often with tears streaming down his face as he lamented his "mistakes."

Meanwhile, Queen Fawzieh, wife of the present shah, and former Queen Pahlevi, wife of the former shah, both are expected to return to Teheran shortly from Isfahan. The former shah did not take his queen when he fled from Isfahan, but took instead his 35 year old second wife, who does not rate royal status.

LABOR SHORTAGE PUSHES NAZIS TO NEW HUNT FOR AID

Pressure on Bulgaria Is Seen as Instance.

ANKARA, Turkey, Sept. 24 (AP).—Enough evidence is accumulating of a serious labor shortage in Germany to indicate that her pressure on Bulgaria may be directed less at getting that nation into the war against Russia than at winning help in the war against lagging axis production.

Official and unofficial reports trickling out of occupied Europe indicate Adolf Hitler is grabbing at all men within reach, to put them into German factories or to push them up to the Russian front so as to lessen the need of sending more German munitions workers to the army.

Germany's own reserve manpower apparently was exhausted a year ago when the reich began importing hundreds of thousands of Italian and Balkan workers. It now is estimated that about 1,500,000 foreigners are working in Germany either in vital war industries or in equally vital agricultural production.

War Prisoners Working.

Besides these voluntary and semivoluntary workers, there are at least 1,500,000 war prisoners employed on German farms or building roads and airfields. That number does not include the unknown hundreds of thousands of Russian war prisoners.

The Germans contend there is no prohibition against working the Russians directly in war industries, because Russia is not a signatory of The Hague pact against use of prisoners in such war industries as munitions works, shipyards, and mines.

Germany has been searching Europe for even semi-skilled mine labor, and it can be surmised that many Russian prisoners are or soon may be digging the precious coal from which Germany gets a thousand or more products.

Use of the Bulgarians.

Reports current here state that Germany is pressing Bulgaria to provide 200,000 soldiers now and perhaps more later. No one here who is informed on Bulgarian affairs suggests that these men would be thrown directly against the Russians in view of the known pro-Russian sentiment of the Bulgarian rank and file.

It is considered more likely they would be used in various supply or occupation services so as to release German soldiers for return to the war industries.

[This would conform with the declaration by the Bulgarian minister of interior that his country did not intend to go to war against Russia or to break off relations with Moscow.]

Germany has been making no secret of her labor need for many months. Posters in France, Belgium, Holland, Hungary, and Rumania are reported to promise bountiful wages, excellent working conditions, and freedom from Nazi propagandizing for any workers willing to help keep the German war machine rolling.

March 7th. Pisces is your sign, ruled by Neptune. You are a somewhat contradictory person, alternately venturesome and cautious, with considerable ability, mental and artistic, that does not yet find ready expression. You seem destined to have a good deal of luck in life. Do not take offense easily nor be so sure about first, fleeting impressions. There are many things that you can do well if you concentrate.

A. Coppersmith, West Olive, Mich.

March 25th. Aries is your sign, ruled by Mars. You are a highly social, magnetic person, with strong affections and tender sensibilities. You must learn to think things out straight and true and not to be swayed by your emotions. You will also have to guard against inactivity, and train yourself to finish every task you undertake.

John R. Fox, Chicago

January 5th. Your sign is Capricorn, ruled by Saturn. Few have as strict a conception of duty as you have; high honor, conscientiousness, and an abiding faith in the triumph of right are your great inner resources. You are impelled to personal development rather than public acclaim. Many educators have been born under your sign and you have characteristics of the teacher. Greater personal happiness is indicated in the near future.

D. E. Owen, Terre Haute, Ind.

August 3rd. Leo is your sign, ruled by the Sun. You are a person of action and idealism as well, and when you get your mind and your physical energies working in unison you can accomplish wonders. Eventually you will overcome the emotional flexibility which seems to hamper your progress at this stage of your life. You have excellent self expression, and good creative ability.

M. Gallagher, Beloit, Wis.

December 6th. Sagittarius is your sign, ruled by Jupiter. Genial, courteous, and idealistic, you have great faith in people and there is something about you that makes them justify it. You must cultivate concentrative ability and become more practical minded, living and thinking on a more detached plane. You are steadfast and loyal, but must be practical in choosing friends on whom you lavish these qualities.

R. E. Sweeney, Chicago

July 17th. Cancer is the sign of the Zodiac under which you were born, with the Moon your ruling planet. You are trusting, eager, and easy to please but there are indications that you must develop greater self-confidence, justified by your intelligence and honesty. You learn readily, but are impulsive and should cultivate reserve. Work and play in moderation and be on the lookout for business opportunities in the near future.

A. F. Willmers, Dubuque

June 22d. You were born under the sign of Cancer, the Moon is your ruling planet. You are impressionable and complex, tenacious and patient, inclined to be too sensitive and to let trifles assume mountainous importance. Once you acquire self-confidence, however, you find free range for your unusual gifts. Love of home and family are outstanding traits. Eliminate the trifling and unimportant from your life and you will make rapid strides.

L. Klein, Louisville, Ky.

Dec. 2nd. Sagittarius is your sign, Jupiter your ruling star. You have remarkable ambition and verve but you must strive to turn your idealism into practical form. Your drive combined with realism would tend to make you a powerful and successful personality. Reserve in expression will make your path smoother. Thursdays should be favorable for you and eight should be a good number.

C. L. Haskins, Downers Grove, Ill.

June 19th. You were born under the sign of Gemini, Mercury is your ruling planet. Versatility is one of your greatest assets. You have a gift for objective, intellectual interest in many things. You adapt easily to varying circumstances and possess a disarming friendliness. Mental activities generally exceed physical ones, but you are occasionally inclined to use up too much nervous energy and should endeavor to conserve and direct your natural mental abilities.

H. S. Kauffman, Chicago

May 6th. You were born under the sign of Taurus; your ruling planet is Venus. Steadfast, kind, and constructive, you are one of those persons often described as the "salt of the earth." Beware of possessiveness about people and things and try to cultivate more detachment; your sympathies make you something of an easy mark and disillusionment is painful. In the coming year try to be practical and thrifty; you may have need of a financial reserve.

Storm Delays Army Games; 100 Mile Wind Hits Houston

Every Soldier Soaked

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Natchitoches, La., Sept. 24.—After 12 hours' delay due to last night's gulf storm, the second phase of the interarmy war games got under way at noon today, altho the weather remains far from pleasant.

A second 12 hour reprieve was sought, but refused by Lieut. Gen. Lesley McNair. Inasmuch as the 2d and 3d armies are supposed to be simulating actual war conditions, the general ruled it would be out of order to further postpone the exercises. "Real hostilities would not bow to the weather," said Gen. McNair.

Mudholes Everywhere.

The maneuvers undoubtedly will be slowed considerably by the storm. The heavy rains of the last 24 hours have left fields and all but paved roads a messy quagmire. Most of the soldiers spent the afternoon trying to extricate trucks, scout cars, and tanks from mudholes and bogs.

The storm has doubled the work of engineer and communication troops. Telephone lines are down in many places. Tents were blown down in a bivouac area extending almost from the Sabine river to Opelousas. Almost every soldier was soaked to the skin. But because activities were held up until noon, most of the men were able to hang out their clothing and blankets, dry their pup tents, and otherwise clean up evidence of the storm.

Armored Strength Equalized.

The 2d [Red] army is carrying out its prearranged plans for defending Shreveport against the 3d [Blue] army with its 3 to 1 preponderance of man power. The 2d army has about 110,000 men in this problem, against 320,000 in the invading force.

Each army now has an armored division, but these forces are not likely to be pitted against each other until later in the exercises. The Reds had all the tanks in the last maneuvers, but didn't seem able to accomplish anything approaching a blitzkreig, even against Blue infantry.

Rice Loss 5½ Millions

Houston, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP).—Refugees by the thousands returned tonight to the gulf coast homes they fled to escape a tropical storm which wreaked millions of dollars in damage upon crops and property.

The heaviest blow in years—peak winds of 100 miles an hour were recorded as it lashed inland—spent its violence as it moved northeastward before veering west into Texas again near Sulphur Springs.

Damage to the Texas rice crop alone was estimated at $5,500,000 by Homer L. Brinkley, manager of the American Rice Growers' Coöperative association.

Boats and Buildings Smashed.

In addition the storm buffeted bay shore homes, smashed boats, destroyed flimsy structures, unroofed residences, uprooted trees, disrupted communications, killed three persons, injured scores, and isolated entire communities.

The storm struck Houston without warning last night and left damage of at least $500,000. The city was without electric power in some sections. The water pressure was low because most pumping stations were electrically operated.

15 Truckloads of Glass.

Plate glass windows—15 truckloads full—were smashed in the business district as the wind beat thru the city at 77 miles an hour. Eight hundred Texas defense guardsmen were enlisted to help police prevent looting.

The storm moved on before daybreak, however, and by nightfall Houston had returned almost to normalcy.

For farming folk the outlook was bleak, but the government announced assistance plans, and the Red Cross and other agencies also were lending aid.

BRITISH ALLIES VOTE POST-WAR RESOURCES POOL

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Thirty-one men, representing 11 European countries including soviet Russia, and the British commonwealth of nations, met in the famous picture gallery of St. James's palace this afternoon and endorsed proposals for pooling all economic resources, "with the collaboration of the United States," for the economic and political reconstruction of postwar Europe.

At a morning session the same group, with Ambassador Ivan Maisky speaking for Russia, approved a resolution endorsing the Roosevelt-Churchill eight point Atlantic charter. It was clear from the speeches that each exiled government expects its country to regain freedom in both internal and external affairs when the hoped for allied victory over Germany is achieved.

Eden Reads U. S. Pledge.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden presided and presented both resolutions. He read a statement from the United States government which said the interallied conference was "of great prospective usefulness" and promised that the American government "stands ready at the appropriate time to consider in what respects it can coöperate."

"It is obvious," Eden stated, "that the satisfaction of the postwar needs of Europe will depend on the coöperation of the great primary producing countries overseas."

The Russian ambassador, while making no formal demur, did not attempt to conceal his belief that the allies had best turn their immediate attention to winning the war.

"While attributing great importance to the equitable use of all material resources and foodstuffs in the postwar period," said Maisky, "the soviet government believes that the most pressing task of today is a correct allocation of all economic resources and war supplies with a view to the early liberation of all the European peoples now oppressed by Hitlerite slavery."

Except for Maisky's formal disapproval later of what he termed "British control" of the proposed central bureau for the pooling and allocation of postwar resources, both resolutions were approved without a hitch. The Russian envoy reserved the right to propose changes at a later date, saying his government "considered it very important that the central bureau should have an interallied character on the basis of equal representation for all governments concerned."

Dutch Act Conditionally.

Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens, Dutch foreign minister, accepted the resource pooling resolution only on the understanding that it does not prevent The Netherlands from carrying out its own arrangements for the relief of Holland after the war.

British envoys included representatives from Canada, India, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. Also present were representatives of the exiled governments of Belgium, "Free France," Greece, The Netherlands, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Norway, Jugo-Slavia, and Luxemburg.

STABBED WHEN HE STOPS TO AID DRIVER IN FIGHT

Patrick Corbett, 44 years old, 4426 North Damen avenue, was knifed several times last night at the intersection of La Grange and Joliet roads when he stopped to aid another motorist who was being beaten by five Negroes during an altercation over a traffic misunderstanding. Corbett attempted to wrest a flashlight away from one Negro, who was using it as a weapon, and was stabbed in the face and abdomen by another. County highway policemen James Hogan and Robert Burns, on their way to a traffic accident, happened by as the fight was under way and arrested three of the Negroes, Oliver, Lemar, and Levesta Gavin, brothers, of 415 North Eastern avenue, Joliet. They are searching for the other two and for the man whom Corbett stopped to help.

Chanute Field Private Drowned in Illinois River

Havana, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP).—Private Arnold R. Akester, 24, of Washington, Ind., attached to the headquarters detachment of the 10th air base group, Chanute field, drowned in the Illinois river near here today when a boat in which he was riding overturned. Two companions, Sergt. Gilbert Lindberg and Private Jim Davison, also of Chanute field, saved themselves by clinging to the boat.

VETERAN CABINET MAKER DIES.

DISPLAY STORM WARNING ON ALL OF GREAT LAKES

Storm warnings were ordered displayed on all the Great Lakes last night as the result of the swift movement northeastward of the tropical hurricane which hammered Houston, Tex., and the gulf coast Tuesday night and early yesterday. The disturbance, which last night was moving across Arkansas, probably will cause winds as high as 35 to 40 miles an hour in Chicago today, but the brunt of the storm is expected to sweep around the city.

Heavy rain is expected here, however, and the temperature, which reached 86 degrees yesterday, will drop into the 50s and probably lower by tomorrow morning. Suburban areas may see the first frost of the season.

Dangerous gales over Lakes Erie and Ontario are forecast. Another storm, centered over Minnesota, is expected to cause high winds on Lake Superior early today and on Lakes Huron, Michigan, and St. Clair later in the day.

ROB OCCUPANTS OF PARKED CAR.

Two bandits early today held up William Ginsburg, 4300 Clarendon avenue, and Miss Violet Wandell, 2834 Cambridge avenue, in Ginsburg's parked car at Cambridge avenue and Surf street and took $208 and two watches.

REPORT AIR CHIEF REMOVED AFTER ARGENTINE PLOT

U. S. Loan Is Blocked in Row Over Revolt.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 24 (AP).—The head of the Argentine air force was reported relieved of his command tonight in the midst of a growing dispute between Acting President Ramon Castillo and the chamber of deputies over responsibility for a foiled uprising among army aviation officers, 20 of whom face court martial.

Gen. Angel Zuloaga. [(AP) Wirephoto.]

Unconfirmed reports said Gen. Angel M. Zuloaga, the air force commander, had been confined to his home, but the news agency Andi, in reporting his dismissal, said he had asked for it himself. Zuloaga was quoted as saying he felt he could no longer count on the support of army officials. Andi's informant said the general had not admitted complicity in any plot.

Spurn U. S. Loan in Spite.

President Castillo attributed the attempted uprising to Radical party members, nationalists "and others."

A short time later the radicals, dominant in the chamber of deputies, refused to approve a proposed $110,000,000 United States loan, recommended by the president, on the ground that its acceptance had been offered to the house too hastily. The conservative National Democrats, who are a minority in the chamber but a majority in the senate, promptly walked out of the chamber.

Joined in Anti-Nazi Drive.

Both radicals and conservatives recently joined in approving a congressional committee's recommendations that Nazi undercover groups be smashed in Argentina, a move tacitly expressing disapproval of the activities of German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann.

The president minimized the seriousness of the nipped uprising and said there was no intention to declare a state of siege altho troops guarded all military airports. He did not identify the "others" involved in the threat to the government, altho a congressional committee has charged Nazi elements were conspiring in Argentina.

Meanwhile, two United States bombers returning from the independence celebration in Chile landed at El Palomar airfield, near Buenos Aires, despite troop rule. All Argentine military planes were ordered grounded until Saturday.

NUMBERS RACKETEER WINS $20,000; GETS RIDE; SHOT TO DEATH

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—The body of a long time policy game collector who authorities said had tried to take over the territory left open by the extermination of Murder, Inc., was found in an automobile in Brooklyn today.

The dead man, with two bullet holes in the back of his head, was Abe Bebchick, alias Hugh Murphy, 38, arrested many times in the numbers game racket.

Assistant District Attorney Edward A. Heffernan said Bebchick won $20,000 in a dice game in east side Manhattan last night. When found, Bebchick had only a $10 and $20 bill and a 5 cent piece in his pockets.

A nine hour conflagration in the northwest section of the Standard Oil company's giant refinery at Whiting yesterday killed one man, injured more than a score of others, and destroyed more than 30 oil storage tanks and half a dozen buildings with a loss estimated at $100,000. Five of the injured were reported burned critically.

The fire started at 5:50 a. m. in the No. 1 treating plant of the 780 acre refinery with a terrific explosion that awakened thousands in Whiting and East Chicago. The flames, punctuated by blasts, spread swiftly thru a series of steel drums of 250 barrel capacity each.

Manhole Covers Spin Into Air.

Other containers and apparatus in the one acre fire area went up in rapid succession. Sewer separation boxes were next, and exploding gases and waste oil sent manhole covers spinning high into the air. The flames leaped to a pumphouse and from there to a field of oil storage tanks of from 1,000 to 2,500 barrel capacity each. About a dozen treatment plant agitators, 30 feet in height, were near the heart of the fire, but escaped damage.

Sheets of scarlet, orange, and yellow flames leaped more than 200 feet into the morning air, and the pillars of black smoke that rose from the plant were visible 40 miles east of the city.

Because the plant is engaged in the manufacture of airplane gasolines under a rearmament contract, agents of the federal bureau of investigation assembled at the scene from Chicago and Indianapolis. An official statement issued by the company late in the day said the cause of the fire was unknown.

As the first explosion sounded thru the area and the smoke pall rolled up, fire departments of Whiting, Hammond, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor, and other nearby communities started for the refinery. When they arrived, however, they found 300 trained oil fire fighters maintained by Standard Oil already in action.

Heat Twists Rails.

As the fire gained headway the heat could be felt for more than a quarter of a mile. All available police in the area held back the throng of thousands that gathered. As the storage tanks exploded, lengths of eight inch pipe and heavy steel covers were hurled out of the plant itself to fall upon the right of ways of several railroads that run parallel on either side. Several crack trains had to be rerouted into Chicago.

The greatest damage to the refinery, which is said to be the largest complete one in the world, occurred during the first two hours of the five that the fire raged out of control. It was 11 a. m. before the spread was checked.

Smoke pillars and flames were visible another two hours and not until after 3 p. m. did the company report that the fire was out.

The man who lost his life was John L. Yager, 49 years old, treating plant helper, 10151 Indianapolis boulevard, Whiting. The seriously burned, all of Whiting, were: John Johnson, 52, of 1814 Sheridan road; Joseph Piech, 27, of 2217 Indianapolis boulevard, a watchman; Joseph Owens, 35, of 1540 East 119th street, helper in the paraffin department; Daniel O'Keefe, 30, of 2016 Davidson place, a compounder, and Stephen T. Dvorscak, 29, of 1211 Euclid avenue, a coke weigher.

(Story in adjoining column.)

A TREE LOADED WITH PEARS HAS BLOSSOMS ALSO

A pear tree loaded with fruit also is bearing blossoms in W. E. Webbe's Mossley Hill orchard in Barrington. The tree, which is giving its unusual performance in an apple orchard, is 12 years old. This is the first time it has bloomed in the fall, according to Louis Reber, manager.

VOID INJUNCTION AGAINST PICKETS; NEW ONE ISSUED

A temporary injunction issued Sept. 12 by Judge George F. Rush, sharply limiting the picketing activities of striking members of the Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee [CIO] at three packing plants, was voided yesterday on technical grounds by the second division of the Illinois Appellate court. It was replaced a short time afterward by a slightly less drastic injunction issued by Judge Philip Finnegan.

The firms involved are the Illinois Packing company, the P. Brennan company, and the Agar Packing and Provision corporation, which have about 1,600 workers. The injunction of Judge Rush prohibited more than one picket at any plant gate and 117 citations for contempt were issued under it, all returnable Sept. 30. It was said the Appellate court decision, which held Judge Rush had erred in not entertaining immediately a request for a change of venue, would void these citations.

Judge Finnegan's injunction, obtained by Attorney David Silbert, prohibits violence and intimidation and permits only two pickets at each gate.

Blast Near Big Arsenal Kills 3 River Workmen

Watervliet, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP).—Three laborers died and another was injured today in a dynamite explosion on a dredging boat in the Hudson river opposite the Watervliet arsenal, which produces cannon for the army. Police theorized a carge of dynamite had jammed in a drill preparatory to setting off a blast in the river bottom.

Helen Morgan Improved; Faces Operation Today

Helen Morgan, the torch singer, will undergo an operation for a liver ailment today in Henrotin hospital. Miss Morgan, who has undergone four blood transfusions since she was taken to the hospital last week, was reported improved yesterday.

PALATINE VOTES SATURDAY UPON SCHOOL MERGER

Residents of Palatine township will vote Saturday on whether the township's nine grade school districts should be consolidated, the first time in Illinois that such a question has been put to a popular vote. The merger is backed by the township's two parent-teacher associations, two of the nine school boards and, it is said, a majority of the residents. If the vote is for consolidation, it may reverse a long standing opposition to such mergers thruout the state, in the opinion of John A. Wieland, state superintendent of public instruction. Those favoring the move say that it would mean better equipment, hot lunches, adoption of the rental system for textbooks, and free transportation for all students.

That home your family loves so dearly!

PROTECT IT AGAINST LOSS

with a WESTERN and SOUTHERN COMMERCIAL WHOLE LIFE POLICY

If you are among the millions owning mortgaged homes, you have worried about the possibility of your being taken away before the debt is paid. Would your family, without your earnings, be able to meet the obligation?

The holder of your mortgage will insist that it be fully protected by fire insurance. Should you be less concerned about protecting your home with life insurance? A Western and Southern Commercial Whole Life Policy to cover the debt can dispel this cloud that so often threatens home ownership. It will guarantee that your family will continue to enjoy the blessings of the home you have provided for them.

The cost of this protection is negligible in comparison with the security and peace of mind provided. The sooner you act, the lower the cost will be. Why not call the Western and Southern man today.

FIVE CENTS A DAY

Men naturally ask—"What does this protection cost? And how do we come out in case I live?"

Suppose you are age 35 and your home has a $5000 mortgage which you are reducing at approximately $250 a year. At this rate, the mortgage will be repaid in 20 years.

The annual premium on a $5000 Commercial Whole Life Policy, at age 35, is $100.08. If you live and continue these payments for 16½ years, you will have paid out $1,650.83. But your policy, at the end of 16½ years, will have a cash value of $1,230, leaving a net cost of only $420.83 over the 16½ year period.

NOW GET THIS: If your mortgage is one of the FHA types with 4½% interest, you will still owe, at the end of 16½ years, $1,224. But this is less than the cash value of your policy by $6.00. Your home will then be debt-free three and one-half years earlier than planned and the cost of your insurance for the entire period will be reduced further by the elimination of three and one-half years' interest on the mortgage, amounting to $113.00. This will reduce your net cost for the entire period to 5 cents a day!

Mr. D. F. McMahon,
Manager, Retail Advertising
Chicago Tribune,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. McMahon:

When I started to make and sell my own candy, years ago, in a store on State Street near Lake, I little dreamed that someday I would have sixteen shops in the Chicago area, and be advertising almost daily in the Tribune.

Looking at the calendar reminds me that October fifth marks the fifth consecutive year of those daily week-day Tribune ads.

Prior to October 5th, 1936, I advertised only from time to time on special occasions. Then I planned a series in the Tribune, a long series to tell Chicagoans (and the world) about my business, its cleanly ways, its appetizing, delicious candies, its famous tastes.

I have been consistent in that advertising, using the Tribune practically exclusively since 1934. The response keeps getting better and better. It has helped in leveling off the summer slack. My slogan is, "I can't make all the candy in the world so I just make the best of it", and with your help it is making thousands and thousands of new friends for me out of town, as well as in Chicago.

Sincerely,
Mrs Ora Snyder
MRS. SNYDER'S HOME MADE CANDIES.

THE accompanying letter adds a new chapter to a success story well known in the annals of American women in business.

How Mrs. Snyder expanded a candy counter in the back of a peanut shop at 133 North State street into a thriving chain of sixteen shops thruout the Chicago area provides a case history which no merchant determined to get ahead can afford to overlook.

Mrs. Snyder's first advertising appeared in Chicago newspapers in 1921. She advertised only from time to time on special occasions.

In 1934 she began to concentrate her newspaper advertising exclusively in the Tribune. Encouraged by the results, she decided in October, 1936, to lay out a consistent campaign of advertising.

Of the 1,548 daily issues of the Chicago Tribune which went to press between Oct. 5, 1936, and Sept. 12, 1941, Mrs. Snyder had an advertisment in 1,473 daily issues—or 95% of them.

The experience of Mrs. Snyder, the experience of other aggressive retailers who, day in and day out, solicit the patronage of the huge Tribune audience, provide overwhelming proof of one major fact: No matter how much you are selling, you can sell more and do so with economy by addressing a consistent schedule of advertising to Tribune readers.

When you can have more, why take less? Ask a Tribune representative to help you plan a program built around the Tribune which can help you get a greater share of the expanded volume now available in Chicago.

'ST. LOUIS' KELLY JUST CAN'T HELP BEING UNION BOSS

His Valiant Retirement Is All in Vain.

J. Livert [St. Louis] Kelly, colored, who contends that his extensive police record is only a form of persecution, demonstrated to police and state's attorney's investigators yesterday that he still has local 444 of the Bartenders, Waiters, Waitresses, and Cooks' union [AFL] under well nigh perfect control.

Kelly for some years has been president and boss of the union, which has about 490 members, all colored. Six weeks ago he was informed by Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan and Sergt. George Barnes of the detective bureau labor detail that he was thru as a labor leader and would be arrested any time he was seen by a policeman.

He Announces a Test.

On Tuesday he announced he was going to make a test. He invited Sergt. Barnes and the state's attorney's police to be present at a union meeting in the hall at 366 East 47th street.

"I am going to resign," he said. "Can I help it if I am reelected?"

The meeting was held yesterday afternoon. Sergt. Barnes arrived early and was greeted effusively by Kelly.

"I'll just keep you in technical custody during the election," said the sergeant.

Kelly then tendered his written resignation to Wendell Jones, chairman of the union's executive committee. It was a warm document, referring to 444 as "my baby."

Kelly Is Only Candidate.

Jones and the other officers proved thoro Kellyites. No one was nominated to run against Kelly. The 200 present voted by acclamation to keep him as president. Jones suggested it.

Sergt. Barnes then permitted Kelly to enter the hall, where he was kissed by the women members present and back slapped by the men.

The Kelly record shows that he was fined on gambling charges in 1923 and 1924. In 1926 his bonds were forfeited after he was arrested as an inmate of a disorderly resort. In January, 1929, he was found guilty of carrying a pistol and was put on probation for a year. Last March he was arrested for assault, but was dismissed for want of prosecution.

The Bartenders' International union has announced that an investigation of Kelly's régime is being made. Sergt. Barnes indicated that his future course would depend partly on what the international does.

2 CEMETERY LOT SALESMEN FOUND GUILTY OF FRAUD

Ralph B. Moohr and Michael L. Michaels, New York cemetery lot salesmen, were found guilty of using the mails to defraud yesterday by Judge William H. Holly in federal District court. Richard L. Vidaver, also of New York, was found not guilty.

Judge Holly will impose sentence on Moohr and Michaels Friday at the same time he sentences 14 other defendants in the same indictment who pleaded guilty. They are accused of defrauding midwest investors of $300,000 in a scheme to sell cemetery lots.

Moohr, Michaels, and Vidaver contended that they were mere salesmen in the scheme and that they had no knowledge of the fraud.

GOUDIE DENIES HIS TEAMSTERS USED VIOLENCE

But One of Them Tells of Slugging.

Charges made Tuesday that goons were being used in the campaign of teamsters' union locals to organize the warehouse workers of the National Tea company were assailed yesterday by Leslie G. Goudie, president of the Teamsters' Joint council.

Paul Busch, 39 years old, a member of local 705, backed the charges. He said that he had been suspended by his union and fired from his job because he protested the slugging of members of an independent union by representatives of local 728, which is in charge of the National Tea organization work.

Thirteen Warrants Issued.

As a result of the trouble 13 warrants were issued against the alleged sluggers, two of whom are officers of local 728.

"Any charge that teamster pickets are using violence is false," Goudie asserted. "We are using proper organization methods. The criticism comes from CIO minded people agitating against us."

He explained that until recently the warehouse workers had been operating under federal AFL charters [without an international organization over them].

"The setup was unsatisfactory for the workers," Goudie said, "and the AFL gave our union, the International Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers, the jurisdiction. Our picketing has been peaceful, altho the CIO people masking as independents are trying to stop our organizing. An NLRB election is to be held soon and if we are beaten we'll step out.

Recognized as Agent.

"The teamsters have been recognized as the bargaining agent for AFL members, and some new contracts with pay raises have been signed. We want a full organization of warehousemen so we can stabilize wages.

"Busch's case has been brought to my attention. He was suspended not for the reason he gave, but because he agitated to keep others from joining. He will have to stand trial, as ordered by his local, on Oct. 6. After that he can appeal, if he thinks justice has not been done."

David Kahn, president, and Michael Formusa, trustee of local 728, were the two officials named in warrants. They surrendered yesterday and denied any violence. They are to be heard in the court of Judge Joseph Hermes today. The other warrants were for men designated only as John Does.

BROWNE SURRENDERS STAGE UNION'S BOOKS TO U. S. GRAND JURY

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—George E. Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage employés and a member of the executive committee of the AFL, turned over books and records of his union to a federal grand jury today—under protest on the ground that such procedure violated his constitutional rights.

The grand jury is investigating alleged violations of the federal anti-racketeering act within the motion picture industry. The documents in question were said to contain records of the collection and disbursement of an estimated $6,500,000 taken in annually by means of a two per cent assessment levied on the salaries of 125,000 union members.

GOV. HEIL MAKES IT CLEAR—HE DOES NOT DESIRE WAR

Charges Legion Bowed to F. D. R.'s Orders.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 24.—Gov. Julius P. Heil, Republican, who has confused many of his supporters by his open support of Roosevelt's war policy, today declared himself definitely opposed to war.

He charged that pro-war resolutions adopted at the American Legion convention here last week were not the will of the Legion, but were enacted under direction of President Roosevelt.

For the first time since the governor traveled thru Wisconsin with Wendell Willkie in the 1940 election campaign, he referred ironically to Roosevelt as "the Great White Father." In a speech before the junior chamber of commerce at the City club this afternoon, he was the Julius Heil of his first administration. He reversed his stand that the course was charted and patriotism demanded unquestioned support of the President's policy.

Favors Strong Defense.

"People say to me, 'Why don't you come out for or against war?'" the governor launched into his speech. "Well, I am against war, and I favor a strong national defense. I like to see other countries fight their own battles.

"Propaganda is a bad influence. You saw a lot of controled propaganda here last week. You saw the steam roller.

"That wasn't the will of the American Legion," Heil continued, after a reference to the resolutions adopted in the last day of the session in all out endorsement of the President's foreign policy, aid to Russia, and the removal of geographical limitations to the use of American soldiers.

"The Great White Father had all his people here at the convention. There were plenty of pay rollers here and they were in full control."

The governor's speech indicated he had smarted under some of the criticism directed at his former support of the President.

"People say, 'Why don't you raise hell with the President since you are a Republican governor,'" he continued. "Well, how can you raise hell with a good customer?

"I am thinking of my farmers. They have cows that produce a lot of milk and cheese made from that milk. That cheese has to be sold. As governor I want to find a market for it. There are still 50,000,000 pounds of cheese in this state.

"I am glad they can't send over their little cheeses from over there any more and that now we're making it and selling it."

POCAHONTAS COAL—Hand fired, Simplifies Your Heating Problems

Pocahontas Coal combines in balanced proportion all the chemical elements necessary for complete combustion and maximum utilization of high heating units. This chemical composition distinguishes Pocahontas Coal from average coal and establishes it as a most efficient and economical fuel for hand firing.

Its low volatile and high carbon give it lasting and slow-burning qualities which produce steady and plentiful heat during the day, and readily carries the fire on bank during the night. In the morning it is easy to have the amount of heat quickly, which mild or severe weather may require.

For most efficient results for all heating units, it is recommended that the Conical Method be used in firing round boilers and the Ridge Method in rectangular boilers.

For further information in regard to the proper method of firing Pocahontas Coal (which service is free) call or write:

BUSIER THAN EVER ON NEW FRONTIERS

This week, in Chicago, a group of several hundred men and women from all parts of the country will meet in General Assembly — the Twentieth Meeting of THE TELEPHONE PIONEERS OF AMERICA.

Who are Telephone Pioneers? . . . They are veterans among Bell Telephone people and have served twenty-one years or more in telephone work.

The years since Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone in 1876 have seen many changes and vast improvement in the art of sending the human voice over wires. The work of these Pioneers has helped to carry forward the ideals and traditions of the telephone industry.

THE experience and knowledge of the 53,000 Pioneers, whose representatives are meeting here, have special significance and importance for the people of Illinois and America today. . . . The great production programs of national defense require greatly extended telephone service. Trained workers are needed now to meet the demand for larger facilities, and to handle the enormous increase in number of calls.

And great numbers of trained workers are ready. . . . Here in the Illinois Bell Company, more than 30% of all the men have been in telephone work more than twenty years. More than 75% have served more than ten years. The average length of service for all our 30,000 men and women is more than eleven years.

Telephone people know that their work is vital to the economic and social well-being of all people. . . . They will do their best to continue constant progress.

Save Our Republic

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The Destiny of America.

It is not my purpose to review our discussions with foreign states because, whatever might be their wishes or dispositions, the integrity of our government mainly depend, not upon them, but on the loyality, virtue, patriotism, and intelligence of the American people.

Abraham Lincoln.

THE LITTLE MAN AND HIS UNION BOSS.

George E. Browne, international president of the Stagehands' union and vice president of the American Federation of Labor, has been ordered to appear before a federal grand jury in New York with the books of his union. The grand jury is trying to find out what became of an estimated $6,000,000 gathered by a 2 per cent private income tax on the 125,000 union members. The members themselves don't know.

A few days ago the Laborers' union, another bright star in the crown of the AFL, concluded its convention in St. Louis. The convention was the first held in 30 years. The heirs of Mike Carrozzo who conducted it ratified themselves in the offices which they had been holding, in some instances, for decades. Only one of the group was ever elected by the membership. The convention steamroller pushed thru a measure providing for a referendum five years hence to determine whether another international convention will be held. The present officers will run the referendum.

The members of this union are little men, humble and often unlettered. They are a natural pushover for gangsters. The stagehands and motion picture operators are a different type. They earn good pay and are as well informed as any average group of citizens. Yet they have had no more success than have the hodcarriers and laborers in preventing the exploitation of their union by gangsters and the collection of vast funds of which they get no accounting.

There are also a number of unions in which the membership has retained effective control of the organization. The printers, who have had more success with the referendum than any political government, are one. The Ladies' Garment Workers' union is another. Both of these unions have admirable systems for accounting to members on the disposition of their dues payments.

There are other democratic unions, but far too many are despotisms run by one man or by one little group of men. From the standpoint of political theory the defect in these unions is that they have made no separation of the executive and legislative powers in their organizations.

An AFL convention is largely a gathering of the international officers of the unions that comprise the federation. A CIO convention is not much different. The conventions of the international unions, in turn, are gatherings of the men who boss the larger locals in the organization. These conventions are the legislative assemblies of the various organizations.

The common member of one of these czaristic unions is caught in the switches if he protests. If he appeals to the international officers or the convention against the misconduct of his local union, he is merely appealing to his oppressors. If he starts at the bottom and seeks to gain control of the local union and its convention delegation, he runs the risk of losing his livelihood thru expulsion from the union. If he complains to the AFL, he gets a few pious words about autonomy.

He has no right of appeal against his officers under the labor act, which only guarantees his rights against his employer. His only chance is that public authorities will step in and prosecute the erring officers for misuse of funds, and since the officers themselves can make the rules under which those funds are handled, such prosecutions usually have two strikes against them to start with.

This picture of what happens to the little man when the legislative and the executive authority fall into the same hands has applications wider than those in the trade union field.

IT'S MR. MAISKY SPEAKING.

Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, presided at a meeting of the interallied council representing refugee governments of the occupied European countries, the Free French, Britain, and Russia. The council adhered to the Roosevelt-Churchill sea-born charter of freedoms —"all over the world."

Ivan Maisky, the Russian ambassador in London, announced Russia's agreement with "the fundamental principles" of the charter and said: "The soviet union defends the right of every nation to independence and territorial integrity of its country, and its right to establish such social order and choose such form of government as seems opportune and necessary for the better promotion of its economic and cultural prosperity."

This will be read with interest, particularly in Finland, the Baltic states, and Poland, into which Joe Stalin, Maisky's boss, moved with his Red armies as soon as Hitler gave him a chance to stab them in the back. The pledges of the soviet government, from the seizure of power in 1917 to the present, have had one dependable character. They were intentionally undependable. It was and is a communist doctrine that bad faith is an instrument of policy. The Russian thesis holds it dishonorable to deal honorably in international affairs.

The Russian armies are the only armies now fighting Hitler and his associates in Europe. The British haven't taken any pressure off by throwing an expeditionary force across the water. Winston Churchill said of the other war that America's participation in it had not been sufficient to justify the importance Mr. Wilson wanted to assume in saying what the terms of peace should be. The United States put two million men on the continent and was preparing other millions to join them. If Russia should succeed in defeating Hitler, what would Mr. Stalin say to Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt when they undertook to enter a peace conference and dictate terms as if they belonged there?

The Russian peace Stalin would give Europe would be what he gave the Baltic states, Poland, and the part of Finland he tore from it.

MR. ROOSEVELT VERSUS MR. ROOSEVELT.

"I give to you my deep and unalterable conviction, based on years of experience as a worker in the field of international peace, that by the repeal of the embargo [in the neutrality act of 1935] the United States will more probably remain at peace than if the law remains as it stands today. I say this because with the repeal of the embargo this government clearly and definitely will insist that all American citizens and American ships keep away from the immediate perils of the actual zones of conflict."

That was Mr. Roosevelt talking to congress in September, 1939, when he wanted the present neutrality law passed. He is fond of saying that he foresees the coming of things. When other people viewed the future thru a glass darkly he was proud to have a clear vision not only of what the next month or the next year but the next decade would bring.

Did the man with the prophetic vision foresee in September, 1939, that in September, 1941, he would be asking congress to permit American ships to mount guns to fight off raiders while carrying war supplies, produced by American money, into the war zones from which American ships and American citizens were to be kept from sailing?

The idea Mr. Roosevelt conveyed to the reporters the other day when he discussed the subject was that he would get the guns on the ships by repealing the present neutrality act in toto. It is his own law.

We'll not say that Mr. Roosevelt is not a good prophet. Many people thought in September of 1939 that when he was substituting one neutrality act for another he wasn't endeavoring to keep the peace but was headed into the war. Among these prophets may have been Mr. Roosevelt himself, altho then, as at other times, he refrained from proving how good he is at peering into the future as the future concerns himself.

Mr. Roosevelt's defenders explain the gulf between his words and his acts by saying that conditions change so rapidly that he must change with them. If he is to join in this excuse he must deny what he constantly asserts—that he alone knows what is going to happen and is always preparing to meet it. It would seem now that the neutrality act, the repeal of which is to be asked, was something foisted on the White House against the better judgment of its occupant. The facts reveal the contrary.

Mr. Roosevelt asked for the act. He said that one of its objectives was to require the foreign buyer to take transfer of title in this country for supplies of belligerent goods. He said that another objective "is the preventing of war credits to belligerents."

It is worth while recalling again that when Mr. Roosevelt was a candidate for the second term he made a speech in Chautauqua in which he said that he saw war coming and that there would be a clamor raised here for the opportunity to garner fool's gold in selling war material. That clamor would have to be met by a united front of the peaceable American people. He also said that the peace of the American people would depend upon the men who at the time occupied the offices of chief executive and secretary of state.

If those men day by day avoided the little incidents which might otherwise form a chain of events leading to war, then the country could keep out of war. When Mr. Roosevelt was a candidate for the third term, without then saying so, and when he was asking for the enactment of the present neutrality act, he told congress that we should not surrender the privilege of making war material, because that would create a business boom and "give employment to thousands." So what had been fool's gold at Chautauqua became sound national economic policy later. Mr. Roosevelt did not ask for this present and now obnoxious neutrality law without proclaiming himself a seer. "I should like to be able to offer the hope that the shadow over the world might swiftly pass. I cannot. The facts compel my stating with candor that darker periods may lie ahead. The disaster is not of our making; no act of ours engendered the forces which assault the foundations of civilization. . . . Fate seems now to compel us to assume the task of helping to maintain in the western world a citadel wherein civilization may be kept alive. The peace, the security, and the safety of the Americas—these must be kept firm and serene."

That reads like a statement by a noninterventionist. But Mr. Roosevelt then was after a third term and he was for guarding civilization here in the citadel of our own peace. Now he is for hunting a war in Asia, Africa, and Europe, and American warships and American armed merchantmen are to dash into the thick of battle, delivering the merchandise of war, not paid for —as he said in '39 it must be—by the belligerents, but by us. Mr. Roosevelt may be able to see himself in the future but he certainly wouldn't care to look at himself in the past.

Editorial of the Day

REBUILDING U. S. 66.

[Illinois State Journal.]

Gov. Green's inspection tour of Illinois has convinced him that at least three major highways in the state need rebuilding, United States route 66 between St. Louis and Chicago, route 330, the old Lincoln trail between Geneva and Sterling, and route 50 from Olney to St. Louis by way of Centralia.

The governor called 66 "the most important highway in the state, as it links Chicago and St. Louis, the two biggest cities in the midwest, and also is important in national defense."

Nobody who has ever traveled on U. S. 66 will disagree with the governor's proposal. The time is past due when this route should have been modernized. All that has been needed is the green signal to start the project, and Gov. Green has given it.

It's unfortunate, however, that the governor's tour took in only state projects and neglected those vital municipal undertakings thruout the state, Illinois' airports. In a three day trip the governor could easily cover the state by airplane, and we are confident that after such a trip he could take up the cudgels for airport improvements, a program that should be close to the interests of a man who was a World war pilot.

MIDWAY SPIRIT.

The beginnings of the University of Chicago were entangled with the World's Fair of 1893, by coincidence and juxtaposition. The first classes assembled in the fall of 1892, when construction work on the fair's buildings and the historic Midway was well advanced, and until the exposition closed the higher education of Dr. Harper's austere ideals and Little Egypt of the adjoining side shows were almost in each other's laps.

Hence the university's oldest student song, "1893" [air, "Wearin' o' the Green"], in which the following footnote to academic life may be found:

O, there were more profs than students,
But then we didn't care;
They spent their days in research work,
Their evenings at the Fair;
And life upon the campus
Was one continual swing;
We watched the Ferris wheel go 'round
And we didn't do a thing.

This is why the comic relief to the festival of the university's 50th anniversary will be a "Midway Carnival," scheduled for performances in and around the fieldhouse tomorrow and Saturday nights. A large amount of whoopee-making concessions and devices, all in period style, will be available to alumni, visiting scholars, and that portion of Hyde Park which always turns out when the school goes collegiate. In prospectus it sounds like a good show, altho it hasn't gone to the length of drafting Gypsy Rose Lee as a substitute for Little Egypt.

The existence of the Midway before the university and the fair of 1893 is shrouded in mystery for most Chicagoans. Let's clear it up, briefly: It was then, as now, the Midway Plaisance and a link in the south parks system. Its improvement did not begin until 1872 or later. Records of 1884 show that it had a roadway 1.10 miles in length. This stretch of drive ran between dense plantations of saplings, which were being nursed for the landscaping of Jackson and Washington parks.

AUTUMNAL EQUINOX.

These thoughts abide as summer's farewell day
Serenely leaves the present for the past:
Our moments, altho golden, do not last,
But Time from which they spring endures alway.
The songs we sing, the hurried words we say
Quickly are stilled, but mind and music cast
Their all-embracing power into vast Realities that do not fade, but stay.

Henceforth I shall not weep at summer's death.
Instead, I'll watch sweet autumn's spicy breath
Awakening the leaves to don their best
And gayest gowns before they sink to rest.
The peaceful passing of these quiet hours
Brings understanding and eternal flowers.

When Better Jokes Are Made—

Dear Linemaster: I suppose you have been wondering why I have not sent you any of my High Grade Form Fitting jokes in recent months. Well, here's what happened: My joke-making machine broke down and I've had the devil's own time. I should have written about this, but thought you had enough of my jokes on hand to last while I was fixing my machine. But, I suppose, they laid around so long they spoiled. Nothing spoils quicker than a joke left in the open where everybody can handle it and the flies can get at it.

I took the machine apart and found a compound fracture of the left loco citato, a ruptured pluribus, and an inflamed fishplate. One of the buttons on the magna carta was also loose. The fracture was the most damaging; it caused a fissure thru which my secret joke mixture leaked, resulting in jokes that came out hollow-eyed and lacking that blush of spring for which I am famous.

Then I ran into priority troubles. The defense board held that my product was not vital, which I thought was extremely poor judgment, for there is nothing that will make our men march into the cannon's mouth quicker or bring the panther out faster in our people than my High Grade Form Fitting jokes. I finally convinced Knudsen, got my parts, and soon had my machine in running order again.

I built up a fresh head of steam in the boiler, only to have more difficulty, this time in getting ingredients for my secret joke mixture. I had to go to Washington and show Knudsen samples of jokes with and without my secret joke mixture. He quickly saw the difference, OK'd my request, and ordered a box of my jokes made from my secret joke mixture to have in his desk when British buyers came in.

So I'm glad to report I am ready again to turn out a steady stream of my High Grade Form Fitting two-pants jokes, made from my secret joke mixture, which has been in our family 1,000 years and which was first compounded in the Eremite monastery, now in ruins, on the Kankakee river near North Judson, Ind. Jake Irmiter.

NEWS . . . AND VIEWS.

The foreign correspondents say
The customary things today,
Of intrigue, plots and politics,
And how the air raids start at six.

The short wave radio reports
New bombings of the channel ports;
But should such dreary news upset
We tune it out and just forget. . . .

Six bombers came at dusk last night,
Their motors beat a maddening tune;
And as they dived in fearful flight

The Benefits of Travel: Exhibit A.

Thirty years ago an eager youth visited Chicago and it was my duty to show him everything. I did. This summer I met that man for the first time since. Well, what was his most vivid recollection of that hectic week? A sign in an elevated coach. It was advertising the newly opened stockyards branch and read:

"See the stockyards—only 5 cents."

THE MEANING OF A CHILL.

An old malady—common among the pioneers of a few generations ago—was called "ague" or "chills and fever." The symptoms pointed to an infection, with the blood stream loaded with noxious germs. The physician who received the urgent message, "Squire Brown has been seized with a rigor," knew that the ailment could be anything from influenza to pneumonia or swamp fever [malaria]. If the "shakes" came on regularly—with reasonable comfort in the intervals—more often than not the remedy was quinine.

Now nature never does anything foolishly. There is a reason always. Any illness that announces itself with a fit of shivering means that the body is overwhelmed so profoundly that the trembling impulses, which the nerves send to the muscles, cannot be controled.

Is there a premonition? There may be a mild awareness of distress and occasionally a victim will remark that he "feels terrible" just before the explosion. The duration of the episode may indicate the power of the microbes battling against the resistance of the individual. If it persists for an hour, we may infer that the seizure is severe.

Regardless of the scientific explanation—which is suggested by G. A. Perera as some disturbance within the brain—we may look upon the condition as a warning that we have a more serious situation to contend with than when the onset is gradual and slow.

An incident of this sort following childbirth is anything but a welcome sign, and a search is made at once for the source of trouble. Ofttimes the bladder will be inflamed. Pus in the urinary pouch may give rise to so much absorption that the central nervous system will be upset. As a rule, there is a quick rise in temperature, even tho the patient is still in the throes of the attack. Movements of the jaws may be so intense that conversation is impossible, and jerking may be so pronounced that the ordinary procedures cannot be carried out.

Altho the "starter" must be determined, nevertheless restoring circulation to the skin is our best first aid. Without delay we pile on blankets, pack hot water bottles about the patient, and administer warm drinks. If perspiration can be brought on rather speedily, discomfort will abate and the sufferer may fall into a peaceful sleep.

Apart from the toxemia [poisoning] which is essentially responsible, there is considerable internal congestion. This explains why we desire to fill the epidermis with blood as promptly as possible. There may be a peculiar type of pallor which must be combated and not infrequently a fair amount of cyanosis [blueness] with the appearance of goose pimples will be observed. These phenomena will subside as soon as the capillaries within the cuticle can be dilated, with ensuing stimulation of the sweat glands.

Only one drug seems to be of much value—namely, aminopyrine. In fact, this has been found to be helpful in warding off the difficulty. For example, if one is taking typhoid vaccine, the prescription of a few doses of this compound may aid the victim to tolerate the treatments with greater equanimity.

We must look upon the symptom as significant. Get the patient to bed and supply warmth. This can be done before the doctor arrives and starts his hunt for the cause. The interior of the body is warm enough. What we need to do is transfer some of the inner fires to the exterior. Then when perspiration comes on, generous quantities of fluid may be taken in order to help eliminate the toxin which is to blame.

IT MAY.

A WIDOW TELLS KNUDSEN.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—It is darned easy for a man with more money than he knows what to do with, to whom "billions of dollars don't mean much to me" and "tell the average man that if it will help the defense program, Bill Knudsen will be happy to work around in his shorts," to spout off about "longer hours of work and personal sacrifices" for the small, average fellow.

When, however, the average fellow is likely to be a widow supporting a small daughter, able only to afford a basement apartment, with no luxuries under even normal conditions, and unalterably opposed to: [1] Getting behind a President who has made a false war emergency to cover up his shortcomings in office; [2] "shoot on sight" foreign ships far outside our western hemisphere; [3] an AEF to foreign shores in violation of pledges made to our people; [4] coöperation with communism either at home or abroad since it means the negation of all that is decent in life; . . . it is not likely that she will believe in the false "cause" which is causing her to go around in shorts and her daughter to go without butter, milk, and other vital foods. The sooner people wake up and realize that the "defense program" [which I should heartily believe in were it truly for defense] is an offense program, the better off the average man will be. G. W. P.

SUBMIT IT TO CONGRESS.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 19.—Before America is taken into a lawless and unconstitutional war, it would be wise to submit the question of war to the congress in conformity with principles of war.

If America is illegally involved in a conflict abroad and we do not remain permanently under a New Deal dictatorship, the people will have a duty—to demand that those individuals who have brought war to America by unconstitutional methods shall face arrest and trial for the crime they have committed. O. B.

EAGER TO GET IN.

Wadsworth, Ill., Sept. 23.—Why the procrastination? We have the army and a navy. Hell's a-poppin' in Europe. The earthly embodiment of the devil himself, Adolph Hitler, dances there amid the dying embers of what was once civilization. We must drag out this devil and snuff out this fire. Hell and the devil are rampant on this globe. We know where to find it. Woe betide us if we do not perform our duty to man and his God. N. B. W.

COST OF A CUP OF COFFEE.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—In your paper last Friday a Mr. Frank W. Smith of Evanston cited an incident which he called "profiteering," because some restaurant raised prices on coffee and milk.

In the first place, a restaurant that raises its price on coffee from 5 to 7 cents, or even 10 cents a cup, is more than justified. The cost of coffee has advanced approximately 10 cents a pound. Now I just want to list a few of the items that concern a cup of coffee served in a restaurant, each of which has its share of price raising: First, coffee, sugar, cream, chinaware tables and chairs, silverware, dishwashing machines and compounds, laundry, napkins, equipment for brewing coffee, and labor.

Now just stop and think how many cups of coffee must be sold to pay for one cup and saucer when broken? The replacement is about 75 per cent a year.

I hope this clears up a thought in the mind of a much respected and appreciated restaurant customer. S. E. LAMM.

KEEP THE BODY YOUNG!

Chicago, Sept. 23.—I wonder why so many middle aged women [and men, too, for that matter] pay so little attention to keeping their bodies young. Women will flock to beauty parlors to get their hair set or dyed, their eyebrows plucked, and their nails manicured, and do absolutely nothing to improve their figure! Don't they realize that all the hair setting and face fixing in the world will not make them appear younger when they have sloppy figures and waddle or shuffle when they walk?

Why don't they go thru the proper daily dozen every morning, rejuvenate their figure and acquire poise? This only requires about 15 minutes' time and is well worth the trouble; for a lithe, youthful figure and walk give one the semblance of youth as nothing else will.

Not only that, but physical culture exercises have an effect even on one's face, as they give a person pep and enthusiasm and make for good health. RENE MARSAIS.

COTTON BLOOMS IN CITY.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—You don't have to go out to Matteson—south of Chicago—to see cotton in bloom. Cotton plants are beautiful at the northwest corner of 71st street and Stony Island avenue, right in Chicago, planted by a busy man in a small service station. D. C. S.

PEASANTS IN THE WARS.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—I've been reading a book of short stories written by Guy de Maupassant. It tells of an elderly lady whose son was then at war while she housed and fed four young men from the enemy side. I quote:

"She loved them well, her four enemies, since the peasantry feels no patriotic hatred; that belongs to the upper class alone. The humble, those who pay the most, because they are poor, and because every new burden crushes them down; those who are killed in masses, who make the true cannon's-meat, because they are so many; those, in fine, who suffer most cruelly the atrocious miseries of war, because they are the feeblest, and offer least resistance—they hardly understand at all those bellicose ardors, that excitable sense of honor, or those pretended political combinations which in six months exhaust two nations, the conqueror and the conquered." N. K. B.

A CURE FOR SPEEDING.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—Could such a plan as the following be carried out, if legal? An item in the Scientific American says:

"In Jugo-Slavia, and some other European countries, when policemen capture a speeder there are no accusing words or bickering over a ticket. Officers simply let the air out of all tires, tip their hats, and go on their way. The driver's session with a tire pump which follows is a lesson that he doesn't forget in a hurry."

I can picture some American speeder on a real hot or cold day—some distance from a service station—having to pump up his tires. What do you think about the plan? ANDREA BLUM.

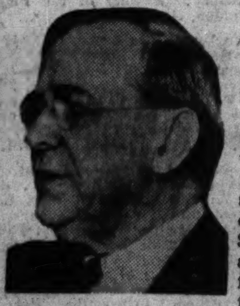
SON IS WITNESS IN IMPEACHMENT TRIAL OF FATHER

Says He Handled Pardon Involving Defendant.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 24 (AP).—Daniel H. Coakley Jr., testifying at the impeachment trial of his father, state executive councilor, insisted under cross-examination today that he [the son] had earned a $1,000 fee as an attorney for his efforts in obtaining a pardon for Frank Potter, convicted slayer.



Daniel H. Coakley Sr.

The Potter pardon was granted in 1938. It served as the basis for two of the 14 charges of misconduct and maladministration against the elder Coakley. The charges included an accusation that Coakley Sr. aided criminals for financial gain for himself or members of his family. His trial is being held before the Massachusetts state senate.

Describes Rôle in Case.

Young Coakley, in his own words a "struggling" lawyer and a member of the bar for little more than two years when Potter was freed, said he had dug out the facts of the case and presented them personally to James M. Curley, then governor, after being introduced to Walter Potter, the convict's father, by former state Representative Francis Ryan [D., Somerville].

The councillor's son testified that the fee, which he said he spent within a week, had been volunteered, and that he regarded it as no different from those charged for other legal services.

Young Coakley said he had not informed his father of his activity in the case until long after the pardon was granted because he knew the petition was "meritorious" and knew, too, that "my dad" never had voted against a pardon in his years in the council.

"Your father's big heart would take care of that?" inquired Attorney General Robert T. Bushnell.

"Yes, sir," the son replied.

Tells of Hidden Funds.

The Senior Coakley has told the state senate that he hid away $800,000, all his assets, in a secret cache two decades ago and that this hoard was the source of hugh cash deposits to his accounts in Boston banks during his years as a $1,000 a year councillor.

The hoard explained, too, Coakley Sr. testified, how he was able to maintain a town house in Boston, a summer estate at Buzzards Bay, a $10 a day suite of offices in a hotel, and a secretarial staff, altho "I had no trade and I was out of the law business."

But his version of the source of the deposits, averaging between $20,000 and $30,000 annually and amounting to approximately $144,000 for the five year period, 1935-'40, drew a challenge.

Previous Story Introduced.

Attorney General Bushnell introduced a transcript of sworn testimony credited to the councillor in 1933, when he appeared before the state supreme court with an unsuccessful plea for readmission to the Bay state's bar. That testimony quoted him as saying he had lost his money in the collapse of the Florida land boom and that he had been living then for two years on borrowed funds.

"Stenographic errors," said the elder Coakley when cross-examined on the discrepancy.

SAWICKI HEARS DEATH PLEA AND BETS 2 TO 1 ON IT

Slayer Brings a Razor Into Courtroom.

Bernard Sawicki, who confessed killing four men during a week-end last June, continued his surprises yesterday at his trial for the murder of Park Policeman Charles Speaker.

The 19 year old killer, a parolee from the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles, heard Assistant State's Attorney Richard Devine tell the jurors he would ask the death penalty. Turning then to his own attorney, Morton Anderson of the public defender's office, Sawicki said in a voice heard thruout the courtroom:

Deprived of Razor Blade.

The trial was interrupted at one point when word was brought to Judge John Sbarbaro, who is hearing the case in Criminal court, that Sawicki was carrying a razor blade in his pocket. The prisoner was taken outside and asked for the blade, which he handed to Walter Moffett, Judge Sbarbaro's personal bailiff.

It was a jagged safety razor blade. Sawicki insisted that he was carrying it to manicure his nails, but refused to tell where he had obtained it.

The jury of seven women and five men was completed yesterday, and the hearing of testimony was begun. In view of the defense plea of insanity, Judge Sbarbaro appointed two psychiatrists to examine Sawicki and report in court today.

"Superior Intelligence."

Dr. Harold Hulbert was ordered to examine Sawicki for the defense, and Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, state alienist, for the state.

Dr. Hoffman, questioning Sawicki after the court session, asked if there were any crimes he had neglected to confess.

"Yes," the young killer replied. "I killed a colored man and girl in a park the same night I killed Charles Kwasinski. But, if you tell the cops, I'll slit you."

Kwasinski was a former inmate of the Training school whom Sawicki shot and mortally wounded when Kwasinski refused to help him in a holdup. When Dr. Hoffman questioned the killer further about the colored couple, Sawicki refused to give details. Police said there were no other unsolved murders at the time of Sawicki's four killings, and expressed the belief that he was manufacturing his latest story.

Dr. Hoffman said he found no evidence that Sawicki is insane, but that he has marked criminal tendencies.

Sawicki shot Policeman Speaker to death last June 30 when Speaker surprised him in a holdup during Sawicki's week-end of killings.

JURY RULES MAN DIED BY ACCIDENT.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death yesterday at the inquest in the case of James Aldrich, 49 years old, 127 North Catherine avenue, La Grange, who died Aug. 27 in Presbyterian hospital of an overdose of sleeping tablets taken the day before in a hotel at 2100 Lincoln Park West.

WOMAN STRUCK; POLICE HUNTING HIT-RUN DRIVER

Witnesses Get Number of Car at Scene.

Mrs. Mollie Canzolino, 51 years old, was critically injured by a hit and run driver yesterday at Western avenue and Grenshaw street. Mrs. Canzolino, who lives at 1118 South Western avenue, was taken to Mother Cabrini hospital. Police said witnesses had given them the license number of the automobile, and that they were seeking the driver.

The body of a man killed by an auto Tuesday night at North and Spaulding avenues was identified as that of Olaf Anderson, 77, of 1716 North Sawyer avenue, a retired cabinet maker.

Mrs. Anna Abel, 51, of 7455 Bennett avenue, died in her home of injuries suffered Sept. 13 when she was struck by an automobile in front of 3126 East 92d street. The driver was Cleon Bolin, 26, of 1446 Fischroot avenue, Whiting, Ind.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 680 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 470 were killed in Chicago, where 18,426 were injured in the same period.

RADIO OFFICIAL GIVES TESTIMONY ON OWNERSHIP

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Luther Hill, general manager of the Iowa broadcasting company, told the federal communications commission today it was of some advantage in obtaining national radio advertising for a radio station to be affiliated with a newspaper.

Hill is manager of a company which is controled by the Des Moines, Ia., Register and Tribune Publishing company, and which operates stations KSO and KRNT at Des Moines and WMT at Cedar Rapids. The Gardner Cowles family controls most of the stock. Gardner Cowles Jr. is president of the broadcasting company and Gardner Cowles Sr. heads the publishing company. Hill testified in connection with the communications commission's investigation of newspaper-radio relationships.

"You have to draw a distinction between national and local advertising," Hill said. "There is some advantage to us in the national field because of our standing. But it is a disadvantage in the local field."

He said that some local merchants preferred to place their radio advertising with stations not affiliated with newspapers, because the merchants advertised in the newspaper and wanted to distribute their business.

GOVERNOR WARNS HOUSEWIVES TO WATCH BUDGETS

Gov. Dwight H. Green warned Illinois housewives yesterday that they must trim their budgets to meet a 17 per cent increase in the cost of living during the next year. He pledged the coöperation of his administration to meet the problem of rising rentals and food prices.

The governor, speaking as chairman of the Illinois State Council of Defense, which met in the La Salle hotel, announced plans for the establishment of information centers where women may obtain advice on marketing.

Gov. Green said Arthur C. Willard, president of the University of Illinois, had been asked to assign a group of home economists to work as woman's organization.

Daily broadcasts from the radio station at the University of Illinois and other outlets will give a shopping service, discuss available food commodities, and help housewives plan balanced diets.

SEVEN CHILDREN EAT CANNED SOUP AND BECOME ILL

Seven children from 3 to 15 years of age were made violently ill yesterday a few hours after eating some canned chicken noodle soup in their home at 1621 West 32d street. The soup was prepared by Blanche Burke, 15, in the absence of her mother. Those who became ill are Richard, 13; Patrick, 9; Sheilah, 7, and Bobbie Burke, 5; Violet Mae Shelton, 7, and her sister Claudette, 5, and Rosa Lee Bradshaw, 3. They were treated at county hospital and all but Richard were sent home. His condition is not believed serious, however. Detectives Cyril O'Connor and Walter Bailey of the Brighton Park station took the remains of the meal for analysis by the board of health laboratory.

DENTIST, 36, DIES AFTER SHOCK BY X-RAY MACHINE

Dr. Harold Walker, 36 years old, a dentist, died last night in his home at 438 Main street, Glen Ellyn, a moment after he had received an electric shock while plugging in an X-ray machine. Dr. Walker was X-raying the tooth of a patient, Betty Spahr, 20, 567 Park avenue, Glen Ellyn, when the plug fell out.

He bent to replace it in the socket and received the shock, collapsing just as his assistant, Miss Juliet Reneau, 20, entered the room.

Dr. Walker is survived by his widow, Kathleen. He also maintained offices at 25 East Washington street.

3 More McHenry County Cities Vote Daylight Time

McHenry, Crystal Lake, and Marengo, in McHenry county, yesterday joined Woodstock in retaining daylight savings time until Chicago relinquishes it. In McHenry, Mayor R. I. Overton broke a two-two deadlock in the council by voting for the continuance. Crystal Lake and Marengo passed resolutions unanimously.

CITY'S LABORERS ASK FOR $1,000,000 INCREASE IN PAY

A subcommittee of aldermen is to meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning with representatives of 4,500 laborers in the city's employ to discuss demands for a pay raise totaling one million dollars. The aldermen are expected to reject the plea despite implied threats of a strike.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that it was impossible for the city to grant the raises since there was no allowance in the budget for such a contingency. He added that any civil service employé who quits work because of the pay dispute is "thru."

Union demands, aldermen said, are a 15 per cent increase in pay for workers in the street departments, a scale of $1.02½ hourly for all laborers, or a total of $1,019,027 for the 4,537 men affected. The increases would be retroactive to Jan. 1. Sixty to 70 per cent of those involved are under civil service regulations and would be affected by Mayor Kelly's work or quit edict.

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, young American girl sent by a New York firm to Paris to buy antiques, runs into her cousin, Mrs. Hiram Rentrew, a rich widow, who insists Gay stay with her. Soon after Gay moves in her cousin is taken to a hospital, ill, and Gay is left in the Rentrew apartment with her cousin's brother-in-law, Horace, an antique dealer, and the servants, Hortense and Manx. Gay visits her cousin in the hospital and runs into Miles Dorsey, a junior partner in the firm that looks after Mrs. Rentrew's affairs; Raoul de Chabenil, a handsome gigilo, and Estrella, Mrs. Rentrew's dressmaker. Her cousin insists that Gay take her jewel box, with a valuable antique necklace in it, home and put it in the wall safe. That night Gay dines with Geoff and Catherine Macadam, old friends of hers, and Miles Dorsey. They see Raoul and Estrella dining together and Gay learns that Raoul has an unscrupulous reputation. When Gay gets home that night she hears that Mrs. Rentrew has just died. Gay, unable to sleep, thinks she hears some one in her room and the next morning the jewel box has disappeared. Altho the doctor says her cousin died of a stroke, Horace demands an inquest. Gay is questioned by the police about the disappearance of the necklace and she realizes they are suspicious of her.

INSTALMENT XVI.

NIGHT PROWLER.

Was Hortense talking about me? I wheeled, too outraged to interrupt—curious, in fact, to see just how far she would go.

"Very odd," she muttered darkly, "for an important robbery to occur directly after this person's return! Hat box indeed! And this charming Alixe doesn't take her box after all. Declares it is too heavy, she must come again when she has taxi fare!"

"Alixe! What Alixe? Who on earth is this woman?"

Triumphantly the old rogue rapped out her information. Alixe? Why, obviously madame's personal maid, dismissed down in Saint Christophe, reclaiming her property only when she had seen by the papers her mistress was ill in a nursing home. O, yes, she had walked in here yesterday, bold as brass.

"At a time when monsieur is never at home. For mark you, she would not have cared to run into him! Perhaps she hoped no one would be here. She could have used her own latchkey, the one supposed to have fallen into a drain."

My eyes pinioned Hortense's, which now didn't try to evade.

"Let's get this straight," I said. "You say this Alixe was a mischief maker. What of it? Madame got rid of her down south."

"Ah, yes, in the end!"

"And she came back yesterday for something of her own?"

"That was her excuse. So now mademoiselle has heard."

I asked if Monsieur Horace had been told.

"Naturally, and the police as well. No, she did not come into this room, there were no jewels to steal. A joke, nevertheless, for this building to be watched. Is it likely the person who entered during the night will prowl round waiting to be caught?"

Hortense had said her say, so now she slopped out. I chewed over her disclosure, not inclined to rank it very high. She'd been too eager to ram it down my throat, and yet, if the bit about a lost latchkey happened to be true?

Pointless or not, I locked up both my doors. I even pushed a sewing machine against the Persian wall rug in the dressing room. Not a mouse could get in. In 20 minutes I was asleep.

I'd roused again.

Exactly as had happened the night before I stared into dense, close, palpable darkness, in which something had stirred.

Once again I knew I wasn't alone. Reason said, "Rats! It can't possibly be."

Of course no one was in the room. I'd taken every precaution. Besides, who would take chances? Every soul in the apartment was a potential suspect, the hunt for the Marie Antoinette necklace was in full cry.

I was furious with myself. Never before had I been attacked by these idiotic night fears. I sniffed furtively, trying to scent wintergreen. All I smelt was faint lavender from the soft sheets, an overtone of my own texture cream and a clinging fragrance that would always remind me of Cousin Lou.

I tried to analyze the sound that had stung me awake, even if I'd dreamed it. Very close it had seemed, low down, right on the carpet. By the bed? No, under it. My hair rose as I thought of the slight, scratchy rustle directly beneath me—like the crawl of a snake.

Of course! It was Hortense's calling Alixe a serpent that had hooked itself into my subconsciousness. This bed was too low for any one to wedge under, that's why I hadn't raised the satin valance to make sure. All the same I kept my ears strained for the impossible repetition. I decided to count 10, very slowly. If I didn't hear anything more I'd go back to sleep.

I began: One. Two. Three. Four—?

My hand shot to the bed lamp, struck my little traveling clock and knocked it to the floor. In utter panic at the movement behind me I seized the pear switch, jabbed its button.

No light came on.

I knew then that the plug had been removed from the socket low down in the baseboard. In all the worst nightmares of childish years there had been no horror like this moment.

I screamed—once. Not loud, because a hand smoothly competent clamped cruelly over my mouth. I lashed out like an octopus, touched sleek hair that grazed away like an eel. Another hand choked me. A resilient body hurled its length on mine, weighting me to the mattress. I sensed its muscles, tho there were thick blankets between. Still wrenching, I drove my right knee into the person's stomach. It was no good, but for one second I'd freed my nostrils. The odor reaching me then was by no means disagreeable, only it told me just nothing worth knowing. I hadn't time to consider its value as an identity clew, for instantly there came a tiny plop as of a small cork withdrawn and now, with the strangling grip relaxed, was the wrong moment to fill my squashed lungs with air. Fumes I recognized gagged me from a pad forced over my face.

Ether!

"Can't be done!" I fought with new frenzy. "Doesn't Phil say it's next to impossible to etherize a patient against his will?"

I twisted my head. The pad went with it. I gasped, I spat, but I was pinioned under the bedclothes. The weight crushing me never shifted, the sickly vapor seeped into my nose.

It was being done. My sensations were dimming fast. My last raging thought was:

• • •

My coffee was beside me and I was being horribly sick. So sick I didn't then realize my eyes smarted like fury and my face seemed scorched. I fell back, too weak from retching to utter a word, and Hortense, drawing the curtains, turned and gave me a dirty look.

"Ah, bah!"

It still didn't penetrate how she was putting an entirely false construction on my nausea. Hadn't she seen last night I couldn't have been drinking? As she stood glaring at me, not lifting a finger, I almost went off again. Flat on my back I managed to beckon.

"Look at me," I croaked. "Look at the bed."

"Well?" She moved a grudging step closer. "You are sick, mademoiselle, most assuredly; but what is wrong with your bed?"

My eyes had closed. With an effort that nearly finished me I got them open again.

She was right. The covers I'd expected to find in torn confusion were neatly tucked in. The safe was covered by its panel. Not one object in the room had been disarranged.

"Dreaming again!" Hortense sniffed in contempt. "Well, I suppose one must make you tidy."

Gone a moment, she bustled back with a pale rose bath towel and a basin. I could only lie still, visions of terror passing hazily under my lids. My legs, my arms, even my body felt battered and bruised. Every inch of my breathing tubes was raw. Hortense now seemed to grasp that I wanted real attention. Muttering to herself she fussed out, and tho I had supposed it wasn't possible to be sick any more, I repeated the process and promptly collapsed in a faint.

In the thick darkness something stirred. It was close beside me, black against black, but I couldn't see what it was. Light! I must have light. Here was the little pear switch in my hand. I was pressing it.

The light didn't come on.

I know now that the brutal way the ether was administered accounted for my being so disgustingly knocked out. Of course the shock of pure, helpless terror had entered into things, and that made it worse.

I came round to find several dim figures hanging worriedly over me. One was Horace, one was Manx, a third was an English doctor, very silent, very kind. I remember thinking that Horace's judgment about doctors was sounder than Cousin Lou's. This one knew what to do and did it, tho in spite of the relief he brought it was some time before I could do much in the way of talking.

My first words were, "the safe!"

"That'll do," reproved the doctor. "Just you turn your head very slightly . . . M'm! Now the other side . . . Bruises!"

He looked at Horace, who seemed—yes, definitely, he was wringing his soft hands.

"Impossible!" the doctor said gruffly. "She can't have made those marks herself."

"Who says she did?" groaned Horace. "It's that fool of a Hortense, what she thinks doesn't count. Hold on—what's that?"

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 24 (AP).—Dr. George H. Stricker testified before a coroner's jury today that he found the body of his wife, Florence, 48, bludgeoned and propped against a closet wall in their Silver Lake home Sept. 13. He wept as he told his story.

Ernest Booth, magazine writer and scenarist, was called after Dr. Stricker finished his testimony, but after protesting his innocence he refused, on constitutional grounds, to testify. Booth originally was arrested on suspicion of murder, released on writ of habeas corpus, then rearrested on charges of possessing firearms.

TESTIFY PEANUT MACHINE SELLER EARNED $45,000

A single salesman of the Manufacturers Research institute "earned" $45,000 in commissions during 1937, according to testimony given yesterday during the trial of 23 men charged with using the mails to defraud elderly midwestern investors of $832,709 in a peanut vending machine venture.

Francis J. McGreal, assistant United States district attorney, introduced canceled checks in that amount payable to Otto King, the salesman. The checks were identified by Fred A. Greilsheim, former assistant treasurer of the institute, who is now an auditor for the state finance department.

Tell of President's Salary.

Greilsheim also said that Harold E. Taylor, institute president, decided arbitrarily what sums should be paid investors as returns on their money, and that Taylor drew from $100 to $150 weekly in salary.

Another of the 2,000 investors who the government says were swindled, took the stand before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. She was Miss Carrie Nash, 83 years old, of Lanesboro, Minn., a housekeeper.

Miss Nash said that two salesmen, Robert L. Swaggerty and Robert Cody, visited her in 1937 in Lanesboro, where she has lived since 1870, and "extolled the merits of the investment" so well that she paid them $3,500 for 100 machines, which were to be serviced by the company.

Own Supplies 'Limited.'

"They told me," Miss Nash said in a frightened little voice, "that if I bought 200 of the machines I could winter in Florida. I asked if they had any themselves, and one of them said they were only permitted to own 100 machines each."

She said she got a very small return from her money, altho she had been promised from 20 to 30 per cent.

She was followed to the stand by three stenographers, formerly employed by the company, whose testimony was largely technical. One of them, however, brought a chuckle to the court by describing how she noticed just before quitting in 1938 that many disgruntled investors were beginning to come into the office. She was Miss Ann Howe, 8034 Hermitage avenue, an attractive redhead.

"I gave one man 50 cents for a check that bounced," Miss Howe said, "just to get him out of the office. I never got it back."

ORGANIZE HELP FOR PADDOCK IN CONGRESS RACE

James Simpson Jr., Republican state central committeeman for the 10th district, yesterday informed Congressman George A. Paddock of Evanston that he had formed a committee of Chicago ward and country township committeemen to work for Paddock's renomination and reëlection next year.

In a letter to the congressman in Washington, D. C., Simpson said that Paddock's request that he form the committee had been "an easy assignment," because of Paddock's "outstanding record as an American and as representing the majority of thought in the 10th district."

Simpson said the following committeemen would work for Paddock's reëlection: Charles Fleck, 45th ward; Frank Leonard, 47th ward; George Williston, 49th ward; Jens Jensen, 50th ward; Henry A. Gardner, New Trier township, and William Marks, Lake county.

"May I assure you," Simpson continued, "that I, too, will do all in my power to return you to Washington."

GIZELLA KOLOSSA.

Jerry Malek, 20 years old, had his most embarrassing moment last night. After being disturbed in his attempt to hold up a lobby office of the Palmer House, he fled into a subbasement and couldn't find his way out.

Jerry Malek.

Malek, who lives at 2827 South Harding avenue, told police he borrowed a .45 caliber automatic from one of his seven brothers and strolled into the hotel reservations office. There he asked Miss Gizella Kolossa, Mrs. Mae Dillon, and Philip Schuyler, an assistant manager, for money. While talking to the last two, however, he forgot to watch Miss Kolossa, who slipped into the lobby and told the house detective.

The detective promptly notified Central police. Twelve officers arrived and Malek left, but was followed to a subbasement by Sergt. Edward O'Malley, who fired at him three times. Malek came out, gun in hand, and surrendered.

PLACE ABORTION CHARGE AGAINST WOMAN DOCTOR

Charges of performing an abortion were filed last night against Dr. Carolina Gentile, 39 years old, 5368 Crystal street, after she had been taken to the detective bureau on orders of Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek. He said Dr. Gentile had been accused by a young woman who stated the abortion was performed in a physician's office at 945 Taylor street. Dr. Gentile denied the charge, stating she merely had treated the girl for hemorrhage. She will be arraigned in Felony court today.

PLAN BALLISTIC TEST IN DEPUTY'S DEATH IN AUTO

Rosiclare, Ill., Sept. 24 [Special].—Ballistic tests are to be made to determine if Deputy Sheriff C. C. Ashford, whose body was found in his automobile near here at midnight last night, was killed with his own gun.

The weapon, found on the seat beside the body, had been fired three times. Three bullet wounds were discovered, any one of which Coroner L. D. Dusch said would have been fatal, but their position is considered proof that Ashford could not have committed suicide. One bullet lodged against the spinal cord, one passed thru the body, and one struck in the heart.

Deputy Ashford had been a law enforcement officer in Hardin county for 12 years.

His body is at the Robert Knight undertaking rooms, where an inquest will be conducted Saturday. Besides his widow, four brothers survive. They are Lon, a flurospar miner; Harry, a grocer, and Will and Arlie, farmers.

Sequins Shine with Abandon on Fall Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

Sequins flicker with complete abandon all over the newest fashions, from head to toe . . . you will see multi-colored sequins caught in the wool meshes of the newest "circus scarfs," millions of sequins do the glow worm act, all over dresses, on blouses, on the shoulders and chest sections of handsome new dinner coats and capes and the long fitted wool coats for evening wear.

Sequins in new plume patterns come in turquoise blue, coral, in winking black, in scarlet and in designs that feature two or three different colors and contrasts.

Small prince of Wales feathers, three flowers in different shades, bow-knots, butterflies and involved scrolls make ideal designs to sew in decorative positions on dresses, jackets and coats. There are large designs and many small ideas, so that you can go the limit or shine discreetly.

Many are the last of the imports but plenty of the smartest finds are of American design. The brilliant colors are fascinating, but the silver, gold and black sequined effects are also bright ideas for contrast or against black and dark colors in wool and silk.

You can buy sequins by the thousands if you want to make your own designs. One dazzling new way to use these vivid sparklers is to sew them hither and yon on lacey crocheted wool scarves. Such scarves are worn tucked in the throatline, worn as a wrapped turban or tied around the belt of otherwise simple dull black dresses.

Bandings massed with the colored or the silver and gold or black twinklers are easily attached to hat, dress, cuffs, or neckline even, and bags or gloves. Iridescent tiny beads are also new. When they are used as round buttons the beads are sewed to discs and the disc is sewed to the dress. Any of these bandings will highlight wool, crêpe, net, or lace.

Cecile Loses Gustave; It's Mama's Fault

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Some mothers obviously are a bit too forthright for the good of their girl's romances.

Take Cecile's mother. Cecile was mooning around home over a boy named Gustave, so mamma put on her bonnet and set out for Gustave's home to acquaint the boy's family of her daughter's state of mind and heart. The next day Cecile learned from Gustave's sister directly that he was thru with her; never wanted to see her again; didn't want ever again to have anything more to do with a girl. It's too dangerous, with parents closing in on you after you've taken a girl out a few times, Gustave thinks.

"He doesn't want to have trouble with anybody," Cecile confides to us," but I wouldn't make any trouble for him. But how can I make him believe this, after my mother's error? I still love him and I always will. His mother, too, told my mother that her son didn't want to have any truck with girls right now, as he has taken up flying and for four years that will be his chief interest in life. What can I do about it now? Is there anything I can do, after my mother making all that trouble for me?"

That was an ill advised step for your mother to take, Cecile. However, her motive may have been to provide you a quick cure for your mooning around home. It's pretty tiresome for a parent, you know, Cecile, to have a lovesick daughter languishing under her eyes all day long. Besides, that's too quaint a performance for an up-to-date, modern girl.

To answer your question, however, Cecile, your move now is to try to forget the incident and the young man, too.

Appeal Is Made for Pet Birds for Blind Man

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Today we present an appeal on behalf of an elderly man who lost the sight of both eyes thru an accident. Recently, he has been deprived of pets which were both his hobby and his friends, and their loss has left him desolate.

"Dear Miss Brown: My husband and I have been married 45 years, and during most of our married life we have had birds—generally canaries After my husband was deprived of the sight of both eyes, he became more and more interested in them, and has made many beautiful bird cages—all by hand—for them.

"Just recently, due to an accident, all our birds were killed. The house seems so quiet without them, and my husband misses them greatly. Maybe some one reading this item might be looking for a home for a bird or birds and would like to place them with expert bird raisers. Sometimes people owning birds find they have to make changes or are no longer able to care for pet birds and would be happy to place them in a good home. Mrs. D."

This couple lives on a tiny allowance in a district west of the loop. The accident which deprived them of their pets was one which no one could have forseen. The name and address will be supplied to any interested person.

Lady Mountbatten Returning to Chicago for a Brief Visit

BY JUDITH CASS.

The duke and duchess of Windsor will not be in Chicago long enough for any entertaining for them as they will be here less than three hours on Saturday morning, but the wife of the duke's cousin, Lord Louis Mountbatten, is arriving tomorrow and will be here for the small dinner Mr. and Mrs. James C. Cathcart are giving at their home in Lake Forest. Lady Mountbatten, who was here just last week for a two-day visit, will be accompanied by her 17 year old daughter, Patricia Edwards Victoria, who with her sister, Pamela Carmen Louise, will be at school in New York this winter.

Last week Lady Mountbatten came to Chicago particularly to thank Red Cross workers for the war relief they have sent to England. This time she is just passing thru on her way from the east to Los Angeles. She and Miss Patricia will spend tomorrow night in Lake Forest with the Cathcarts and presumably will come into town early Saturday morning to meet the Windsors.

Mrs. Howard Linn Announces British War Relief Benefit.

Mrs. Howard Linn, who acted as hostess at that memorable party her cousin, Wolcott Blair, gave at the Saddle and Cycle club for the then Prince of Wales in 1924, does not plan to come to town early enough on Saturday to greet the Windsors. Coming to town early, however, is the usual thing for Mrs. Linn these days for she is keeping long hours in the office she has opened for the British War Relief benefit that she announced yesterday.

The benefit is to be a Victory Round-Up on Oct. 17, the opening night of the world's championship rodeo in the Stadium. Stage and screen stars will add to the evening's program of entertainment. Tickets are on sale at Mrs. Linn's office on the street level at 32 North Michigan avenue, just under the B. W. R. S. headquarters, and at the B. W. R. shop in the Italian court in North Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Robert J. Thorne is vice chairman of Mrs. Linn's committee; Mrs. James H. Winston has charge of tickets and Mrs. Hampden Winston of boxes. Working with Mrs. Hampden Winston are Mrs. Paul Hamlin and Mrs. John M. Simpson. The program chairman is Mrs. Douglas Buchanan and Mrs. Gerhard Foreman, Mrs. Roy McWilliams, and Mrs. Julian Soames will handle publicity.

Lady Mendl Arriving in Chicago Next Monday.

The Chicagoans who count Lady Mendl [Elsie de Wolfe] as a friend are looking forward to seeing her the first of next week, for she arrives on Monday to spend a day here on her way from her home in Beverly Hills, Cal., to New York. She and the two or three friends who will be traveling with her will be at the Ambassador East for the one night they are here. Mrs. Walter R. Kirk is asking a few of Lady Mendl's friends to see her at the cocktail hour on Monday. Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. Linn, and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour are Lady Mendl's especial friends in Chicago.

Dorothy Jane Adair Bride of R. J. Cameron-Smith.

It will be a surprise to many Chicagoans to learn that Miss Dorothy Jane Adair and Robert J. Cameron-Smith were married on Sept. 13 in Highland Park. Announcement of their marriage comes from the bride's mother, Mrs. Arthur Byers Adair of Santa Monica, Cal., formerly of Kenilworth. The wedding was a quiet one, as Mr. Cameron-Smith recently was divorced from his first wife, the former Susan Follansbee.

The former Miss Adair was graduated from North Shore Country Day school and from Wellesley college. Mr. Cameron-Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cameron-Smith of Wilmette, received his degree from Oberlin. His great-great-grandfather came to Chicago in 1837.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris Giving Luncheon Party.

Mrs. Hayden B. Harris has succeeded in gathering together only a dozen of the Mortar Board contemporaries for a luncheon party today at the Woman's Athletic club. Among them will be Mrs. Joseph Raycroft, who has come from Princeton, N. J. Mrs. Harris is here from Leesburg, Va., for the festivities in connection with the University of Chicago's 50th anniversary celebration. Also here is her daughter, Mrs. James Symington, who will have a separate table of her own Mortar Board contempor-

Taking 'Mannequin Test' for St. Luke's Show

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Shirley Hopkins and Miss Frances Clow (right) look unconcerned for they have poise, as do most young women today, altho when this picture was taken these two debutantes knew they were being given the "once over" by the mannequin committee for St. Luke's fashion show. The show will be given on the afternoon and evening of Oct. 21 in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel.

City's Leaders to See W-G-N's Fashion Revue

Brilliant new colors for the winter fashion scene will move down a runway bisecting the W-G-N audience studio Saturday night for the finale of the second annual American Fashions competition sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

In the 15 original models, finalists in the 1941 nation-wide contest to stimulate American fashion, which will have their initial showing then, new color combinations as well as new lines and lengths will be introduced. The combination of beige crêpe with tangerine wool will vie for attention with such startling duets as mustard wool with black sealskin, fuchsia with jade and aquamarine with emerald green.

A capacity house of social, civic, and professional leaders will see the showing, which will begin promptly at 8:30 p. m. The first half hour will be broadcast over W-G-N, and the show proper will be broadcast over the Mutual network from 9 to 10 p. m. as part of the Chicagoland hour. The doors of W-G-N will open at 7:50 p. m. and close at 8:25.

The fashions, gleanings from the contest in which the nation's leading designers participated, will be shown in an elaborate musical setting. They will be shown in groups of five, with the visual audience balloting on the winning design in each group. From the finalists the audience also will choose the winner of first place, which carries a $500 cash award.

However, a prize of $50 will be given to the designer of each dress displayed. The 15 to be shown were made into original models at the expense of THE TRIBUNE and photographed for reproduction in color in the picture sections of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE beginning Sunday. They were selected from among the hundreds of designs submitted as those best from the standpoints of originality, ingenuity in use of fabric, and suitability for market introduction. Selections were made by a committee headed by Mrs. Grace Pickering, fashion authority.

Concurrently with the fashion show the designers' sketches for the 15 semi-finalists will go on display in Harmony hall, corridor connecting W-G-N and the Tribune Tower. The sketches for 58 designs which received honorable mention also will be hung there.

The musical program for the event will include gay selections from popular operettas sung by Marion Claire, Attilio Baggiore, and the W-G-N chorus. Henry Weber will conduct the W-G-N Concert orchestra.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Talking with some physicians the other day we learned they and a great many in their profession are rather disturbed by the diet fads that are going the rounds.

In the fall a woman's fancy always turns to new clothes and if she's overweight she's apt to seize on any much-touted, quick method of getting rid of the unwanted pounds. Right now women of all ages and all stages of health are on a reducing binge, it would seem, following a diet they heard of from one source or another.

Several of the most talked of diets have an especially dangerous effect on the kidneys and on the blood pressure. The harmful effects might not be immediate, but the risk is great for certain women. The whole bad point about diets that are not prescribed is the unknown factor of the woman's own physical condition. It may be that anything that affects the kidneys is the worst possible experiment for you; you are in no position to judge because you don't know your own physical weaknesses.

Trick diets are dynamite. The woman who is just a few pounds overweight, say five or ten at the most, can diet herself without doing much harm. But if she decides she's going to take up some long drawn out trick diet that will remove a lot of weight rapidly she's playing with a dangerous health hazard.

The best course in dieting is to have a physician's outline of one designed just for you; it will take into consideration your individual needs.

Seasonal Notes.

Gustatory:

A restaurant at Western avenue and Devon [the Town Pump] which specializes in Poor Boy sandwiches—a loaf of French bread cut lengthwise and filled with barbecued meat—now has a specialty for hunters' appetites. Barbecued corn. Husk six ears of corn, wrap each in lean bacon, spearing the bacon with toothpicks and broil slowly, turning the ears frequently until the bacon is crisp. (Typed but not tested!)

* *

Floral:

Roses, petunias, asters and snapdragons blooming in the sunken garden at Humboldt park. Spring in September in a garden at Dundee, Ill., that of the Brey family. Chinese lilac and the rare birdfoot violet in full bloom.

* *

Topical:

The Blitz Manufacturing company is located in a one story structure at 3614 West Division street.

* *

Popular Song and Jewelry Note:

Literary:

The month of September sees the completion of a book by a Chicago medical student, J. Y. Lettvin, titled The Mortimer Adler Murder Case. The subtitle: "Evil to him who medieval thinks."

* *

Decorative:

The windows of the city jail in Kankakee, Ill., are hung with tasteful Venetian blinds.

Intellectual.

The field house of the University of Chicago, the huge building at 56th street and University avenue, will be the location of a carnival tomorrow and Saturday evenings. Little Egypt, Ferris wheels, side shows, fun houses, games of chance, food. It's part of the fiftieth anniversary celebration, designed for letting off steam after the learned seminars and symposia of the week. The basketball floor will be used for dancing. Harry Minturn, producer of the Federal Theater's Swing Mikado, is toiling with a crew of stage hands to get everything ready. . . . One sideshow will give the humble citizen a chance to lay a cornerstone and have his picture taken doing it. Honorary degrees will be given for the guy who can ring the bell with a mallet. Barkers will flavor their spells with university gags. The carnival visitor will be able to travel thru a maze and come out at the other end with a university degree. Time: A few minutes instead of four years.

Good Morning!

She loved her man and loved him true.
He was an outlaw—so she became one too,
And paid no mind to her brother Ed
When he up and this to her said:
"Belle, take this from your loving brother—
Sam's just a bandit like any other.
The Civil war is fought and done
And now Sam's fighting just for fun——"
[Or words to that effect.]
"Reform and be a good girl—DO."
But Belle Starr SHE said—"THAT for you . . . "
Because she didn't give a [bad word]
For anybody else but Sam.
She was so young! And had the notion
The south from Sam had pure devotion.
HE wouldn't steal and kill for gain
Nor let his soldiers be a bane
Upon the state she loved so well
And in which Ed said Sam raised hell.
WELL—what she learned and in what way
"BELLE STARR" the movie shall portray.
The tale's staged down in old Missouri
In days when law abiders felt just fury
Because of crooks who went too far
Just following the Civil war,
And stole their lands and burned their houses
And otherwise cut up—the louses!
The film's in color, rich and gay.
Gene Tierney's sweet as a bouquet,
And maids will come from near and far
To see Randolph Scott play Sam Starr.
Supporting players are okey,
Direction also thataway.
This is a movie full of action
Which should give film fans satisfaction
E'en tho the fillum wanders far
From the REAL story of Belle Starr.
[Or so they tell me. I don't know anything about it.]

See you soon.

LOOKING AT HOLLYWOOD

By Ed Sullivan

The Campaign.

Perhaps it's wishful thinking, but it seems to me that the movie fan magazine writers have reformed, in a majority of cases, since this department started to reprint the slush that wets the pages of those periodicals that go in for ga-ga interviews. . . . Of course, it is a bit too early to claim a victory. . . . Some of the October issues at hand would indicate that they hadn't time to put brakes on their contributors.

For instance, there is a double-interview of Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond that is almost as frightening in its flamboyancy as was their wedding ceremony in Hollywood, arranged by Metro's publicity department. . . . Gushes the interviewer: "Of course, asking Jeanette to talk about Gene is like asking a child to talk about Santa Claus, Superman, the Lone Ranger, and Mickey Mouse, combined into one composite killer-diller. In fact, Jeanette, ever honest, warned me that a woman in love has only one story to give; a sort of potpourri of litanies, hymns, pæans, eulogies, orisons, and emotional genuflections."

On his part, Gene was equally gallant: "'And yet, I never think of her as my wife when we are working together. I have that sense of familiarity and naturalness, yes. But it's the sense that "here is a girl I am madly in love with." That should teach me, and it did, what an actress she is. Shooting that death scene yesterday when, as Moonyean Clare, she died at my hands, I was really crying as I watched her, she creates such illusions of love and death and song as grip the heart, like hands.'" . . . Aw g'wan! She's never won an academy award.

Then there is this amazing explanation of Carole Lombard's reluctance and downright refusal to write letters: "Carole Lombard chews up more letters than she writes. When she sits down to write she chews the edge of the stationery while she is thinking, and by the time the letter is half way finished, it is so well chewed up that she throws it in the waste basket and goes out to feed the chickens. That's why you don't ever get letters from Lombard." . . . And it also is the reason that Joe Cook imitates four Hawaiians.

Or this stirring thought: "'I want my babies.' Barbara Bennett sat in the modest living room of her Beverly Hills apartment, her sable eyes pools of anxiety, wringing her hands, repeating over and over again, 'I want my babies. They are mine! I bore them—raised them—loved them. They are mine, mine. How can any judge take five children away from their mother? What have I done? What sin have I committed?'" . . . In the next paragraph of this incredible story the interviewer perhaps supplies the answer: "Barbara, after having been divorced by Morton Downey, had just returned from an exciting Mexican elopement and honeymoon with Addison Randall." . . . So I guess that's why the judge took away the five babies.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

In almost every deal played at a suit contract, the ruff of worthless cards either in declarer's hand or in dummy accounts for the winning of one or more tricks. It goes without saying, therefore, that the defenders' ceaseless task should be to destroy this ruffing power whenever possible. When a singleton in a side suit shows up in dummy it is, of course, a simple matter to lead trumps, thus attacking dummy's ruffing strength. Sometimes, however, this line of defense is not so well marked and requires imagination. Consider today's hand.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 spade	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

I am merely reporting the bidding, not recommending it. Apparently South was a player who uses an artificial opening club bid. This is the only explanation that can account for his choice of the three card club suit instead of his four card diamond suit.

West opened the spade king and, when he saw the dummy, promptly hit upon the only defense that could defeat the contract. He shifted to the singleton club. The declarer's partner laughed somewhat derisively and asked: "What are you trying to do, knock out my trumps?" Obviously it looked silly to launch an attack on the six card club suit in the dummy, but that was not West's object. What he actually was doing was attacking declarer's trump strength in an effort to prevent declarer from ruffing any of dummy's worthless cards.

The club queen won the second trick, and declarer properly took the heart finesse up to his king. East went right up with the ace and followed his partner's direction by leading a second trump. Declarer now cross-ruffed the hand as far as possible but, with only one trump left in his own hand, could not reach his 10 trick goal. He rid his own hand of the spade queen and was able to ruff a spade with the club ace, but this still left dummy's fourth spade as a loser and, in all, declarer lost three spade tricks and one heart.

Now let us follow the play if West had not been so shrewd as to shift to a club at the second trick. Let us suppose he had made the "normal" continuation of the spade ace and nine spot. Declarer would ruff, cash the ace of diamonds, and ruff a diamond, then lead a heart. East would take the ace, but no return would embarrass declarer. A club return would be won with the king. The heart king would be cashed and a heart ruffed. Declarer then would ruff dummy's last spade with his club ace, and dummy would be left with nothing but trumps.

October—Those in a four-year may feel stirrings of the changes which are scheduled for October. After a long and rather dull four-year, the excitement which comes with a five-year is often such a great relief that there is a tendency to kick over the traces before the four-year is entirely over. This is the month in which the temptation to make a change will come, but probably it will be only the beginning of a series of changes, so don't think you are set again for long. The stimulation of this five-month should make you feel like taking action, but don't be too eager. Keep everything under control.

These Cookies Are Favorites Among Readers

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

We have a huge card index of all of our recipes in the cooking department, and when readers call us or write in to tell us that they've liked a particular recipe unusually well, we get that card from the file and put a special mark on it, indicating its popularity. Some of our recipes get pretty well marked up in this way!

I was planning to find a few new kinds of bar cookies for today's column, but I discovered some readers' choice bars in our files, and decided to use them instead.

Date-nut bars, which appeared in the paper late in 1938, have won praise from many a cook. They have a rather sponge cake-like texture.

DATE NUT BARS.
[3 dozen]

3 eggs
3 tablespoons water
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups chopped dates
1 cup chopped nuts
⅛ cup sifted confectioners' sugar

Beat eggs until light. Add water and mix in sugar. Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together. Mix chopped dates and nuts with flour, and combine with egg mixture. Spread batter half an inch thick in a buttered pan. Bake at 400 degrees for about 20 minutes. Cool, remove side crusts, and cut into bars. Roll bars in confectioners' sugar just before serving.

This recipe for brownies is the one which has appealed to our cooks more than any of the dozens of others in the file, apparently.

Pecan Brownies.

¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ teaspoon vanilla
⅔ cup flour [not cake flour]
½ cup chopped pecans

Cream shortening, sugar, and salt. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add melted chocolate and vanilla. Beat until smooth. Add sifted flour and nuts, stir until blended, and spread half an inch thick in a square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for half an hour. Cut into squares.

Caramel Squares.
[16.]

1 cup brown sugar
¼ cup butter
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¾ cup chopped nuts
½ teaspoon vanilla

Heat sugar and butter together in a saucepan until sugar is melted and mixture takes on a fudgy appearance. Do not boil. Remove from heat and cool. Beat in the egg, creaming well. Stir in flour, which has been sifted with baking powder and salt. Fold in nuts and vanilla. Spread in greased 9 inch pan and bake at 300 degrees, slow oven, for 20 minutes. Cut in squares and let cool in pan.

Tribute Paid Lake Forest's Mr. Baggett

The annual birthday meeting of public school teachers of Lake Forest of today and yesterday was held in the flower filled gymnasium of the Gorton elementary school in the suburb yesterday. The party, a tradition of 30 years' standing, was in honor of John E. Baggett, superintendent emeritus of the Lake Forest elementary schools, who will be 78 years old Saturday.

Mr. Baggett taught in north shore schools for more than 50 years and had been superintendent in Lake Forest for 32 years when he retired in 1936. More than 100 present and former teachers attended the party, school children brought bouquets, and scores of gifts and telegrams arrived from all over the country.

Mr. Baggett, who lives at the Karcher hotel, Waukegan, is credited with still memorizing the name of each pupil of the Gorton, Halsey, and Everett schools, and sends each a birthday card yearly until he goes to high school.

The birthday parties were begun by Mr. Baggett for the teachers, but were soon taken over by them. For many years, until 1939, the parties also honored the late Rev. Sam W. Chidester, who kept bachelor house with Mr. Baggett, and in 1933 there was a sextuple celebration. The occasion marked the birthdays of both men, Mr. Baggett's 50th year as an educator and 30th as head of the Lake Forest elementary schools, as well as the Rev. Mr. Chidester's 80th birthday, 39th as pastor of the Waukegan Presbyterian church, and the 39th year the two men had roomed together.

Co-guests with Mr. Baggett yesterday were his successor, Dr. M. G. Davis and Mrs. Davis, and five teachers new to the system this year: The Misses Garcia Morgan, Helen Headley, Virginia Harrison, Susanna Ely, and Henrietta Swigart.

Knights of Columbus Launch Five Point Progress Program

State and archdiocesan leaders of the Knights of Columbus last night launched a five point program of progress at a dinner at the Hotel Sherman. State Deputy Leo M. Flynn presided. The program covers the fields of council activity, insurance, Catholic action, publicity, and membership. The part to be played by the Knights of Columbus in the National Catholic Community service program under the USO was stressed. Plans were announced for the Columbus day charity ball, Oct. 11, to be held at the Palmer House. Proceeds will be given to the club for service men dedicated last Wednesday by Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch at 1122 South Wabash avenue.

WILSON'S Weekly RECIPES

Recently I told you about Wilson's Tender Made Ham, the ham that is ready to eat. But suppose you prefer the kind of ham you bake? Then you get one which is so tender to start with that it doesn't require long baking.

Such is Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, the original Tender, Extra Mild. How can you be sure you're getting this ham? By the name and the bright orange wrapper.

George Rector
Food Consultant
Wilson & Co.

CAN'T-FAIL RECIPE

First, have the ham at room temperature (68° F. to 70° F.). Then it requires only 16 to 18 minutes per pound in an open roaster in a 325° F. to 350° F. oven. At the end of that time, take it from the oven, remove skin, sprinkle the fat with brown sugar, and return it to a 400° F. oven to get deliciously brown. Now it's ready to serve—hot or cold.

No Wasteful Oven Shrinkage

The longer a ham cooks, the more it shrinks. Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham shrinks very little because Wilson's Secret Process makes it so tender it requires less cooking than most hams.

CAN I BAKE BETTER FLAVOR INTO HAM?

But with Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, you can always be sure of a marvelous flavor. Baste it or not, with ginger ale or champagne, anoint it with brown sugar or honey as you prefer—if it's Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham, it's going to have wonderful flavor.

BACON FOR SCHOOL-DAY LUNCHES

AN OLD FAVORITE is bacon, tomato, and Certified Cheese put on a slice of bread in just that order and broiled. Try this with Family Style Certified Bacon. It has a far more delicious flavor than most bacon, because it is sliced thicker, then packed back on the rind as though it had never been sliced. The tasty smoked flavor stays in. Use this bacon for better breakfasts, lunches, and dinners.

See you next week. G. R.

MOON MULLINS—MEALY MOUTHED

IRISH WORK TO CHECK ARIZONA AERIAL THREAT

Cancel Scrimmage for First Time.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 24 [Special].—Notre Dame's first team has had its last preseason scrimmage, it was revealed today when Coach Frank Leahy excused the regulars from contact work and directed them in a dummy skirmish.

"We had planned to scrimmage the first team today," he said, "but the continued heat has made it inadvisable. We are in good condition now and rather than risk injuries and staleness we are going to try to accomplish the necessary results in dummy scrimmage."

Again, today, with the third team getting an even stiffer workout, Leahy expressed dissatisfaction with the way the squad went thru its defensive assignments against the tricky passing attack expected from Arizona in Saturday's opener.

Bernie Crimmins, a full back in 1940, will go into the Arizona game at right guard and has been showing well at his new position in recent drills. Another player counted upon for an excellent performance in the season's opener is Steve Juzwik of Chicago, who is to start at right half back.

GOPHERS IN MONTANA.

Miles City, Mont., Sept. 24 (AP).—The Minnesota football squad, en route by special train to Seattle to play Washington, stopped here this morning for a brief workout. The players just missed a heavy rain, but ran into a cold snap. They drilled at Custer County High school and had a blackboard session.

Coach Bernie Bierman stood by his lineups of the last 10 days during the drill. There was some talk that Bill Daley might be moved to right half in place of Sophomore Herman Frickey, if the Gophers kick off in Saturday's contest.

IOWA WORKS ON DEFENSE.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 24 [Special].—Attention was turned today to defensive work against Drake plays after nearly a week of purely offensive drill in the University of Iowa football camp.

Coach Eddie Anderson gave the squad a look at Drake maneuvers and then sent the players thru a passing and kicking drill. Jimmy Youel moved back to the varsity, replacing Tom Farmer at left half back. Anderson also experimented with three players at left end, using Ed Thomae, Bob Yelton and Bill Parker.

The squad will take its final heavy drill tomorrow, tapering off Friday for a short workout in the stadium before the opener here Saturday.

DRAKE HOLDS SCRIMMAGE.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 24 (AP).—Drake wound up heavy work for the Iowa game with a frosh-varsity scrimmage today and the first stringers took to the air twice for touchdowns late in the session to hang up an 18 to 6 victory. The frosh scored on a pass interception.

OHIO DRILLS IN HEAT.

Columbus, O., Sept. 24 [Special].—Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State ordered another light workout today as the temperature reached 90 degrees. This was welcomed as two weeks of hard work have melted off many pounds. Today's practice dealt mainly with defensive formations to be used against Missouri Saturday. Three sophomores are expected to be in the lineup on the opening kickoff. They are Bob Shaw, right end; Leon Schoenbaum, left end, and Jack Rosen, center. Schoenbaum received the call over Hershberger, due to his place kicking and kick-off ability.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 24 [Special].—Return to eligibility of Dick Heidinger of Algonquin, who played at Dundee High school, and Isiah Owens, Gary, Ind., sophomore, today gave Illinois two good reserve pass catchers. Owens, a converted half back, has looked promising in scrimmage and Heidinger is one of the squad's tallest players. The performance of Full Back Steven Sucic of Chicago's Lake View High school caused added optimism. Bob Falkenstein took over Sucic's left half position.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24 (AP).—Craig Wood and Byron Nelson completed their rout today of the Texas combination of Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret by winning, 5 and 4, in the $2,000 36 hole best ball match. It was the first major defeat of the Hogan-Demaret team.

Wood and Nelson carded a best ball of 63, nine under par for the Country Club of Detroit course, to maintain the five hole lead they gained yesterday in the first half of the match on Nelson's spectacular putting. Today Wood contributed the decisive shot with an eagle three on the 27th hole.

Ready to Shine Again for Irish

Bernie Crimmins, Louisville, Ky., will be in the line at right guard for Notre Dame when the Irish meet the University of Arizona Saturday in South Bend. Crimmins was a full back last season.

SERVICE, CIVILIAN AMATEUR BOXING LEAGUE PLANNED

Plans for the formation of an amateur boxing league were discussed by representatives of local clubs and nearby military and naval units at a luncheon meeting in the Chicago Athletic association yesterday.

The league will include a membership of at least 11 organizations.

Each of these clubs was invited to develop teams for interclub competition with a view toward revitalizing the sport and to stimulate interest in major tournaments, such as those of the Amateur Athletic union, the Catholic Youth organization, and Golden Gloves.

Name Potential Members.

Organization plans will be completed at another meeting next week, Roy E. Davis, chairman of the Central AAU boxing committee, said. A schedule will be arranged and rules and executive committees will be appointed.

Potential league members are: Chanute field, Fort Sheridan, Navy pier, Catholic Youth organization, Savoy Athletic club, Madison Athletic club, Northwest gymnasium, Chicago Athletic association, Illinois Athletic club, Johnny Coulon gymnasium, and Camp Grant.

The bouts, which will consist of competition in the novice, intermediate, and open classes, will be fought along the lines of a home and home series: For example, Chanute field color bearers would meet a CYO delegation at the CYO and then the CYO would return the visit at Chanute field.

Clubs to Meet Bills.

Because no admission is charged for entertainment at army and navy shows, the civilian clubs would stand the expense of transporting the sailor and soldier fighters. The money would come from receipts realized at the events sponsored by the private institutions. Competition will be open to all.

Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE and director of the Chicagoland Golden Gloves tournaments, presided at yesterday's meeting. In outlining the plan, Mr. Ward reminded his listeners that 23,000 young men engaged in the Golden Gloves tournaments held last spring thruout Chicagoland and that an additional 12,000 competed in a similar event offered about the same time under the sponsorship of The New York News.

Army Officers Approve.

The CYO and Savoy A. C., which in recent years have held a monopoly on team championships, wholeheartedly accepted the suggestion that their organizations be split up into three branches. The Savoy branches will continue to be maintained on Steve Juzwik, Chicago product who prepped at De Paul academy, is expected to start at right half for Notre Dame. He was an outstanding ball carrier last year.

Note to Nova: Louis Plans to Keep the Title

Greenwood Lake, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP).—It may not be the old Joe Louis in training up here in the Ramapo hills, but it is a reasonable enough facsimile thereof.

The Joe Louis getting ready for his date in the Polo Grounds with Lou Nova next Monday night comes closer to being the blaster of his second fight with Max Schmeling than he has been at any time since.

Won't Loan Title.

As for the gossip that since Louis is due to fight for Uncle Sam for a while starting next month, he might "loan" Nova the title—there's nothing to it.

"It's gonna be awful nice going into the army as champ," Joe said today after cuffing Sparmates Babe Ritchie, George Fitch, and old reliable George Nicholson around for four rounds. "I wouldn't wanna pass that up. And you can write it right down—that's just what I'm gonna be when I put on that uniform—the champ."

Plans to Wade Right In.

While he made no prediction as to how long he figures it will take him to finish Nova in this 19th defense of his title, the Bomber passed out one remark which shows he expects a major collision in the Polo Grounds ring along about 9 p. m. Monday [Chicago time].

"I hear Nova's gonna carry the fight to me, even tho his manager and trainer want him to wait," he remarked. "Well, I'll be movin' in, too. That means we'll both be comin'. So we're gonna have some fun."

LEE MAKES IT 21! BEATS INDIANS; SOX TAKE THIRD

Pitcher's Double Starts Team to 2-1 Victory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Thornton Lee pitched a two hitter against the Indians yesterday and in addition showed his slumpful White Sox mates the purpose for which bats are made. The White Sox won, 2 to 1, and became sole occupants of third place when the Tigers later in the day were beaten in St. Louis. The Sox also increased their margin over the fifth place Indians to a game and a half.

The game, which was the home final for the Sox, gave Lee his 21st victory of the season and six out of seven in competition with the Indians. The good old Indians, who beat the Sox 16 times last year, were able to take only 5 out of 22 this season. Tho they have met the Indians several times since their big swoon set in in late August, the Sox took their last 10 games from the Indians.

They Overcome a Homer.

The first of the two hits off Lee was Ken Keltner's 23d homer of the year, knocked with two out in the fourth. Since the Sox at that point had flip-flopped thru 21 scoreless innings there was reason to believe this one run might be enough to toss the Sox into the second division.

There was nothing about the start of the productive fifth to indicate that Keltner's run wasn't enough for victory purposes. Bob Kennedy stood with his bat on his shoulder while Jim Bagby whizzed a third strike right over the middle of the plate. Then Mike Tresh supplied the second out with a liner to Keltner. It was at this juncture that Lee decided it was high time to give his aimless associates a lesson, or at least an inspiration, in the art of hitting.

Thornton banged a double to left center and scored the tying run as Bill Knickerbocker looped a double back of third. Ben Chapman lined a single to center, scoring Knickerbocker with the payoff run. Lee, who singled with two out in the seventh, was the only Chicagoan to get on base after Chapman's victory swat.

Good Old Gee Helps Out.

Gee Walker doubled with one out in the seventh for the second and final hit for the Indians. It might have been a threat if Manager Roger Peckinpaugh had put some one on base to run for Gee. But when Gee was left on base the Sox were confident he would pull some sort of base running blunder that would remove the threat. Gee lived up to expectations by trying to steal third and was tossed out by Tresh with 8 or 10 feet to spare.

So instead of getting two men to third the Indians advanced only one that far, same being Keltner on his homer.

The total paid attendance for 79 home games [there were two ties] was 678,911, biggest total since 1925. Last year's total was 662,607.

The Sox will rest today, then go to Detroit to wind up the season with single games tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. John Rigney, Eddie Smith, and Lee are scheduled to do the pitching in the Sox battle to finish third, which is worth about $750 per player. Fourth place will pay about $375, and fifth draws a blank.

Thanks to Lefty

Life's Album.

Life may bring us fame and fortune,
It may bring us strife—despair,
It may bring us love and happiness,
Of each, more than is our share.

Fame may cut our name in marble,

But Father Time will soon reduce
These marks—to bits of crumbling sand.

Soon are yellowed with decay.

Where God fairly to judge all
Carefully—each life has sketched.

Gumbert Gets 6th Victory in Succession.

The victory was a personal triumph for Gumbert, who was cast off this spring by the New York Giants, but it did nothing more than sustain the 1½ game distance between St. Louis and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Wins 6th Game in Row.

Winner of five straight games before he took the mound today, Gumbert made it six as he yielded six Pittsburgh hits, four in the first four innings. The last two blows by the Pirates came in the ninth inning. After fanning the last man in the fourth to retire the side by the strike out route, Gumbert mowed down in order the next 14 men, stumbling on Frank Gustine, who singled with one down in the ninth.

Johnny Lanning matched Gumbert in pitching until the sixth inning, when the Cards exploded a three run offensive which sewed up the game.

Hopp Starts Rally.

Johnny Hopp, a star for St. Louis today with three hits, opened the winning drive by hitting Lanning's first pitch into center for a single. Hopp went to second on Terry Moore's sacrifice and scored the first run when Stan Musial singled to center. Estel Crabtree kept the rally alive by singling and raced to second as Vince DiMaggio threw to third in a futile attempt to cut off Musial. Frank Crespi was given an intentional pass, filling the bases, and Martin Marion doubled, scoring Musial and Crabtree. Bob Klinger relieved Lanning and stopped the rally.

The Cards scored their last run in the ninth against Rip Sewell, who took over after Klinger was removed for a pinch hitter. Jimmy Brown beat out a bunt to third, went to second on Hopp's sacrifice and scored on Moore's single to right. Score:

DEFEAT BRAVES, 4-2, ON TRIPLE BY DIXIE WALKER

Hit Comes in 7th with Three On.

If—

THE Dodgers must lose two of their remaining three games if the Cards are to win the National league pennant and this is contingent on St. Louis winning all of its three. The standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	99	54	.647
Brooklyn	99	55	.643

If the Dodgers win today and the Cards lose, the race will be over, as Brooklyn would be two and a half games in the lead with only two games to go.

If the Dodgers win two out of three they will capture the pennant, even tho the Cards win three. The standing would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	99	54	.647

The Cards play one game less because of a tie late in the season with the Giants which cannot be replayed. The Dodgers play the Braves today and the Cards meet the Pirates. Both teams rest tomorrow. The Dodgers will play the Phils Saturday and Sunday in Brooklyn and the Cards will play the Cubs on those days in Chicago.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 24.—Brooklyn's Dodgers, lovingly termed "dem bums" by their home constituents, this afternoon reached the point where in another 24 hours they might become the new National league champions.

The Dodgers progressed the hard way today, coming from behind with a seventh inning splurge which flattened a tribe of Braves who were fighting desparately to protect a lead they had captured off the pitching of the redoubtable Kirby Higbe. After the Dodgers had delivered their late thrusts they were 4 to 2 victors.

Whether the race ends tomorrow evening or goes on to a conclusion which appears inevitable because of the Dodgers' one and one half game lead, depends on happenings. If Brooklyn triumphs here tomorrow it will be that much closer to the world series, but doubt still will be present. Should the Cardinals lose at Pittsburgh tomorrow while the Dodgers are winning, the race will be over. In other words, the leaders need two more victories, or only one if St. Louis loses one of its remaining three.

It's Dixie Walker Again.

Today's struggle brought Fred [Dixie] Walker, ex-Yankee and White Sox, into the spotlight at a moment when Boston strategy was at work. For six innings the Dodgers had been able to do nothing with Jim Tobin, who not only fought them off but led two verbal assaults on Umpire Beans Reardon, who was operating on the infield.

Along with being remiss as hitters the tense Dodgers had been careless with their fielding. Errors by Harold [Peewee] Reese and Harry Lavagetto, along with the first two hits off Higbe, had given the Braves their two run margin in the fourth. Higbe surrendered only one other hit before turning over his 22d victory to Hugh Casey in the seventh upon retiring for a pinch batter.

Braves' Strategy Fails.

Two hits and a fielder's choice, which caused Umpire Reardon his second distressing period, loaded the bases with one out in the Dodgers' winning seventh. The bases still were filled with two out. Then Walker hit to left. Max West was playing in close, the strategy being that if Dixie singled in that direction only one half the Braves' lead would vanish. But he hit a long fly, the ungainly West couldn't get back in time, and the ball dropped for a triple and three runs. The triple was Walker's own birthday gift to himself. He was 31 years old today. The extra Dodger run scored in the eighth.

Reese booted Cooney's roller to open the fourth and the latter became the second Brave to reach base on Higbe. Hassett furnished the usual bunt and Waner slapped a single into left, Cooney stopping at third. West singled into center to send Cooney home. Waner moved to third on Miller's force of West, and the inning should have closed on Roberge's easy bounder, but Lavagetto fumbled, Waner scoring. Reese captured Berres' roller for the third out.

Medwick Starts Rally.

The turbulent seventh got under way with Medwick hitting a grounder toward left. It eluded Sisti, but the sprightly Miller snared it back on the grass. Eddie cut loose with a quick throw to Hassett but Medwick beat the ball to first. Lavagetto hoisted to Cooney, but the Dodgers felt better when Reese singled to center. Riggs batted for Owen and grounded to Miller, who rifled a throw to Roberge at second. Reardon ruled Roberge was off the base when the throw arrived so Reese was safe and the bases were loaded.

Wasdell, batting for Higbe, bounced

STURDY DEFENSE MICHIGAN CLAIM TO FAME IN 1941

Crisler Lacks Half Backs for Potent Attack.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 24. — The football adage that a team with a good defense never is beaten badly is the thought with which to begin a discussion of Michigan's prospects this fall.

George Ceithaml.

So many words have been written lamenting the departure of Tom Harmon, Forest Evashevski, and Ed Frutig, who played on three Wolverine teams that won 19 games, that many have forgotten Michigan still retains the nucleus of a defense that was unscored on in five games last year and held Michigan State, Minnesota, and Northwestern to 34 points.

If Michigan's defensive line, inexperienced only at right end, and backed up by Bob Ingalls, center; Capt. Bob Westfall, full back, or George Ceithaml, who replaces Evashevski at quarter back, can check opponents' rushing attack, then obviously, Michigan's new set of backs will need fewer points for victory.

Helpful on Attack, Too.

Reading from left to right, Michigan's line for the inaugural game against Michigan State Saturday probably will be Joe Rogers, Al Wistert, Bill Melzow, Bob Ingalls, Bob Kolesar, Rube Kelto, and Harlin Fraumann. That's a 200 pound line which should be rated defensively in the upper bracket of the Big Nine. It insures against crushing defeat and more important, it also will give the new crop of half backs a maximum of aid on attack.

Crisler is well satisfied with Ceithaml at blocking back. Capt. Westfall needs no particular paragraph. He had a net gain of 808 yards for 190 attempts last year [compared to 852 yards in 191 attempt for Harmon] but his continued effectiveness probably depends on development of the half backs. Harmon's threat off the ends and tackles last year made Westfall very effective thru the line.

Half Back Problem Acute.

Crisler rates Michigan's football problems as follows: 1. Development of the half backs. 2. Development of the right end position. 3. Scarcity of reserve strength.

The Michigan coach believes that the new substitution rule will help the smaller squads. He thinks it will help Michigan this year, but where the reserve strength is too weak, the result is 60 minutes each game for key varsity men. Wistert is the only left tackle of conference ability.

Fraumann, a senior letterman, gets the starting call at right end, but the position will continue to be a problem unless adequate replacements are developed. High hopes are held for John Karwales of Harrison Tech, Chicago, who was headed for a varsity position last year when an injured knee put him out of action.

Nelson, Lockard Face Draft.

Dave Nelson and Harold Lockard have been regarded as the starting half backs but both have been notified to appear before draft boards. They are senior letter men and Nelson, at left half, weighs only 155 pounds. If the army takes them Crisler will have to depend almost entirely on sophomores. Lockard learned today from his Canton, O., board that he could take his examination in Ann Arbor Friday. It was said also that he might be deferred until December or until he has completed his course as a physical education student.

Tom Kuzma, Don Robinson, and Al Thomas are listed at left half. Paul White and Charles Kennedy are sophomore right half backs. Kuzma comes from Gary, Ind., but he attended Emerson High [Harmon graduated from Horace Mann High school in Gary]. He's credited with speed and open field running ability. He's a forward passer. Kennedy is said to be the best punter, however.

Call and Flora Hurt.

Ingalls, Melzow, and Julius Franks, a splendid sophomore guard prospect, are place kickers for the Wolverines. Wistert, Mervin Pregulman, and Melzow kick off.

The Wolverines practiced twice today, finishing this phase of their preparations since the squad will report only in the afternoon tomorrow and Friday.

RIGHT TACKLE—Reuben Kelto, Robert Flora.

CAMP GRANT'S ELEVEN WOULD SUIT ANY COACH

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

They're in the army now, but likewise they are still wearing football uniforms in their spare moments, and then will gird themselves in same come Saturday evening for competitive maneuvers.

The above refers to a batch of 40 young men who aim to continue their gridiron activities as members of the Camp Grant football team. They will kick off their season at 9 o'clock [Chicago daylight time] Saturday night by meeting Ralph Jones' Lake Forest college Jaybirds in the Rockford, Ill., stadium, which the soldiers have adopted as their home grounds. If the plans formulated by Capt. Earl L. B. Clark, athletic officer of the camp, materialize, these young men will play a fairly full schedule before the snow flies. They have one other contest definitely scheduled. It is an argument with St. Norbert's college of De Pere, Wis., set for Oct. 4 in the Rockford stadium.

May Meet Fort Custer.

There also is a possibility of a home and home arrangement with the Fort Custer eleven of Battle Creek, Mich. In addition, Capt. Clark has consulted with Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Western conference, and Frank Leahy, Notre Dame's coach. If there are any open dates for the B squads of either the Big Nine or Notre Dame, the Camp eleven will be given first consideration. Another likely foe of the army team, which, as yet, hasn't a nickname, but is expected to earn one Saturday evening, is the Milwaukee Chief team, members of the American professional league.

And if you think the boys coached by Lieut. John P. Dicks, who, in civilian life, after a playing record as a back at Ripon, coached the Kenosha High school team, just sort of got together and chose up sides, you are quite incorrect. Consider a line that includes Stillman Rouse, one time catcher of Paul Christman's passes at Missouri and last year an end with the Detroit Lions; Rudy Gollomb, a guard from Wisconsin, where Capt. Clark, the camp's head man, once played end; Henry Longfellow, former end at Northwestern; Paul Jensen, also of Wisconsin; Izzie Gage, late of Illinois Wesleyan, and Pat Murphy and John Stinson, who played semi-pro football before they donned khaki.

Remember Ed McLain?

Do you remember a hard hitting full back who did a grand job at the University of Iowa a few years ago, by name Ed McLain? Well, he'll be on duty Saturday night in the same old rôle when the soldiers meet Lake Forest. Joining him in the back field will be such fellows as John Sullivan of Notre Dame; Fred Wunderlich and Ray Westphal, both of whom played semi-pro football, and a new arrival, Richard Banger, who captained the Syracuse university eleven last year.

In other words, these fellows who have been practicing once a day, from 2:30 to 5 p. m., since Sept. 2, are not to be considered a warmup test for Lake Forest, and enough of the latter's alumni are interested in the Saturday night game to have purchased a block of tickets. All uniformed soldiers will be admitted free. Civilians can buy tickets for 50 and 75 cents.

Tilden Tech Eyes Its First Prep Championship Since '28

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Tilden Tech, an old football favorite in the public school league, is moving toward the championship picture after a lapse of 13 years. The central section squad, which won its last title in 1928, has given two convincing demonstrations that this is the long awaited year to top the field. Two smashing victories—47 to 0 over Gage Park and 20 to 0 over Lindblom, 1940 co-champion—have produced the optimistic outlook for the 1941 campaign.

Charles Harvey, Tilden Tech coach, believes this year's eleven is one of the strongest in his 16 year prep coaching career. Harvey has three talented backs in Eddie Uvodich, Ray Schumacher, and Leonard Mazavaco. The starting Tilden Tech tackles are among the biggest in the league, Casper Kovach, weighing 206 pounds, and Don Peterson, 197. Tilden meets its third central division opponent, Du Sable, at 83d street and Yates avenue, Saturday morning.

Proviso High has decided to drop lightweight football, officially abandoned as a suburban league sport several years ago. . . . Oak Park now is the only league school attempting to play lightweight football, but thus far has scheduled only one game. . . . Johnny Damos, Waukegan full back, is a brother of Ted Damos, back field candidate at the University of Wisconsin. . . . Earl Rosinbum, Bowen swimming coach, has been appointed head of the Bowen gymnasium department, succeeding Berle McNabb, who has been transferred to the new South Chicago Vocational school. . . . George Gaydos, Austin half back, spent the summer working in a foundry. . . .

There's plenty of speed in the Milford, Ill., High back field. . . . The quartet—Paul Schaumberg, Noah Hickman, Don Hawthorn and Punk Weyand—won the Iroquois county relay championship last spring. . . . Joe Guinta, Austin guard, is a transfer student from Fenwick, where he won a football letter two years ago. . . . Edmund Tarquinio, captain and tackle on Bloom's team, also is a wrestler, weight lifter, and a student of muscular control. . . . Tarquinio gave several exhibitions between halves of Bloom's basketball games last winter. . . . Elgin's Maroons, coached by Michael Farroh, have a set of 150 pound backs possessing running, kicking, and passing ability. . . . Result—Farroh is using the "T" formation this year. . . .

Followers of the Harvard school squad say Bill Gemmill, senior left half back, will be the leading ball carrier in the private school league this year. . . . Full Back Ludwig Hrovat, Guard Howard Carbis, and End Jack Harker were the only letter men who returned at La Salle-Peru, coached by Butch Nowack, former University of Illinois star. . . . Loyola academy will play its second practice game of the season Sunday afternoon against St. George in Loyola stadium. . . . Loyola last year scored only one victory and suffered seven losses, the poorest season in the school's 30 year history.

Those present at the meeting, in addition to Mr. Ward, Col. Rogers, and Lieut. Murr, and Capt. Clark, were:

The Spencer Coals and American Giants will go into the third and fourth games of their series of five for the city semipro baseball championship at Spencer field Sunday afternoon with honors even.

INDIANA LINEUP TAKES SHAPE FOR DETROIT GAME

PASSES BOTHER PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 24 [Special].—Another session on forward pass defense occupied the attention of Purdue's football squad today as it looked to the season's opener with Vanderbilt here on Saturday.

In an extended passing scrimmage, the yearlings demonstrated the effectiveness of the tricky Commodore attack as they completed a number of their overhead attempts for neat gains.

Still attempting to repair the damage caused by the loss of five veteran backs who had been counted on for this fall's play, the coaches devoted considerable attention to sophomore possibilities, including Kenneth Smock, Bob Chester, and Francis Meakim, half backs; John Andretich, full back, and Bob Hajzyk, quarter back.

VANDERBILT FINDS PUNTER.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 24 [Special]. —J. P. Moore, Vanderbilt sophomore back, from Benton, Ark., will handle the greater part of the punting duties in Saturday's game with Purdue in Lafayette, Ind. Moore also charges hard and has plenty of speed as well as punting ability. His punts this week have shown great power and accuracy. Vanderbilt is tapering off after three weeks of hard drill and is expected to be in top physical condition.

MARTIN AWARDED DECISION OVER WELCH; FANS BOO

Joyce Defeats Breese in Stadium Outdoor Arena.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Tony Martin, Milwaukee middleweight, was awarded a split 10 round decision over Coley Welch of Portland, Me., in the Chicago Stadium outdoor arena last night. It was an unpopular verdict, the 2,750 spectators who paid $5,623, booing loudly. They jeered and hooted so long that Announcer William Kerwin was unable to introduce principals in the next match.

Welch, a shifty lad with an accurate left jab, scored points in every round except the fifth, which was even, and the seventh, eighth and tenth, which Tony won by landing heavy rights.

Joyce Whips Breese.

Judge Jack Ripple voted for Welch, 53-47, while Referee Norman McGarity scored 52-48, and John Bray, the other judge, 55-45 for Martin.

Welch gave his opponent a boxing lesson and in the second, the New England champion opened an old cut on Martin's nose and kept pecking away at the target.

Joey Pirrone, Cleveland lightweight puncher, dealt Gene Ward his first knockout when he dropped the Chicagoan for the count in the sixth round. Ward was down 11 times.

Joyce Stops Haley.

Jimmy Joyce, last year's Golden Gloves bantamweight finalist, spoiled Jack Haley's undefeated record by stopping the 1941 Chicagoland Golden Gloves featherweight champion in the fourth round. Haley, appearing in his seventh professional fight, was sent to the canvas six times in the fourth before Referee Frank Sikora stopped it. Haley scored the first knockdown, flooring Joyce in the first round with a left to the jaw.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Joe DiMaggio hit two home runs today to lead the Yankees to a 7 to 2 conquest of the Philadelphia Athletics. BELL RESIGNS AS PITTSBURGH STEELER COACH

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP).—Stung by the two defeats of the Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Football league, Bert Bell, co-owner of the club, announced his resignation tonight as head coach.

"Next to my wife and children," he stated, "coaching football has always been my greatest love. However, realizing that I have had better material than either Cleveland or Philadelphia and having lost both games, I believe it to be for the best interests of Pittsburgh fans that I resign and confine my duties to the business end of the corporation."

Bell's decision was announced after a conference with his partner, Arthur J. Rooney. The two said a new coach would be named within 24 hours.

Four names were mentioned for the job, Aldo [Buff] Donelli, now coach at Duquesne university; Paddy Driscoll, former coach at Marquette university; Link Lyman, for years with the Chicago Bears, and Pete Cawthorn, coach last year at Texas Tech.

Bell's resignation came on the heels of the Steelers' 10 to 7 setback last Sunday by the Philadelphia Eagles, a club he owned for several years before a deal last winter in which he came to Pittsburgh. The Rams beat the Steelers, 17 to 14, in their opening game played at Akron.

USHERS VS. ALL-STARS.

The Frain Ushers and Royal League All-Stars will play an exhibition softball game tonight at Hermosa park, Belden and Kilbourn avenues.

to Sisti, Medwick being forced at the plate for the second time during the battle. Then up came Walker with the aforementioned triple. Reese, Riggs and Wasdell galloped home and the pennant was that much closer. After the triple Herman walked, but Reiser rolled to Hassett.

Reese Hits Triple, Too.

There wasn't any sign of a Dodger run in the eighth until after two were out. Lavagetto walked and scooted from first to the plate on Reese's tirple, a low liner between the right and center fielders.

The only hits of which Rescuer Casey was the victim came in the ninth. West led off with a single to right, his third of the afternoon, but Herman nonchalantly speared Miller's line drive and doubled West off first base. Gene Moore, swinging for Roberge, singled to center, but an instant later Franks stepped out in front of the plate, picked up Masi's tap and threw to Camilli for the clinching out.

Cubs' Rookies Lose to Reds, Walters, 2-0

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 24.—Jimmy Wilson tried out a flock of his Cub rookies today when he started resting some of his regulars for next week's city series with the White Sox. They didn't do so badly, finishing second to the Reds and Bucky Walters, 2 to 0, in a game played in an hour and 21 minutes.

By winning, and also thru Pittsburgh's loss to St. Louis, the Reds clinched third place in the National league. Walter Lanfranconi and Emil Kush did some good pitching for the Cubs, but Walters made the rookies roll over and play dead in the clinches. The Cubs outhit the Reds, six singles to four.

Cubs Threaten in Ninth.

Chicago's best opening came in the ninth when Ed Waitkus singled to center with one out. Walters walked Dom Dallessandro, and after Babe Dahlgren grounded out, Frank Jelincich walked to fill the bases. But Cub hopes perished when Lou Stringer fanned.

The Reds got the one run they needed off Lanfranconi in the first inning. Eddie Joost opened with a walk and took third on Ed Lukon's single to center. Lou Frey chased Lou Novikoff back to the bleacher wall for his long fly, Joost scoring.

Two singles and a Cub error accounted for Cincinnati's other run with two out in the fourth. Stringer did well to knock down Mike McCormick's single, but Barney Olsen failed to block Jimmy Gleeson's single, which followed. While the ball was rolling past Barney toward the fence McCormick scored. After that the Reds failed to get another hit.

Schmitz to Pitch Today.

Wilson had intended using his regulars today so that no one could charge him with lending help to the Reds to finish third. But after he noted that Frankie Frisch played some rookies against St. Louis yesterday, he decided to test his kids right away.

John Schmitz will pitch for the Cubs tomorrow, with Elmer Riddle the Reds' choice. Walters' victory was his 19th, and Riddle will be trying for his 19th tomorrow. Score:

DOGS TO RESUME EAST AND WEST RIVALRY TODAY

Best Retrievers to Display Wares in Show.

One of the most intense East versus West rivalries in dogdom will be resumed today when the Midwest Field Trial club starts its three day retriever trials near Libertyville. Almost all of the leading retriever kennels of Chicagoland will have entries in the trials in an attempt to withstand the challenge of the trained Labradors, Chesapeakes, Goldens, and Irish water spaniels which will be handled by eastern owners.

Three stakes will be run over the Butler Lake properties near Libertyville. The Derby event will start at 12:30 this afternoon, and the first dogs in the open all-age stake will start hunting at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is probable that the all-age will be completed tomorrow, but if not it will be continued Sunday morning. The amateur all-age will start after the open all-age is completed.

Morgan Belmont of New York City and Richard Ryan of Rochester, Minn., will judge all events.

Heaven.

A place where we at last from fear are freed,
Where God, thru His benevolence and grace,
Drives from our hearts all selfishness and greed;
Where worry, pain, and trouble play no part
And peace prevails in every mind and heart.

If this be true then I was there today.
I felt my cares and sorrows melt away
Beneath the warmth of God's endearing smile,
I thrilled to each of heaven's untold charms—
I held a new born baby in my arms!

Halas Regards Those Packers with Tremors

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Gloomy news seeped thru yesterday from Delafield, Wis., where the champion Chicago Bears are getting in their final practice before going forth to battle the Packers in Green Bay Sunday.

In the tone of a man going away to some terrible fate, George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, sent a message to the fans back home.

"Tell them," said George over the long distance telephone, "tell them that I'm afraid our winning streak will come to an end Sunday. I heard today that up in Milwaukee the Green Bay fans are putting up $5 to $3 that the Packers whip us."

A Milwaukee source, tho, and a neutral one at that, reported last night the Bears are 8 to 5 favorites and that the Packer supporters are asking from three to six points at even money.

Words Oddly Familiar.

These words are reminiscent of the big Bear's advance comments on his fellows' recent game with the national College All-Stars in Chicago. George was afraid of that one, too, but the Bears managed to win, 37 to 13.

Halas, tho, has whipped up more logical arguments this time and his most potent one is this:

"Last year," he wanted to remind his Chicago followers, "we caught the Packers on the rebound after they had whipped the All-Stars. We did this because while they were preparing for the big game in Soldiers' field, we had nothing on our minds except the game coming up later with Green Bay. The situation now is reversed. We took the Packers' place this year in Soldiers' field and they have been working up to this game Sunday with us. They are at the top of their game. I'm afraid we won't be."

Mum on Gallarneau, Standlee.

Halas did not offer to make any glowing statements concerning his two back field rookies, Norman Standlee and Hugh Gallarneau of Stanford's Rose bowl champions. It will be remembered they were with the College All-Star squad and that their only appearance in these parts was against the New York Giants in an exhibition game in Wrigley field. As a result their talents have not yet received such widespread notice as those of the Packers' new back field stalwarts.

"This Tony Canadeo is good," said Halas, "and so is Rohrig of Nebraska. We know Rohrig is a good passer, even tho he's been used only as a runner so far by the Packers.

"We have just finished a long blackboard drill, all the players and the coaches. And for all these new men the Packers have, I'm telling you that most of our time was taken up in discussing Mr. Don Hutson. You know that fellow hasn't broken loose this season and we have a suspicion that he's been saving up for us all these past Sundays."

Greenleaf-Tozer Cue Match to Open Today

Ralph Greenleaf, 17 times champion of the world at pocket billiards, and Don Tozer, Decatur, Ill., city titleholder, open play this afternoon at Bensinger's 131 South Wabash Recreation in their tune-up match for the 1941 world championship tournament starting Oct. 20 in Philadelphia. This afternoon's opening block at 3 o'clock will be the first of six, with play continuing tonight and Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings.

PINK GAL BEATEN BY 18 TO 1 SHOT AT HAWTHORNE

Vinum Conquers Favorite; Torch Gleam Third.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Pink Gal is drifting back to the level at which she started last spring at Lincoln Fields, where she was running against $2,000 platers. She failed as the odds-on favorite for the second consecutive time yesterday at Hawthorne.

The fans backed her at 3 to 5 because of the good performances she had been giving against stake horses during the summer. But a $2,000 sprinter, Vinum, beat her by a length in yesterday's Coal Merchants' handicap at a mile. Torch Gleam, the 5 to 2 second choice, was third.

Pays 18 to 1 Odds.

Vinum has been strictly a six furlong sprinter, and accordingly he got to the post at 18 to 1 odds, returning $38.80, $10.80, and $4.

Pink Gal and Torch Gleam engaged in a head and head duel during the run down the back stretch. Torch Gleam drew out to an advantage of a length on the last turn but tired soon after the stretch run began. Pink Gal then took the lead but in the last 16th Steve Brooks brought Vinum up on the outside and drove him to the front.

Every owner likes to plan and scheme about how he can put over an unknown horse in a first start against experienced rivals, but it's not very often that it works. Yesterday, however, Rapid Bone won under these circumstances for R. V. C. Van Cleve. Tho he is a 3 year old, this horse had never before been to the post. Moreover, there weren't even any workouts available.

Wins by Two Lengths.

Jockey Ralph Bohn kept Rapid Bone up near the leaders thru the early stages and sent him to the front going into the turn out of the back stretch. Rapid Bone crossed the finish line two lengths ahead of The Object. Miss Merit was third. The winner paid off at $18.40, $10.40, and $6.80.

For a while there seemed a chance for a large daily double, for a 49 to 1 shot, Deep Rock, won the first race and paid $99.80, $24.60, and $13 across the board. Things returned to normal, however, when the even money favorite, John Hunnicutt, scored in the second.

Jockey Don MacAndrew, leading rider on Chicagoland tracks this season, had a busy day, riding in every race on the program and finishing out of the money in only two, the first and third. In the second race he won on John Hunnicutt, was second on Patapsco in the fourth and third on Torch Gleam in the fifth. Then he warmed up, winning the sixth race on Alspur, the seventh on Lyner, and the eighth on King's Error.

Tell Cardinals Lions Eleven Is Improved

The report of Operative Phil Handler that Detroit showed vast improvement over early season efforts in its game Sunday with the Dodgers in Brooklyn sent the Cardinals into even higher gear yesterday in preparation for Saturday night's battle with the Lions in Comiskey park.

Passing Attack Dangerous.

"Detroit has a dangerous passing attack, with Billy Jefferson and Cotton Price, a couple of lads from the southwest, on the pitching end."

Team's Condition Is Good.

All of the Cards except Al Babartsky, who suffered a sprained ankle in the Cleveland game, and Bert Johnson, veteran back, who is favoring his injured left shoulder, will be in top shape.

There will be no more contact work before the game. The Cards raced thru their own plays, and continued to show the improvement which the coaches have predicted. Saturday's game will start at 8:30 o'clock.

WILDCATS PUT EMPHASIS ON TIMING PASSING

Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern yesterday continued to emphasize timing of plays and passing as he prepared the varsity football team for Saturday's regulation contest with the freshmen. The game will be open to the public, and a small admission fee will be charged. Western Conference officials will be in charge. The band will make its first appearance of the year.

The question of who will play right half for Northwestern this season has been given a familiar answer by Coach Waldorf—Capt. Tuffy Chambers and Ike Kepford. This pair has shared the duties for two seasons and will continue to do so in their senior year.

CAPITAL PARLEY PLEDGES AID TO LITTLE BUSINESS

Charges Discrimination

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Senator James E. Murray [D., Mont.] declared tonight that reports that small businesses could not handle armament contracts as cheaply and efficiently as large contractors were "pure, unadulterated, big business propaganda."

He contended that "big business dollar-a-year men, drawing huge salaries from private corporations, have moved into control of the defense commission" and that "small business enterprises have been discriminated against right and left."

Murray said he would ask for $1,000,000 to carry on the work of the special senate committee studying the problems of small businesses, of which he is chairman.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—Members of the Illinois delegation in congress today pledged support to a joint resolution to be introduced calling for an investigation of the priorities situation and the threat of extinction to many small businesses thruout the nation.

Rep. Edward A. Kelly, who will sponsor resolution in house.

A committee representing the Illinois division of the National Small Business Men's association and the Illinois Chamber of Commerce presented a petition citing the plight of nonarmament industries in getting materials for their operations and questioning whether allocation of materials cannot be improved.

Senator Lucas "Too Busy."

The committee, headed by Frederick A. Virkus, president of the Illinois division of the association; William B. Basile, secretary of the organization, and O. L. Wilson, director of the legislative division of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, however, expressed disappointment that Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.] sent word that he was "too busy to see them." They had wanted him to sponsor the resolution in the senate.

It was decided that Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], in whose office the joint conference was held, would sponsor the resolution in the senate and Representative Edward A. Kelly [D., Ill.] would handle it in the house.

[Plans for increased subcontracting of army ordnance orders were described yesterday in Chicago. Story on page 31.]

Urges Broad Inquiry.

The proposed resolution, according to the business men's petition, would call for a joint committee to ascertain:

1. Facts about production, imports, and exports, armament priorities, and surplus, if any, for civilian needs of materials.
2. Quantities exported and earmarked for export under lend-lease to England, Canada, China, Russia, and other countries.
3. What proportions are used in armament production, civilian industries, or sent abroad.
4. Extent of hoarding and bootlegging of the materials.
5. Extent to which materials have been withheld for armament orders long before possible use.
6. Efficiency of production required among steel manufacturers.
7. Insist upon designation of single responsible individual to supervise rearmament program and eliminate overlapping supervision and red tape.
8. Render a complete report as promptly as possible.

"Grab Everything in Sight."

The petition was backed by 157,000 small business men and 46,000 professional and personal service men and women in Illinois.

In commenting upon the requested action, Virkus said that "there is as yet not 100 per cent production of raw materials and the army and navy have grabbed everything in sight without first looking after the flow of raw materials from mines and mills. We contend that when production of mineral products is stepped up there will be plenty for all, including military and civilian needs."

Brooks declared that more consideration must be given to allocations, especially to allow industries which use only small quantities of essential materials to be enabled to continue operations.

See Other Congressmen.

The committee also conferred with Senator James E. Murray [D., Mont.] chairman of a senate committee investigating the effect of the arms program on small business. Murray expressed great interest in their proposal and invited the committee to present testimony at hearings of his committee. They also saw Representative Charles Halleck [R., Ind.], head of the Republican congressional committee also studying the impact of the rearmament program on small business.

Besides Brooks and Kelly the following members of the Illinois delegation attended the conference: Representatives Stephen A. Day, George A. Paddock, Noah M. Mason, Leo E. Allen, Leslie C. Arends, and James V. Heidenger, all Republicans, and James M. Barnes, Democrat.

Republic to Boost Iron Output; Jones Sees New Expansions

Will Add 4 Furnaces

Pig iron capacity of Republic Steel corporation will be increased 35 per cent under a program approved by the Defense Plant corporation, the company announced yesterday in Cleveland, O. Included will be four new blast furnaces and 276 by-product coke ovens.

The new furnaces will increase Republic's blast furnace capacity, now 4,870,000 tons a year, by nearly 1,750,000 tons. Two furnaces will be built at Cleveland, one at Youngstown, O., and one at Gadsden, Ala. The new coke ovens will increase the company's total to 1,062 ovens.

The program also includes increased sintering [heating], concentrating, and by-product capacity; expansion of iron and coal operations and installation of auxiliary equipment.

Most of the facilities will be in operation within a year. In addition to the increased iron tonnage for steel making, an important advantage will be expansion in the production of basic materials needed in the manufacture of medicines and explosives, officials said.

The company's facilities at six cities are to be expanded. They are Cleveland, Youngstown, Gladsden, Birmingham, Ala., Warren, O., and Port Henry, N. Y.

Reynolds to Build

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, said today he expected the country would have to expand manufacturing capacity for steel, aluminium, and other armament materials even beyond the huge programs now contemplated.

"I expect manufacturing capacity for all these materials will have to be increased," he said.

At the same time, Jones announced signing of a contract for new aluminum plants with 60 million pounds annual capacity to be built by the Reynolds Metals company near Sheffield, Ala., and to be financed by an $8,000,000 RFC loan.

He said negotiations were continuing for another Reynolds aluminum plant in the Bonneville dam area; several contracts for new steel capacity were nearing completion, and that the RFC has agreed to finance the construction of three or four shipyards to build the new Sea Otter type of merchant ship.

Jones described the Reynolds loan terms as more liberal than any granted to the Aluminum Company of America. He added that criticisms from some unidentified sources that the Aluminum company received better terms were "100 per cent inaccurate."

Disclose Ford Will Turn Out Tanks for U. S.

This became known definitely today as officials of the company admitted that negotiations with the war department and the Office of Production Management had been under way for several weeks. Contracts have not yet been signed for actual production work, but a number of preliminary steps looking to the manufacture, initially, of 30 ton tanks already have been taken. Ultimately, it is understood, tanks weighing twice that much will be designed and produced at the Ford company's River Rouge plant.

Will Make Complete Tanks.

Ford plans to produce the complete tanks, but will farm out orders for materials to numerous smaller manufacturers thruout the Detroit area.

Construction of a new steel mill with a peak capacity of 300 tons daily already is under way at the Ford River Rouge plant. Some time ago Ford accepted commitments from the United States army for between 1,200 and 1,300 tons of tank armor plate a month. Presumably this would go into those Ford plans to build.

Ford built tanks during the World war and has been producing tank tracks for the Ford Motor Company of Canada since the outbreak of the present war.

Chrysler Goal Five Per Shift.

Chrysler corporation in its arsenal in nearby Macomb county has set a tank production goal of five for each eight hour working shift.

A fortnight ago an official of General Motors corporation admitted tanks soon would be added to that company's production, probably at La Grange, Ill.

Thus the three largest companies of the motor car industry will be making tanks.

DIAMOND T GETS NEW 5 MILLION CONTRACT ON TRUCKS FOR ARMY

The war department announced yesterday the award of a $5,098,570 contract to the Diamond T Motor Car company for 4 ton trucks. Among other awards to Chicago companies were:

Bradner, Smith & Co., target paper, $79,904, for manufacture at Sterling Pulp and Paper company, Eau Claire, Wis.; Quality Hardware and Machine corporation, motor drives, $26,696, and Maremont Automotive Products, Inc., mufflers, $13,059.

Among other war department awards were:

Federal Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, parachute aircraft flares, $427,500; Breeze Corporations, Inc., Newark, N. J., tank parts, $475,255; Hillsdale Manufacturing company, Hillsdale, Mich., canvas leggings, $658,320; Armstrong Cork company, Lancaster, Pa., shells, $3,062,000; Stedfast & Roulston, Inc., Boston [for manufacture at the R. K. Leblond Machine Tool company, Cincinnati, O.], lathes, $1,353,182; J. B. Klein Iron and Foundry company, Oklahoma City, structural steel for the Midwest Air Depot at Oklahoma City, $1,208,400.

At Philadelphia, directors of the Lehigh Valley railroad authorized purchase of 1,000 hopper type coal carrying cars to cost $2,500,000.

FIRM HARD HIT BY PRIORITIES IS GIVEN U. S. ORDER

A $987,000 rearmament contract to the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company, Manitowoc, Wis., for aluminum canteens, canteen cups and meat cans, was announced in Washington, D. C., yesterday by Floyd B. Odlum, director of the new contract distribution division of the Office of Production Management.

Manitowoc had been hard hit by aluminum priorities, and the contract marked the first action taken by Odlum in a case of community "priorities unemployment."

Contracts for aluminum goods totaling $1,092,537 were announced for four other companies, including $160,000 for the Illinois Pure Aluminum company at Lamont, and $608,600 for the Aluminum Cooking Utensil company, New Kensington, Pa.

★SMALL BUSINESS★ MAN'S DEPARTMENT

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitue materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented upon.

CHLORINE CUT.

I am in the stationery business. I have followed with great interest the paper industry's problems in having to use less chlorine in bleaching paper. In fact, I have heard all sorts of predictions that papers will get darker if chlorine use in the industry is cut as much as 30 or 40 per cent. I would like to know the exact amount of the cut the government has imposed on the use of chlorine and why this cut is necessary.

Answer: Pulp and paper manufacturers have been ordered by the materials branch of the Office of Production Management to reduce their use of chlorine in bleaching rag paper stock by 20 per cent of the average used in the first half of 1941, and by 30 per cent in semi-bleached grades.

The paper industry previously had cut its consumption of chlorine 10 per cent in compliance with an OPM suggestion last June.

The paper trade is agreed that the imposed reduction will shade the brightness of writing papers, gloss, and other papers for magazines and book paper. Newsprint is not affected.

The OPM has asserted that 30 to 50 per cent of the estimated 700,000 tons of chlorine produced annually is being used in armament industries. The paper industry normally takes about 25 per cent of the total supply in its bleaching processes.

The OPM contends that the chlorine supply must be conserved for military uses and essential industries. Chlorine is required in bleaching cotton linters for smokeless powder and in chemical warfare applications. Priority in the use of the gas is given also to water purification, sewage treatment, refrigerant gases, medicinal products and food preservation.

AID ON PRIORITIES.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association mailed to its 3,000 members yesterday a special bulletin outlining the priorities system and suggesting how to obtain armament work. The association offered to supply a list of Illinois companies which have received prime contracts and which are seeking to sublet some of their work, and maintains a complete list of bidding opportunities published by the contract distribution division of the Office of Production Management.

MIDWEST RAIL TRAFFIC TO SET 11 YEAR RECORD

Shippers Forecast Quarter's Rise.

Reflecting the rising tempo of rearmament activity, the Mid-West Shippers Advisory board estimated yesterday that 1,033,172 freight cars will be required during the fourth quarter of 1941 to handle shipments in the territory it embraces, compared with 911,837 actually loaded in the fourth quarter of 1940. The increase would reach 13.3 per cent.

If the estimated volume is realized the next three months' railroad freight movement will be the largest for any quarter since the third quarter of 1930, when 1,251,086 cars were handled, and will be the largest fourth quarter total since 1929, when 1,293,842 cars were loaded.

Auto Output Restricted.

Every classification of freight except automobiles showed an increase. The board estimates that 20,900 railroad freight cars will be required to handle shipments of automobiles, on which production restrictions have been placed, compared with 23,223 in the fourth quarter of last year, a decline of 10 per cent.

Substantial increases in products and materials used in armaments are forecast, notably 30 per cent for machinery and boilers, 16.8 per cent for steel and iron, and 15 per cent for chemicals and explosives.

Coal and coke shipments are expected to total 382,700 cars, 14 per cent more than a year ago. Ores and concentrates are expected to gain 15 per cent.

Sizable increases also are forecast for food products, with canned foods up 20 per cent, poultry and dairy products 7 per cent, flour 10 per cent, vegetables 16 per cent, and sugar and molasses 20 per cent.

Termed Accurate Barometer.

Forecasts made by the various shippers' advisory boards are rated among the most trustworthy of business barometers. The midwest board's area includes Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, western Indiana, and northern Michigan.

A comparison of actual loadings in the fourth quarter of 1940 with estimated loadings for the fourth quarter of 1941, with the percentage of increase or decline, follows:

Great Lakes Area Gains.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24 (AP).—The Great Lakes regional advisory board today forecast a 4 per cent increase in car loadings for the great lakes area during the fourth quarter of 1941. Loadings were estimated at 538,997 cars, compared with 518,106 during the last 1940 quarter.

FLOW OF POWER CURBED; BLAME STRIKES, PRIORITY

Production of electric power, which normally follows an upward curve toward a seasonal peak at this time of year, fell 1.5 per cent during the last week, whereas it had gained 16.7 per cent in the corresponding week of 1940.

The Edison Electric institute, in announcing yesterday that production had fallen after reaching a 1941 peak the week before, did not comment on the reasons for the decline, but authorities in the trade attributed the trend to plant closings resulting from strikes and from the inability to obtain adequate supplies of materials because of armament priorities.

Fine Esquire Publishers in Stock Rigging

Maximum fines of $10,000 each were assessed against David A. and Alfred Smart yesterday on their pleas of no defense to an indictment charging them with having rigged the stock of Esquire-Coronet, Inc., a publishing house which they headed.

Arthur Greene, president of the Domestic Finance company, and the Smart brothers' financial adviser, also was fined $10,000. Prison sentences of two years for each of the three were suspended by Judge John P. Barnes in federal District court and they were placed on probation.

Six More Are Fined.

Six other defendants who also pleaded no defense to the indictment were fined and placed on probation for a year. A. D. Elden, a brother-in-law of the Smarts; Alfred R. Pastel, western advertising manager of the publishing company, and Walter Lyon and Walter Stein, New York brokers, were fined $5,000 each. Walter Winfield and Leo G. Seisfelt were fined $2,000, and granted a one week stay. The others paid their fines.

Mrs. Jeannette Klimnick, secretary to Greene, was put on probation for a year.

J. J. Hindon Hyde and David Van Alstyne, New York brokers, have pleaded not guilty and will be tried Oct. 15.

Woll Summarizes Evidence.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, summarized the evidence in a statement to the court before sentence was imposed. He charged that by buying and selling the stock thru dummy accounts between May 20 and Sept. 21, 1939, the Smarts and their co-defendants had raised the price from $7 to $12.25 a share.

This created an artificial demand for the stock which enabled the defendants to dispose of 153,000 shares of stock at a cost to the public of a million and a half dollars, Woll said.

Defense attorneys denounced the securities and exchange law as such a vague, uncertain, and confusing statute that their clients had violated it inadvertently. They also pleaded for leniency on the ground that investors received and are receiving dividends up to 12 per cent, altho the stock now fluctuates around $3.

Esquire-Coronet, Inc., was dissolved in 1939 and was succeeded by Esquire, Inc., which now publishes Esquire and Coronet magazines. David A. Smart is president of the company and Alfred Smart is secretary.

Baldwin Locomotive Order Backlog Tops 235 Million

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—Charles E. Brinley, president of Baldwin Locomotive Works, reported today the company's backlog of unfilled orders on Aug. 31 totaled $235,649,813, compared with $57,487,265 on Aug. 31, 1940, and $151,336,668 on Jan. 1, 1941. August shipments totaled $8,963,855, compared with $4,384,837 a year ago. Shipments for the first eight months of 1941 totaled $52,604,285, against $30,155,949 in the 1940 period.

Succession of Changes

A succession of major changes which President Roosevelt has made in recent months in armament and related agencies in an effort to keep the military program from bogging down has caused much confusion among business men and others as to how the numerous organizations are related.

One of the newest and one of the most potent of the agencies is SPAB—Supply Priorities and Allocations Board.

Little heard of is the OEM—Office for Emergency Management—a sort of top holding company for all of the numerous agencies which are concerned with armaments, raw materials, priorities, and price controls.

EXTEND CAPITAL STOCK TAX DATE ANOTHER MONTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—The treasury today announced extension to Oct. 29 of the period within which capital stock tax returns for the year ended June 30, 1941, may be filed without penalty. It had previously been extended to Sept. 30.

It was also announced that except in special cases the decision extends to Dec. 28, 1941, the period within which payments of capital stock tax may be made without incurring liability for interest. The treasury announcement said that the decision will afford corporate taxpayers an additional 30 days within which to revise their capital stock tax computations in accordance with changes made in the various corporate taxes by the revenue act of 1941.

SWEDEN TO PAY IN ADVANCE FOR GERMAN GOODS

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 24 (AP).—Under an agreement of German and Swedish government commissions, the reserve supplies board has undertaken to pay 100 million kronor [nominally about $25,000,000] into the German-Swedish clearing account in advance of German deliveries during the first half of 1942 of coal, coke, iron, and chemical products.

The agreement was reached during trade negotiations which have been proceeding for three weeks in Stockholm.

Germany was reported to owe the account about 50 million kronor on Sept. 1 and the commissions believed the debt would be substantially larger by the turn of the year.

Westinghouse Plans Stock Sale to Finance Plants

New York, Sept. 24 [Special].—Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company plans to sell 534,426 shares of common stock in connection with the financing of additional facilities for armament production, A. W. Robertson, chairman, announced tonight. Ickes Ignores Lower Bids on Chicago Office

BY AL CHASE.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who is petroleum coördinator for national defense, took time off from his Washington duties yesterday to overrule the advice of his Chicago agents and decide personally where the district No. 2 petroleum coördinator's Chicago offices should be located. In doing so, according to reports on the bids, he ignored several low offers and selected space where the rent was higher and where possession cannot be had until extensive alterations are made.

It is understood that about 7,000 square feet will be leased in the 120 South La Salle street building, where the government will pay $2 a square foot rental and the owner will spend about $12,000 remodeling the space. This was the address of Ickes' law office many years ago.

Cannot Meet Deadline.

Nearly a month and a half ago Washington telegraphed for hurried bids for space for the district petroleum coördinator and his staff. Several building managers said the request was so near Ickes' deadline that they were unable to get in their bids on time.

Among the offers lower than that accepted was one from the Burnham building, formerly occupied by the attorney general of Illinois, with the number of rooms and floor area sought by Ickes. This space was available immediately with no delays for structural changes, for $1.70 a square foot, it was reported.

However, according to information from Washington, Ickes personally rejected the Burnham building offer and subsequently ordered the 120 South La Salle bid be accepted.

Report Other Rejections.

Other bids rejected included one of $1.50 a square foot made by the Blum building, 624 South Michigan avenue, where the Petroleum Industry committee, a new civilian agency, established headquarters a few days ago, and where Ickes' district coördinator, Wirt Franklin, has his temporary office, and a reported bid of $1.25 in the 188 Randolph Street building.

Buy Five Million Pounds More Cheese for Britain

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The department of agriculture announced purchase today of 5,048,067 pounds of American cheese. Officials said this was one of the largest food purchases since the start of the British aid program. They reported that prior to today they had bought 73,435,311 pounds of American cheese.

CANADIAN-U. S. SWAP OF GRAIN REPORTED NEAR

Britain Beneficiary Under Program.

Negotiations between the United States and Canada for exchange of 50 million bushels of American corn for an equal amount of Canadian wheat have been initiated, according to reports current yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Efforts to confirm the report were unsuccessful.

It was said that the wheat taken in exchange for American corn probably would be exported to England under the provisions of the lease-land law.

Canada Short of Feeds.

Chicago cash grain handlers said such an exchange would greatly benefit Canada, which has made large commitments for exporting hog and dairy products to England and harvested a relatively small crop of feed grains this season. Exports of feed grains and mill feeds from Canada have been embargoed in order to conserve supplies.

Under normal conditions Canada draws a large part of its supply of corn from Argentina, but lack of steamers is reported to have materially curtailed this business in recent months. The United States, on the other hand, has a large supply of corn, and with the movement of the new crop under way the barter of this grain would relieve the Commodity Credit corporation of about one third of its holdings.

The report regarding the proposed barter deal had no effect on the grain markets, as it is expected to be filled from government owned stocks of corn.

Grains Lose Part of Gains.

Wheat and oats advanced around 1½ cents, corn, 1 cent and soy beans over 2 cents at one time. Buying was attributed partly to inflation thoughts. Profit taking developed later and part of the upturn was lost. Closing sales were ¾ to 1 cent higher. Corn gained ½ to ⅝ cent and oats were up 1¼ to 1⅜ cents, while soy beans finished ⅞ to 2⅛ cents higher.

Strength in cotton was a factor in the grain, bean, and lard markets in the early trading, and there was some buying based on a forecast for rain over the greater part of the corn and soy bean producing areas which may delay harvesting.

Securities Offerings

Harriman, Ripley & Co. yesterday reoffered 2 million dollars of 20 year 2¼ per cent Chicago water revenue certificates at 103⅛, priced to yield approximately 2.055 per cent. The company had been awarded the issue earlier in the day at a premium of $38,780.

A syndicate headed by the Bank of Montreal and the Royal Bank of Canada offered $14,725,000 in Province of Quebec 12 year 3½ per cent sinking fund debentures at 97.50 and accrued interest to yield 3.75 per cent.

Salomon Brothers & Hutzler offered $10,000,000 of $2⅞ per cent debentures of Socony-Vacuum Oil company at 106. Paine, Webzer & Co., F. S. Moseley & Co., and associates offered 100,000 shares of National Cylinder Gas company common stock at $10.25 a share.

The Securities and Exchange commission granted the Mississippi Power company permission to issue $8,927,000 new first mortgage bonds due in 1971. Proceeds will be used to redeem $6,177,500 of 5 per cent bonds due in 1955 and to carry out a construction program.

An underwriting group headed by Bond & Goodwin, Inc., will offer today 30,000 shares of cumulative convertible preferred stock of Aeronca Aircraft corporation. The stock will be priced at $15 a share. The underwriters also will offer 20,000 common stock purchase warrants at 10 cents each.

STOCKS RETREAT UNDER SELLING NEAR FINAL BELL

Fail to Retain Advances Chalked Up Earlier.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—The stock market, running before a fair buying breeze in most of today's trading, hit last minute headwinds that tossed it about erratically. More declines than advances were shown at the close, but many issues were about unchanged. The Associated Press averages of 60 stocks lost .2 of a point.

The initial buoyancy seemed induced by purchases of rail and aircraft shares and these also led the turn around. The trading pace was more brisk on the advance than in the final retreat. Turnover was 551,710 shares compared with 494,060 Tuesday.

At times a buying following developed for some of the manufacturing, chemical, metal, steel, and store issues.

Prominent Issues Fall.

Losses of fractions to a point or so were chalked up for United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Douglas, Boeing, Sperry, Lockheed, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, New York Central, Anaconda, Western Union, Westinghouse, and Philip Morris.

Chrysler, a leader in the early buying, closed off ⅛. Unchanged to a bit improved were Allied Chemical, Dow, Texas corporation, North American company, Eastman Kodak, and J. C. Penney. Du Pont added more than a point. Atlantic Gulf and West Indies preferred edged into new 1941 high ground.

CHICAGO STOCKS SAG.

Prices were mostly lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transactions totaling 29,000 shares. Of 109 issues traded, 27 advanced, 47 declined and 35 closed unchanged. Kellogg Switchboard, among volume leaders with 1,000 shares traded, closed ¼ higher at 9⅛, a new 1941 peak.

Other volume leaders were Raytheon Manufacturing preferred, 1,400 shares, unchanged at 2⅜; Electric Household, 1,100 shares, up ⅛ to 4⅛; Commonwealth Edison, 1,050 shares, unchanged at 25⅝, and General Electric, 950 shares, up ⅛ to 32½.

AUGUST WHISKY OUTPUT DOUBLE YEAR AGO TOTAL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 [Special].—An increase from the $3,251,931 worth of whisky manufactured in the United States in August, 1940, to $6,570,978 worth made in August of this year was reported today by the bureau of internal revenue. The increase in the amount of whisky withdrawn from warehouses also was marked, from $4,147,706 in August last year to $8,252,961 in August this year.

Doubling of production apparently was in expectation that the government may call upon distillers to provide the 500 million gallons of grain alcohol which will be needed annually by armament industries.

The doubling of the amount of withdrawals from bond was attributed to the fact that after Oct. 1 the tax on liquor will be increased $2 per gallon, half of it in the form of an increased floor tax.

SECURITY SALES FALL, BUT HOLD ABOVE '40 LEVEL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission reported today that the market value of sales on all registered securities exchanges was $502,853,427 in August, a decrease of 30.9 per cent from July but an increase of 29.6 per cent over August, 1940.

Stock sales, excluding rights and warrants, had a market value of $412,311,173, a decrease of 32.5 per cent from July. Bond sales were valued at $87,765,822, a decrease of 24.5 per cent.

The volume of stock sales, excluding rights and warrants, was 20,647,393 shares, a decrease of 28.4 per cent from July. Total principal amount of bond sales was $160,890,575, a decrease of 27.8 per cent.

Commodities

Most commodity futures moved forward yesterday on buying that followed predictions of a large postwar demand, but late profit taking sales reduced most of the gains.

Cotton futures closed 45 to 65 cents a bale higher. Speculation over the damage in Texas from the tropical storm brought on the advance, but Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau's statement that the government needed more control over farm prices influenced profit taking.

Governmental opposition to present coffee prices resulted in selling which carried prices down 0.28 to 0.41 cent a pound. The army announced rejection of all bids on 11,517,000 pounds of coffee as too high. Reports of possible retention of the 20 per cent quota increase also contributed to the decline.

World sugar rose to new highs for the season on Cuban buying and closed with gains of 0.04 to 0.06 cent a pound. Traders found indications that most producers had sold their supplies available for export, giving impetus to the advance in prices.

Cottonseed oil, cocoa, and hides advanced moderately. Wool futures declined 0.3 to 0.8 cent, and lead and tin were unchanged.

MIDWEST TO GET MORE ORDNANCE CONTRACTS SOON

Col. Donald Armstrong

Manufacturers in the Chicago ordnance district will have received by Thanksgiving a half billion dollars in contracts under the armament program, Col. Donald Armstrong, executive officer of the district, predicted yesterday. With more than 422 million dollars in ordnance contracts already let, the district ranks second only to the Philadelphia district among the nation's 14 ordnance districts in the dollar value of such contracts received, he said. The Chicago area, however, is far outdistanced by coastal areas in awards of all types of armament contracts.

The expansion of ordnance work in this district will develop as the result of the army ordnance department's new $2,888,980,486 program to buy shells, bombs, gun carriages, guns, gun mounts, fire control equipment, pistols, rifles, power transmission equipment for tanks, and other items.

New Orders to Be Spread.

The influx of new orders in the next few months, Col. Armstrong said, will help small manufacturers, especially in the precision metal working field, in obtaining armament work to replace civilian operations curtailed by priorities. He said that promotion of sub-contracting will scatter the ordnance jobs among a larger number of small plants.

"We have been talking subcontracting for at least two years, long before the present drive was started to alleviate the distress of small manufacturers," Col. Armstrong observed. "We early encouraged prime contractors to farm out a large part of their work to smaller firms, thus releasing some of their facilities for additional armament work."

Makes 5,000 Plant Surveys.

More than 5,000 plants in the district have been surveyed for possible participation in the armament program, he said. These surveys were started after the World war but have been accelerated in recent years.

"Of these 5,000 plants, more than 1,100 are currently engaged directly or indirectly in ordnance work," he said. "This does not include hundreds of others who previously had received such work and had completed it."

Col. Armstrong said that in the spring of 1940 there were only three persons manning the Chicago district office. Now there are 1,146 persons on the staff, including 56 officers. A year ago there were only 100 and in March this year 325.

The ordnance district covers northern Illinois and Indiana, the upper peninsula of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Iowa.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 24 (AP).—Holders of warrants to purchase common stock in the International Paper and Power company voted today to waive requirements of 30 day notice of termination of the company. The notice was required under the company's declaration of trust. The action was preliminary to a vote tomorrow on the company's plan for a merger into the International Paper company.

Lesson on Erosion.

THE 16 acre field at the Du Page county farm that was drilled to wheat this week has provided an excellent object lesson on the power of erosion.

The field slopes gently southward toward a gravel road that runs east and west. Along the road is a wide drainage ditch. Year after year gentle and fierce rains have picked up the black top soil and washed it down the slope, off the field, and into the ditch.

Ton after ton of valuable dirt was taken from the field until gradually the slope began to gully. As the gully became steeper, the slope increased and the dirt washed off more rapidly. The change of the field from one with an even, gentle slope to a steep one with harsh gullies and ridges was so gradual the men did not notice it.

Drainage Ditch Plugged.

The seriousness of the erosion was brought to their attention when the drainage ditch became so plugged with dirt it was unable to handle the runoff water. Inspection of the ditch revealed that it was filled with tons of black dirt that rains had stolen from the field.

Road grading machinery and dump trucks went to work to recover the valuable soil and return it to the field. The men estimate they moved almost 65 tons of earth from the ditch and put it back on the field. The dirt was piled on the washed slope and smoothed out with the tractor and disk. Now the ground has regained its former contour and the heavy erosion has been stopped.

The tremendous losses sustained by farmers thruout the country each year from erosion has been studied at the University of Wisconsin agricultural station. There experts found that in spite of the best possible cropping rotations nearly all sloping fields are greatly reduced in productivity as a result of erosion.

How to Stop Erosion.

Experimenting with plats planted to barley they found that a field with only a 16 per cent slope will lose 12 tons of soil each year thru erosion. The greater the slope the higher is the soil loss.

The best way to prevent a field from eroding is to keep it in hay or timber land. As this is not feasible for all fields, strip cropping and contour plowing are recommended for fields with a slope from which a crop is to be harvested. Terracing also is a good method of preventing runoff water from taking the top soil along with it.

Erosion always has been one of the farmer's greatest enemies. Because of its slow workings, it often has gone unchecked until the damage has become so great that long hours and a great deal of expense are necessary to correct it. Prevention, rather than correction, is the proper method of dealing with erosion.

LINSEED AND SOY BEANS.

Will you please send me a review of the Archer-Daniels-Midland company of Minneapolis.—I. U.

Answer: This company, incorporated in Delaware in 1923, is a leading linseed oil producer and soy bean processor. It also distributes tung and other imported oils. By-products include cake and meal from linseed and soy beans. It is engaged in flour milling and grain storage.

Profits have been large with few exceptions for many years. A decline in the 1938 fiscal year was followed by a strong recovery. Common stock dividends have been paid regularly.

Outstanding capitalization is 544,916 shares of no par common stock. Funded debt is serial notes, carried on the balance sheet last June at $2,200,000, due in annual installments thru 1947. The 7 per cent preferred stock was retired in 1939. Common is listed on the New York Stock exchange. Total assets at the end of last June were $46,271,729.

	Net sales.	Net inc.	Per shr.
1941	$74,459,008	$3,103,167	$5.69
1940	66,397,449	3,047,015	5.42
1939	61,965,860	1,839,482	3.02
1938	67,230,200	437,738	.43
1937	80,518,912	2,967,296	5.03

A large increase in federal taxes in 1941 was reflected in the relatively small profit gain over the year before despite the sales rise. Dividends paid in the first three quarters this year totaled $1.35, compared with $1.40 for the year 1940 and $1.10 in 1939.

BURLINGTON 4S.

I would like information on Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad 4s of 1958 and Illinois 4s of 1949.—H. A. J.

Answer: The general mortgage currency 4s, due March 1, 1958, are outstanding in the amount of $65,247,000. This issue is noncallable and interest is payable March and September. The bonds are a direct obligation and are secured by a mortgage on 8,056.34 miles of road, equipment, land, yards and terminals. This issue is subject to a prior lien of $85,000,000 Illinois division 3½s and 4s of 1949. The latter is outstanding in the amount of $33,976,000 and is secured by a first mortgage on 1,600.91 miles of road, lands, yards and terminals. Interest is payable January and July.

The Burlington road has maintained profitable operations over a long period. Fixed charges were covered an average of 1.51 times for the 10 years thru 1940.

RISE OF SOY BEAN WILL BE SUBJECT OF CELEBRATION

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 24 [Special].—The soybean, a major farm crop that only 100 years ago was a botanical curiosity, will be the subject of an all day celebration of its development tomorrow on the University of Illinois campus.

The story of the climb of soybeans from insignificance to a crop that is expected to bring Illinois farmers 90 million dollars this year will be related by agricultural professors, scientists, and farmers. An Illinois celebration is appropriate as the state produces almost half of the nation's crop.

The soybean day is being sponsored by the college of agriculture of the University of Illinois and the Illinois Agricultural association. Sessions will begin in the morning and terminate with a banquet in the evening.

STEEL INDUSTRY JOLTED BY ARMY NEEDS FOR BARS

Report Offices Put Ahead of Arms Production.

The steel industry has received two jolts from administration actions in the last few days that have left the nation's steel producers "wide-eyed," the magazine Iron Age declared yesterday.

1. The concrete reinforcing steel bar makers whose production is going almost 100 per cent into the making of arms and munitions, learned the war department would require 22,500 tons of bars for construction of a new office building in Washington.

2. Approximately 280,000 tons of various kinds of steel have been allocated for October and November delivery to the British. Since the British will not accept Bessemer steel ingots [they are to get about 150,000 tons] production of American bar mills must suffer so that open hearth ingots may be shipped.

Meanwhile the bureau of reclamation announced that it was attempting to buy 8,000 tons of concrete reinforcing bars on the west coast where bar makers already are taxed to capacity. The bars would be used for work at Odair, Wash.

"While steel plants and many hundreds of steel consumers are straining for still higher production, the strike still seems to be regarded as a luxury which the country can afford, even in an armament plant," Iron Age said.

It said an outlaw strike at the Carnegie-Illinois plant in McDonald, O., will cost the nation an estimated 26,000 tons of finished steel products.

HENDERSON PUTS PRICE CEILINGS ON ACETIC ACID

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 (AP).—Leon Henderson, price administrator, issued a schedule of ceiling prices today covering bulk sales of acetic acid, one of the most widely used products in the field of industrial solvents, at levels which he said were about those of the last three months.

Henderson announced that schedules fixing maximum prices on wood alcohol and other industrial solvents are being prepared and will be issued soon. A schedule was imposed 10 days ago on ethyl alcohol.

The acetic acid schedule will go into effect Sept. 29. The maximum prices are 7¼ cents a pound for acetic acid of wood origin and 6¾ cents a pound for the synthetic type when sold in tank cars.

Douglas Fir Ceiling Modified.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24 [Special].—Leon Henderson, price administrator, ruled today that Douglas fir "peeler" logs may be bought or sold at prices not exceeding those between Jan. 1 and Aug. 1. He previously had forbidden sales at prices above the May 1 quotations, but said this date proved unsatisfactory in operation.

SAILORS FREE 25 VESSELS BY ENDING STRIKE

Demand for War Bonuses Brought Before Board.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Termination of a seamen's strike yesterday freed 25 cargo ships for transportation of armaments and lend-lease supplies pending an attempt by the national defense mediation board to adjust a dispute between the Seafarers' International union and ship owners.

The vessels have been idle for 11 days in Atlantic, Pacific, and gulf ports. The board scheduled negotiations to begin in Washington, D. C., next Monday. Its appeal to strikers went out soon after President Roosevelt had declared the ships must move.

John Hawk, secretary of the union, said that the members of the New York and 13 other locals had voted to rejoin their ships whenever crews were called for by the operators. The AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific also agreed to release five ships docked in New York harbor.

Demand War Bonuses.

The seamen are demanding $60 monthly bonuses for all sailors on vessels plying West Indies waters. The union considers these belligerent areas.

The mediation board, meanwhile, assumed jurisdiction over a dispute between the Consolidated Aircraft company and 22,000 of its AFL mechanics at San Diego, Cal. The case was certified to the board by the labor department after the employés had cast a 98.8 per cent vote in favor of a strike to support demands for higher wages.

Other labor developments:

Negotiations before the mediation board brought an end to a strike of 1,225 employés of the Plainville, Conn. plant of the Marlin-Rockwell corporation, called last Friday. The company agreed to sign a contract with the CIO United Automobile Workers, the terms of which were not announced. Issues included wage increases and vacations with pay. The company manufactures ball bearings for airplanes.

Some Miners End Strike.

About 1,400 hard coal miners returned to work in two collieries in the Hazleton, Pa., area after walking out several days ago in protest against increased dues ordered by the CIO United Mine Workers union. The vast majority of the 20,000 strikers remained away from their jobs, however, leaving closed 40 other mines. Representatives of the revolting miners met in Washington with John L. Lewis and other union officials, but no settlement was reached.

The AFL Pittsburgh [Pa.] Building Trades council called off a 14-day strike on construction of the 5 million dollar Curtiss Wright propeller plant at Beaver, Pa., and ordered 200 craftsmen to return to work today.

A two day strike of 600 employés of Lukenweld, Inc., subsidiary of the Lukens Steel corporation, ended at Coatsville, Pa. The strike, called by the CIO steel workers organizing committee, had held up production of parts of navy submarine engines.

The AFL chemical workers' union has accepted an average wage increase of 14 per cent offered by the East Alton [Ill.] Manufacturing company, a subsidiary of Western Cartridge company, thus ending a strike threat of almost two months.

RATE REDUCED, BUT STATE SALES TAX FUNDS RISE

With retail sales continuing at high levels, Illinois sales tax collections in August totaled $7,701,092, showing a gain over the $7,623,913 reported for August 1940 despite the fact the tax had been reduced from 3 to 2 per cent. The largest gain was in Cook county where tax collections of $4,759,840 represented an increase of $450,948 over last year.

The figures were made public yesterday by George B. McKibbin, state finance director, who said that part of the August showing reflected taxes paid on the old 3 per cent rate on sales and instalment purchases made prior to July 1.

Gov. Green in his budget message to the legislature early this year estimated that sales tax collections would average $5,400,000 monthly and total $130,000,000 for the biennium starting July 1, compared with actual collections of $182,634,000 during the last biennium under the 3 per cent rate. The number of retailers reporting tax collections increased from 134,443 to 161,110.

ARGUES RAILWAY REVENUE GAINS BACK WAGE PLEA

Dr. H. A. Bacus, research director for the railway clerks, yesterday stressed increased revenues of railroads as evidencing their ability to pay wage increases of 30 cents an hour asked by the 14 railroad nonoperating unions. He continued the presentation of the unions' case in Kimball hall before a fact finding commission appointed by President Roosevelt.

Dr. Bacus said August railroad operating revenues totaled 492 million dollars, the largest for any August since 1929. Because of greatly increased operating efficiency, he added, railroad operating costs are now lower than they were in previous periods when traffic was at the present levels. As a result of the rising revenues and falling costs, he asserted, the percentage of revenues taken by costs is now the lowest in history. He contended that it would take only a "reasonable amount" of the increased revenues to pay the wage increases sought.

ALUMINUM DRIVE YIELDS ABOUT 7 MILLION POUNDS

The campaign, conducted from July 21 to 29, fell below Office of Production Management officials' expectations. They had predicted that 15 to 20 million pounds of scrap would be collected.

Experts estimated that the net yield of aluminum from the scrap would be about 7 million pounds. All but 310,000 pounds of the scrap has been allocated already to smelters having defense preference ratings.

Walgreen Porters' Strike Ends with Wage Increase

Settlement of a month old strike involving 250 porters employed at Walgreen company drug stores was announced last night by William L. McFetridge, president of the Building Service Employés International union. Porters who return to work today will receive a $1 minimum raise and will work a maximum of 54 hours a week.
